Chicago Endurance Plane Passes 480th Hour Of Flying

HUNTER BROTHERS WILL STAY UP IN AIR UNTIL ENGINE QUITS WORKING

Urgent Request Is Made for Repair Parts as Plane Drops Low After Being Up 475 Hours

CHICAGO, July 1.—(UP)— John and Kenneth Hunter circled monotonously today over Sky Harbor airport in the endurance airplane City of Chicago—determined to remain aloft until forced down by mechanical trouble.

At the end of the 480th hour of continuous flying at 4:40 P. M., C. D. T., the endurance plane still circled low over the fog hung airport, rapidly burning up the supply of gasoline that has been taken aboard at considerable risk.

Preparations were being made to take a plane aloft with a microphone later. It was planned to lower the microphone to the fliers and let them broadcast their experiences over a national network. If carried out, it was believed to be the first time in endurance flying history such a move has been made.

Shortly before ending the 475th hour, the "City of Chicago" flew low over the field and dropped near the nangar an urgent note calling for repair parts.

Parts Needed

The ground crew refused to say what parts were necessary, but admitted they were for the motor. Preparations were made to deliver them.

The importance attached to the request was not indicated. During the course of the flight, many minor adjustments have been made aboard the endurance plane, some o fthese necessitating the transfer of parts.

The entire plane, John and Kenneth said, was "loosened up" from the constant grind. The ship was tipped to one side because a leak had developed in the left wing tank and the heavy fuel supply on that side was drained out. Another slight leak in a fuel line was reported by the pilots yesterday.

There was only one person at the field who appeared to think John and Kenneth may be staying up too long. That was their mother, who wept when they broke the record.

Mother Is Worried

"I think my boys are wonderful," she said, "but I am getting a little worried. Don't let them know about it though."

Sister Irene, also was a little worried; but not about the flight. The pilots complained about the food she provides for them and she was striving to provide more "honest to goodness" victuals on the menu.

"We want less fancy food and more hard boiled eggs, hot dogs and thinks like that," said a note signed by Kenneth, who is just 21.

HUNTER BOYS WRITE STORY AS THEY FLY

Record Breaking Fliers in Letter to United Press Admit They're Tired

(Editor's Note—The United Press presents herewith an exclusive signed story by John and Kenneth Hunter, other endurance fliers, who have shattered all previous records for sustained refueling flights and still circle over sky harbor airport piling hour on hour to their credit. The story was written under difficulties in the small, unsaturated cabin of the City of Chicago in answer to questions sent up by a United Press staff correspondent.)

World's Record Endurance Fliers

(Copyright 1930 by The United Press)

OVER SKY HARBOR AIRPORT, CHICAGO, July 1. — (UP)—There isn't much amusement for us flying around up here breaking all the records on the books. Mostly we have to work, looking on fuel and piloting and dodging the thunderstorms that have come so fast the last few days.

No, we don't get much sleep, from one to five hours at a time and then just as likely as not the one who is sleeping will be routed out before he has much more than got his eyes shut.

We don't know for sure just how we feel now. Kinda dead like. Not good.

The first thing we'll do when we set down will be to get a good long sleep on a regular bed. Sleeping up here is not so hot.

Well, it's hard to say how long we'll stay up. Maybe 520 hours but we think probably longer. Only the weather knows.

Yes, we'll try to beat the next record if this one is beaten. We intend to bring it back to Chicago and keep it here.

Now about that food question. We don't so well like to eat chicken. Because it flies, too, we guess. Hot dogs and hard boiled eggs are regular he-man food for fliers and we've asked for more and better service along that line.

REFLECTING THE HEALTHY condition of the five banks of Santa Ana, figures compiled today by The Register revealed that the combined deposits and resources of the First National bank, Farmers and Merchants bank, Bank of Italy, Commercial National bank and Security-First National bank of Los Angeles are very much better than on July 1, 1929.

The deposits showed the largest increase with nearly three million dollars more than last year. The total deposits for the five banks up to July 1 were $20,203,799.77 while the year before, they were $17,358,306.73. In this division, the First National bank easily ranked first with the Bank of Italy, Farmer and Merchants bank, Security-First National bank of Los Angeles and the Commercial National bank following in that order.

Resources Great

In resources, the 1930 figure was more than a million dollars over that of last year, the exact amounts being $16,506,779.53 for 1929 and $17,658,778.01 for 1930. This is not a complete figure as only the First National, Farmers and Merchants and Commercial National banks are included. Totals on the Bank of Italy and Security-First National of Los Angeles bank were not obtainable because they are branch institutions and do not keep separate accounts.

Dividend checks from the local banks were mailed out today. Building and Loan and finance companies will also distribute large dividends to their stockholders.

TORNADO DAMAGES TOWN IN OKLAHOMA

DEVOL, Okla., July 1.—(UP)—A tornado whipped through Devol today, tearing away several buildings and dropping debris on terrified citizens, who rushed for cover.

Three persons were injured. Heavy damage was done along the path of the storm, which cut a swath a half mile wide through the town.

France May Break With Soviets As Result Of Speech

PARIS, July 1.—(UP)—Hints were heard in semi-official quarters today that France, unable to bear more attacks from the Soviet government, might break off diplomatic relations with that country as a result of Joseph Stalin's comments on France's militarism and capitalism in a speech before the Communist party congress in Moscow.

Stalin's comments were received with hostility here, and it was recalled that the foreign office failed to order Ambassador Jean Herbette to return to Moscow after his departure recently, apparently being contented with practically no representation in the Soviet capital.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—(UP)—On the eve of his retirement as state deputy and head of the Knights of Columbus in California, Robert A. Mackenzie, of San Francisco, has been named supreme special agent of the order in the states west of the Rocky mountains, it was announced by the supreme council of the Knights in New York City in telegrams to California officers of the order today. Mackenzie retires tonight and Harry McGowan, of Willows, Calif., former district deputy of Glenn county, succeeds him.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—(UP)—Declaring that dry forces of California must present a "united front to defeat the wet candidate," the board of directors of the northern California division of the Women's Christian Temperance Union today. endorsed. the candidacy. of. Governor. C.. C. Young.

The resolution was addressed to the board of directors of the Anti-Saloon league to join with the W. C. T. U. in supporting Governor Young who is a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in the August primary.

Fitts Not Mentioned

No other candidate is mentioned in the resolution, although Buron Fitts, Los Angeles district attorney, is running as a dry.

The favoring of Governor Young over Fitts is viewed as a bit of practical politics on the part of the dry organization as two drys are seeking the Republican nomination while the third, Mayor James Rolph jr., of San Francisco is generally viewed as a wet, although he has not declared either for or against prohibition in the present campaign.

It is urged in the resolution that drys unite in favor of Young and not even a direct reference is made to either of the other Republican candidates, Fitts and Rolph.

The resolution came up at today's quarterly meeting of the board. As first drafted the document contained a reference to a

Carries Out Pledge Made By President

Amos Woodcock, New Head of Division, Is Sworn Into Office Today

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(UP)—Ending a decade of prohibition enforcement, the treasury today tranferred 2700 of its agents, special investigators and administrators to the justice department which now is charged with enforcing the laws under the 18th amendment.

The transfer, carrying out a pledge made by President Hoover during his campaign, paves the way for what is generally expected to be the supreme effort to make the United States a thoroughly dry nation. It was authorized by the Williamson bill which Congress passed recently.

Meanwhile, a last minute drive to pass some more of the legislation recommended by the commission and passed by the house, designed to handle petty prohibition offenses, were expected to be reported favorably by the senate judiciary committee. Their supporters hope they may be finally enacted before adjournment.

The fourth bill, one to authorize trial of petty offenses before U. S. commissioners, was not slated to be approved. Because of the opposition which has developed to this proposal it will be left in sub committee until next session.

The other bills define petty offenses, liberalize the Jones "five and ten" law and provide for waiver of jury trial.

Policies under the justice department were still in the formative stage today, but it was strongly indicated that henceforth new stress will be placed on obtaining local co-operation in apprehending prohibition law violators.

BILLINGS FINDINGS READY FOR REPORT

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—(UP)—The California supreme court completed its report on which Gov. C. C. Young will base his decision to pardon Tom Mooney and Warren K. Billings, who are serving life sentences for conviction of the preparedness day bombing of 1916.

It is thought that the seven judges will vote on the report early tomorrow, although a vote late today is possible.

The contents of the report will not be made public until Governor Young announces whether he will pardon the two men.

The decision of the court will be presented to Governor Young at Los Angeles Thursday, and action may be expected over the week end.

Kingsford-Smith Leaves East For West Wednesday

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., July 1.—(UP)—Major Charles E. Kingsford-Smith today announced tentative plans to leave in his monoplane, Southern Cross, at 7 a. m. tomorrow for Chicago.

He arrived at the field shortly before noon to inspect the Southern Cross, in which he and three companions flew from Ireland to New York with a stop at Harbor Grace, Newfoundland.

CHARGES FITTS GIVEN $75,000 FOR IMMUNITY

Attorney Makes Startling Statement But Is Halted By Judge

LOS ANGELES, July 1.—(UP)—The charge that Jacob Berman, former Julian Petroleum corporation executive, paid $75,000 to District Attorney Buron Fitts for immunity in various trials arising from the collapse of the Julian company was made today at the trial of Louis Krause, private detective, accused of jury bribing in the 1928 Julian conspiracy case.

The startling accusation was made by S. S. Hahn, attorney for Krause, in his opening statement before the jury of nine women and three men who will decide whether Berman and his brother, Louis, bribed two jurors through Krause.

Charges against the Bermans, indicted with Krause, were dismissed yesterday at the opening of the case by Superior Judge Emmet Wilson. The move was recommended by Fitts' office which said it intended to use the Bermans as state's witnesses.

Superior Judge Emmet Wilson halted Hahn's diatribe against Berman but ruled that it should be entered in the case as an exhibit and advised the lawyer that he might finish his statement at a later time in the trial.

Berman originally was a co-defendant with Krause, having been accused of bribing two jurors by using Krause as an agent, but the charges against him were dismissed yesterday at the recommendation of the district attorney's office which wishes to use him as a state's witness.

"We propose to prove," Hahn said in opening his address to the jury of nine women and three men today, "that this star witness, Jacob Berman, boasted that he had no fear of prosecution for any crime, claiming that he had paid $75,000 to the offices of the present district attorney for immunity."

Judge Wilson halted Hahn at this point on the ground that "it is not proper at this time since thet defense obviously is not positive that the state even will call Berman."

The jurist instructed the attorney that he could, if he wished, make the statement at the opening of the defense case after all prosecution evidence was presented. The jurist also allowed a typewritten proof of Hahn's speech to be entered as an exhibit in the case.

EXPENDITURES FOR NEXT YEAR ARE REDUCED WHEN BUDGET GIVEN APPROVAL

Water Department Shows Net Profit of $53,000 and Rates Hereafter Will Be Cut Materially

THE CITY COUNCIL last night tentatively slashed the city tax rate 7 cents on the $100 assessed valuation and definitely lowered the minimum water rate per month per meter 25 cents. Both actions followed conclusion of preparation of the budget, upon which the city council worked all yesterday to complete in time for consideration last night.

The reduction in the tax rate will slice $15,000 from the income from taxes during the coming year and $24,000 from receipts by the water department, or a total savings to taxpayers and water consumers of $39,500. The new tax rate is $1.82 as compared with $1.89 for last year.

"Economical administration of city business during the past year, and benefits accruing from expenditures made for improvement of the water system over the period of the last three years made it possible for the city governing body to offer such substantial relief to taxpayers and water users," L. H. Banks, city auditor, said.

Advertising Cut

The advertising fund rate was cut 1 cent, from 5 to 4; the band fund, 2 cents, from 6 to 4, and the remaining 4 cents was cut from interest and sinking funds, the rate for these funds this year being 30 cents.

Profits from operation of the water department have more than carried the interest and sinking fund charges on bonds issued for the improvements in the department. The income of this department from water sales and other sources was $169,117.85 and disbursements $116,096.91, creating a net profit of $53,020.94. Plenty of cash on hand has made it possible for the department to effect big savings by buying water pipe in large quantities and taking advantage of cash discounts, according to Banks.

The cut in the water rate will be made available in approximately 45 days, as it is necessary to make the change by ordinance. First reading was given the necessary ordinance last night, and adoption will follow next Monday night. Here is the new schedule:

Water Reduction

For three-quarter inch pipe connection, the size of the usual house connection, $1 per month for 1000 or less cubic feet; 1 inch opening, $1.25; 1½ inch, $2.25; 2 inch, $3.25.

Slashes were made in expenditures wherever it was possible to do so without seriously affecting the efficiency of city administration, the councilmen declaring that they felt it their duty to fall in line as far as possible with the general demand for reduction in taxes.

Organizations that in the past have been given financial assistance for various activities that came under the classification of advertising will have hard sledding the coming year if they attempt to get help. Just three organizations

LOS ANGELES, July 1.—(UP)—Frank Foster, notorious gangster, was under arrest here today charged with suspicion of the murder of Alfred J. Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter.

He was taken into custody late yesterday, held incommunicado all night in an outlying jail and then brought to the county jail shortly before noon and booked on the count.

Arrested with Foster were four men, suspected of being members of his mob. Foster once owned the revolver which has been identified as the one that took Lingle's life.

The six men were captured when they walked into a fashionable apartment that literally was packed with police officers.

The apartment was rented by Foster.

The four men arrested with Foster also were booked on suspicion of Lingle's murder. They were identified by police as Marvin Apler, alias Frank Foreman; Frankie Fisher and George Davis, all said to be Chicago gangsters, and Herman Walters, said to be a former Chicago racketeer.

In addition to the five men, district attorney's investigators yesterday took into custody a young and beautiful woman who was questioned at the prosecutor's office, admittedly on ramifications of the Chicago case, and held in technical custody throughout the night. Officers refused to disclose her name or her connection with the case.

Washington Minus Cash As Congress Fails To Pass Bill

When the first day of the new fiscal year began at midnight last night the city became technically "broke" due to the failure of congress to pass an appropriation for its support. Luckily, fire and police payrolls are not due for 15 days and within that time it is hoped congress will provide its share of the district budget.

The district's current poverty was due to a dead lock between the house and senate over the amount the federal government should provide of the total $44,000,000 appropriation.

COUNTY RECEIVES PREMIUM OF $25,000 FOR RECENTLY VOTED SCHOOL BOND ISSUE

The popularity of Santa Ana securities as investment issues was evidenced when the board of supervisors today opened bids for the $494,000 school bond issue voted here recently and received a premium offer of $25,715. The high bid was a combination offer of the Bank of Italy, Anglo-London-Paris Company and Weeden and company, and the bonds were awarded to the group.

The supervisors encountered a rather unusual experience as the opening of the first five offers revealed each succeeding bidder increasing the premium offer.

The first to be opened by County Clerk J. M. Backs was that of the First National bank of Santa Ana, which offered a premium of $18,193.60. This handsome offer sent the county men into ecstacies, for it was considered a top offer. Exclamation after exclamation followed as the letters of the bidders were opened and revelations were made of still higher premiums. In the order of their opening, the bids were as follows:

American Investment company, $21,780.40; National City Company of California and C. F. Childs and company, $22,879; W. R. Staats and company, Dean-Witter company and Wm. Caviler and company, $23,329; Bank of Italy group, $25,715; American Securities company, $25,378; R. H. Moulton and company and Security First National company, $22,526; Heller, Bruce and company, Crocker First company, Wells Fargo bank and Union Trust company, $24,051.

The bonds bear 5 per cent interest.

"We're tired of duck and chicken. By the way, send up my ukulele."

The pilots spent more time than usual out on the perilously narrow "cat walk" on the side of the plane yesterday, tightening the mechanism and inspecting the struts, wires and mountings. From the ground they appeared to be giving the motor a careful going over.

Wilson Herren, manager of the flight, announced he would not order the plane to land. "I think the pilots know their own capacity and the capacity of the plane," he said.

Several Storms

Storms have several times buffeted the plane and the pilots have been forced to guard against ever recurring mechanical trouble. They sleep in three hour stretches on a narrow bed hinged to the wall and must rouse their fatigued flying senses eight or nine times a day to send the plane through the delicate maneuvers necessary in refueling and food contacts with the auxiliary ship, Big Ben.

Walter and Albert Hunter, who handle the refueling plane, were confident that the City of Chicago will remain aloft until Friday. Albert, who started the family up in the flying business and who manages their fortunes, said they were undecided about what to do when the present flight ends.

The City of Chicago and her pilots had earned $5000 today from the $100 offered by an oil company for every hour the plane remained aloft past the 420 hour record established by Dale Jackson and Forrest O'Brine in the St. Louis Robin a year ago. If they stay up until Friday they will have earned more than $12,000 from that source.

Frank Was, manager of the Security-First National bank of Los Angeles declared that business conditions are much better and are getting on a sounder basis all the time. He also pointed out that indications point to good prices for all crops in the county except walnuts.

Earnings Large

Alex Brownridge, cashier of the Farmers and Merchants bank, stated that business conditions were very good and that the bank earnings had been unusually high for the first six months of the year. He prophesied even greater returns after the crop monies were turned in.

W. B. Williams, cashier of the First National bank, practically repeated Brownridge's statement and pointed to the substantial increases in the bank deposits and resources as proof that business was good. Charles L. Cotant, vice-president of the Bank of Italy, was also of the opinion that business is on the upward trend.

Edwin Rockhill, cashier of the Commercial National bank, was firmly convinced that when returns from the crops were turned in, money would be more plentiful and business good.

tive, officials predicted. Woodcock was sworn in today.

Prior to taking command, he said:

"We intend to enforce the law to the best of our ability and without sensationalism or violation of civil rights."

In an earlier statement, Attorney General Mitchell, who today became the commander in chief of the federal dry army, emphasized that enforcement henceforth will be more selective than ever. The government's limited staff and appropriation will be devoted hereafter, it was indicated, to detecting larger commercial bootlegging, and efforts to obtain state co-operation will be expended.

Doran Stays On

Informed that Campbell also had charged certain treasury officials with insincerity in enforcement, former prohibition commissioner Doran said. "That doesn't apply to me." Doran is remaining in the treasury as head of the industrial alcohol permissive section which is being retained by that department.

In the house today leaders were attempting to restore in the second deficiency appropriation bill the $250,000 asked by the enforcement commission for the coming year. The appropriation was originally struck out in the house on a point of order. The senate restored $50,000 of it, but limited its use to the study of prohibition alone. House conferees have rejected the senate amendment with a view to restoring the entire amount without limitation.

Meanwhile, the commission began the new fiscal year today without funds. If the appropriation is finally passed a few days delay will not be serious. Otherwise the commission will be dependent on Mr. Hoover's plan to raise $100,000 from outside sources to continue the commission's work.

HIGHER PRICES EXPECTED FOR VALENCIA CROP

Although figures are not entirely complete showing the total citrus shipments during June through the Orange County Fruit exchange, C. C. Hillis, manager, stated at Orange today that the probabilities were that the figure would reach 685 cars. This is about the same percentage as shipments made in June during the two previous years of 1928 and 1929, or from 16 to 18 per cent of the estimated total crop for the year. No figures were available as to the amount of returns to growers from the June shipments, but Hillis advised that the price levels were somewhat higher this year.

The total number of cars shipped during May, when all May records were broken for the association with a return to growers of $886,790, was 638. This, added to the larger June shipment of 685 cars, makes a total for the season of 1323 cars. This, it is estimated is about 35 per cent of the total Valencia shipments for the entire season. This percentage, due to the unusually heavy shipments in May, is heavier for the period ending July 1 than the corresponding period in the previous two years, according to the exchange manager.

"Market conditions are a little better, although June presents a low spot as compared to May, due to the competition of local fresh fruits, which are abundant and cheap this year," Hillis commented. "It is a very satisfactory market, regardless of this fact, however."

No estimate as to the returns for the month was made by the exchange official, although it is believed by those familiar with the situation that the figure will exceed $1,000,000. This is reached on a basis of comparison of the May returns and the heavier shipments last month.

USES PICTURES IN TALK ABOUT COUNTY'S PAST

Notable among the scenes shown by members was a collection of Mrs. J. E. Pleasant and Mrs. M. J. Marks. W. T. Brown, of Fullerton, showed a birds-eye view of Los Angeles taken in 1877. Another interesting picture displayed was that of a bandit of the early days who afterwards met his fate with a rope at the hands of the vigilance committee of Santa Ana near the corner of Sycamore and West Fourth street, where Rankin's Dry Goods store is now located.

A basket lunch will be held Saturday, July 19, at the home of Mrs. Frank Bemus, of 2703 Victoria drive, Laguna Beach. A transportation committee was appointed, with T. E. Stephenson, of Santa Ana, W. T. Brown, of Fullerton, Alice Grimshaw, of Anaheim, and William McPherson, of Orange, as members.

Bar Group Is To Back F. C. Drumm For Federal Post

The Orange County Bar association, within the next day or two, will meet and recommend Judge F. C. Drumm for appointment to the federal judgeship recently authorized by congress for the Southern California district, it became known today.

Police Capture Sidewalk Signs Under Ordinance

Merchants who value their advertising signs should keep them off the curbings, police pointed out today when it was reported that six gasoline advertisement signs and a creamery advertisement sign were confiscated on South Main street.

There is a city ordinance which forbids such signs on the curbings and the police department has instructions to confiscate the signs placed on forbidden property. The signs taken yesterday were sent to the city yards.

STUART LUCAS TELLS BEACH ASSOCIATION ABOUT PUBLIC OWNERSHIP OF OCEAN FRONT

The Citizens' Public Beach association held its second meeting last night, in the auditorium of the Capistrano Beach grammar school, with about 20 representative business men of Capistrano Beach and Dand Point present. A misunderstanding regarding the place of meeting divided the crowd, some going to the school house in San Juan Capistrano.

Alfred E. Guy, temporary chairman, presided, introducing the speaker of the evening, Stuart Lucas, of Corona Del Mar, candidate for supervisor for the fifth district. Lucas gave interesting facts regarding the public owned beaches of Orange county. Lucas stated that, according to public records, the public owns at Sunset Beach about one mile of beach, at Huntington two miles; at Newport and Balboa, about seven miles; a few hundred feet at Corona Del Mar and three-fourth of a mile at Laguna. At Three Arches there is a strip of about 200 feet, and from there until Dana Point is reached there is no more public beach land, Lucas said.

"On the south side of Dana Point is about three quarters of a mile of beach which has been dedicated to the public. This is the bone of contention which has opened the eyes of the public to the necessity of forming the Citizens Public Beach association, for this strip of public land has been fenced off and is not open for public use. The only access to the beach at this point is by way of a road owned by the syndicate operating Dana Point, and down a stairway which this syndicate has built, both of which are closed by gates.

"The Sante Fe owns beach lands at the intersection of the Roosevelt and Inland highways, at this point, and has not interferred with the public making use of its property. From this point, to the southern boundary of Orange county, there is no more open land.

"In July, 1926, after the new highway along the ocean front, between Capistrano Beach and the northern boundary of San Clemente was opened, a new road between the railroad tracks and the cliffs was used, and in November, 1927, a petition, signed by thirteen voters of this district, was presented to the board of supervisors, and accepted by that body, asking that the old road be abandoned. Three strips, shown as X Y and Z on the map have been placed in trust in the First National bank, in Santa Ana by the Petroleum Securities company, to be dedicated to the public, when conditions warranted. In the meantime, these strips of land are now enclosed in a fence which surrounds the property of the Securities company."

Alfred Guy, in speaking of the object of the association, stated that it had not been formed to take away anything rightfully belonging to anyone, but to give to the public what was rightfully its own. An effort will be made to have each town in Orange county represented on the board of directors of the association, and a concerted move will be made to open and control the public beaches of the county.

A meeting will be held on the evening of July 7, in the grammar school, in Capistrano Beach, to effect the permanent organization, elect officers, and organize a board of directors.

Fireworks Will Be Under Ban In Mountain Areas

All parties who are looking forward to an outing or camping trip in the mountains over the Fourth of July must leave their fireworks at home, H. R. Valentine, district ranger, stated today. Under the state and county laws the use of fireworks will not be allowed on any brush or grass covered land.

State and federal officers will be on duty during the Fourth of July period and this law will be strictly enforced, he declared. It is hoped that all people going into the mountains for an outing during this period will take all precautions in helping to prevent forest fires, Valentine pointed out.

DRUM CORPS IS TO BACK MOVIE RACE ENTRANTS

The Santa Ana American Legion Drum corps, headed by W. Hunter Leach, business manager, today entered the big Santa Ana Register-Fox Theaters popularity contest, now being staged to find the most popular young man and young woman in Orange county.

Leach announced the candidates which would be sponsored by the drum corps and indicated that the drum corps would work night and day to see that they won the two first places.

Miss Sue Verburg, of the county clerk's office, will be the girl candidate for the drum corps, and Norman Paul, prominent Santa Ana High school athlete, will be the boy entrant of the drum corps, Leach said. Miss Verburg is well known in Santa Ana and recently returned to Santa Ana after playing in pictures in New York.

That the Drum corps is going after the initial prizes for its candidates in a big way, was intimated by Leach, who said that an organized campaign would be started today to gather votes for the two entrants.

The first prize in the campaign is the leading parts in a big feature motion picture to be made by the Fox corporation, and which will be taken right in Santa Ana, it has been announced. There are almost a dozen other prizes however, ranging from a 10 day vacation trip to Catalina island, or somewhere else if the winner desires, offered by the Register; the down payment on a Willys-Knight automobile; a $50 evening dress, offered by the Sample Shop, and a suit of men's clothes, offered by the Brooks Clothing store.

Other prizes are to be announced later. Less important parts in the picture also are offered as prizes.

The contest opened here yesterday with seven candidates. There are now 10 in the field, and the list is expected to grow to 25 within the next few days.

New entrants in the field today were Pauline Evans, of Tustin, Sue Verburg, Leona Zimmerman, of 1133 Chestnut street, Santa Ana, and Luvina Layton Schade, Santa Ana. The ones who already had announced their candidacy were Mario Mecurio, who will be sponsored by the Phi Zeda sorority of Santa Ana; Corene Pennington, Jack Hunton, Jack Lindlaw, Norman Paul and Dorothy Ailene Loyd.

Standings Saturday

Norman Sprowl, manager of the Fox theaters here, stated that first standings of the candidates would be announced about Saturday of this week.

Votes for the candidates can be obtained in several ways, through purchase of admission tickets to the two Fox theaters in Santa Ana, through subscriptions to the Santa Ana Register, and through purchases at the Sample shop and the Brooks Clothing store, of Santa Ana. At the two stores each cent spent will be counted as one vote. A total of 2000 votes will be given for each and every three months subscription to the Register, and a 50 cent ticket to the theaters will be counted as 500 votes, according to the schedule.

Annie Laurie is not a fictitious character. She was the daughter of a Scottish knight and was born about 1682.

SEEK SERUM TO AID TREATMENT OF PARALYSIS

Issuing an apeal for volunteers to help check the spread of infantile paralysis in Orange county, Dr. K. H. Sutherland, head of the Orange county health department, desires to get in touch with individuals who have had infantile paralysis and who are willing to give some of their blood to be prepared for convalescent serum, he stated today.

In view of the unusual number of cases of paralysis in Southern California, the supply from Los Angeles has been exhausted and the county department is forced to provide its own serum. Cases from which the serum is to be obtained should have had the disease not longer than 10 years ago nor more recently than three months. All these individuals interested in helping to combat this terrible malady are requested to notify the Orange county health department, 314 hall of records, Santa Ana.

ALL NATIONAL FOREST AREAS CLOSED TODAY

On account of dangerous fire conditions within the boundaries of the Cleveland National forest, located in Orange and Riverside counties, the United States forest service has found it necessary to prohibit the use of all government lands lined within Orange and Riverside counties, H. R. Valentine, district ranger, announced today. Therefore, by the authority of the regional forest of San Francisco, that part of the National forest located in Orange and Riverside counties will be closed to all use except under special permit from the district ranger at Corona. This closing restriction became effective today.

The closing order does not affect the private or government lands located in the following canyons in Orange county: Silverado canyon to the mine camp, Trabuco canyon to the closing signs into Trabuco and Holy Jim canyon, and to the closing signs in San Juan canyon.

All parties owning cabins or private land within the closed area will be granted the privilege of entering closed area to reach their own property, but this fact does not give them the privilege of traveling over the closed area after reaching their private property. This closing order also affects the Black Star road in Orange county and the skyline drive road in Riverside county and no travel will be permitted over these two roads during the balance of the summer except for those having a special permit. Permits will be issued only to those having business in the forest.

ISSUE WARRANT FOR ATTORNEY'S ARREST

Failure of John F. Groenee, Los Angeles attorney, to appear in the court of Judge James L. Allen, today, to defend James Howlett, charged with burglarizing the Lemon Heights residence of D. N. Kelly, aroused the wrath of the jurist to the point where he issued a bench warrant for the arrest of the attorney on a charge of contempt of court.

The jury panel had been summoned into court for the selection of 12 men and women to hear evidence in the case, and the non-appearance of the attorney forced continuation of the case and dismissal of the panel. The new trial date was set for July 28.

The bench warrant recites that the attorney was present when the trial date was set, and should have been prepared to come into court today to defend his client.

Howlett is said by officers to be an old offender. He served time in Texas for burglary, according to officers.

Two Bound Over To Superior Court

ORANGE, July 1.—Charles Cooper and A. C. Cherryholmes, charged with passing fictitious checks in Orange, were bound over to the superior court when they appeared before Judge G. W. Ingle in Orange this morning.

Both men entered pleas of not guilty and waived their preliminary hearings. They were taken to the county jail in lieu of $300 bail set by Judge Ingle.

The first trans-continental auto trip from San Francisco to New York required 53 days. That was only 27 years ago.

SOCIETY

Public Party Furthers Pledge Completion

Although the public card party given in the Masonic Temple last night by the Harmony Bridge club did not draw as large a crowd as had been expected, quite a neat sum was realized towards completing the group's pledge to the new Masonic temple. About 13 tables of bridge were in progress.

Prizes were won by Mrs. A. N. Beal, who held high score for women, Mrs. J. T. Carter, second, and Mrs. D. B. Petty, low. Men's high score was held by Larry Golden, second by Glenn Lycan, and third, E. L. Heiss.

At a late hour refreshments were served, with Mrs. C. E. Jackson and Mrs. Maud Swarthout as the committee in charge. A delightful social time was then enjoyed, and was made especially pleasurable by the colorful surroundings of a variety of summer blooms. Roses, gladioluses, and larkspurs in a profusion were artistically arranged.

Mrs. Mary Shawgo was general chairman of the affair, while card tables were in charge of Mesdames E. L. Heiss, D. B. Petty, Hugh Henry, R. L. Spaugh, and Larry Golden.

It is expected that at the next meeting of the Harmony Bridge club on July 11, plans will be made for other methods of raising money for the members' pledge to the building fund.

SKIPPER LIZZIE

LONDON, July 1.—Women skippers are rare, and Lizzie Meadows is said to be the youngest in the world. She's only 19, and runs a barge on the Grand Junction Canal. When she was 16 her parents died and she had to shift for herself. Despite being a cripple, she finally acquired her barge and is now a full-fledged "captain."

Vance Home Was Scene Of Recent Wedding

The home of the Rev. and Mr. T. Vance at 420 West First street, provided a charming setting for a wedding of recent date, when Miss Marian Delano, a charming Belleflower girl, and her fiance, Albert Van Maren, Los Angeles, motored to this city for their nuptials with the Rev. Mr. Vance to perform the ceremony.

The bride had been a frequent guest in the home, accompanying Miss Frances Coxen, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vance, and her school friend and sorority sister at Woodrow Wilson high school, Long Beach. Miss Coxen is now in Honolulu, a student at the University of Hawaii.

Mrs. Vance made her home very attractive with many flowers, using pink roses and breath of heaven in the big living room where the ceremony was held. The Rev. Mr. Vance, a minister in the Christian church for 55 years, has now retired from active ministry because of frail health, but was happy to conduct the rites for his granddaughter's friend.

The bride wore a pretty frock of soft orchid silk with which she carried pink rosebuds. Close friends from Long Beach accompanied the young people, and served as bridal attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Van-Manen were to enjoy an automobile honeymoon and then make their home in Los Angeles, where Mr. Van Manen is one of the partners in a large dairy business.

NOME, Alaska, July 1.—Eskimos are big eaters, according to restaurant owners here. They state that Eskimos eat two or three times as much as the average white man. It is ordinary for one to ask for three meat orders and devour a whole loaf of bread at the same meal. They are good customers, paying in gold, fur or cash.

Fraternal Brotherhood

Friday provided an interesting date for members of the Fraternal Brotherhood, the junior lodge having the opening event at M.W.A. hall, when the young people met at 5:30 o'clock under the direction of their president, Hazelbelle Comer.

P. A. Trickey, organizer, was present to address the young people on membership and assessments, pointing out to them that they could earn the assessments by bringing some young friend into the order. Increased membership will be rewarded also with a special picnic to be held at an early date.

Candidates initiated were Edith Halloway, Janet Halloway, Marie Rachels and Ila May Smith, while applications were read from Helen Mair, Pauline Westlake, Geneva Spillers, Gladine Robertson, Dudley Westlake and Ella Robinson.

Election of officers resulted as follows: Helen Trickey, president; Ida Raymond, vice-president; Edith Halloway, chaplain; Dorothy Benner, secretary-treasurer; LaVene Parks, mistress-at-arms; Robert McClain, sergeant-at-arms; Ilene Lord, inner doorkeeper; Edward Hutchinson, outer doorkeeper; Yvonne Bruner, musician. Plans were also made for organizing a drill team of 16 girls from 14 to 17 years of age.

At 7 o'clock the adult lodge members met for a covered dish dinner at which the juniors were guests. The committee in charge was made up of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Pierson, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ellingson, and Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn Parker.

In the lodge session conducted by George Furtsch, one new member was elected, Mrs. Ella Westlake. Plans were made for attendance at the annual picnic in Redondo Beach August 24, when drill teams from all fraternal organizations will compete for prizes.

There will be no local lodge meeting next Friday because of the national holiday, but on Friday, July 11, there will be installation of officers under the direction of Harry Brookbank.

Over 100 members were present Friday night, remaining after the business session to enjoy dancing and cards.

Sycamore Rebekah

When officers of Sycamore Rebekah lodge entertained the general membership in I. O. O. F. temple Saturday night, it was to celebrate the closing of a year which has been successful and enjoyable in every respect under Mrs. H. C. Wiley's term of office as noble grand. Every officer was represented either by being present in person or by sending a representative, and as evidence of their co-operative spirit, served the delicious menu to the members.

As a sequel to this interesting opening of the evening, were the spirited card games for which the members lingered after the regular lodge session, and which continued almost until midnight.

At the next meeting of Sycamore lodge on Saturday night, July 12, the new officers will be installed and an entertaining evening is anticipated.

REAL SNOW MEN

DELHI, India, July 1.—According to natives, the expedition now in the Himalayan mountains, attempting to scale Kanchenjunga's treacherous peaks, is to encounter a peril much worse than high altitudes. The natives report the mountain range is guarded by a mysterious race, the Abominable Snow Men. These men are described as being huge, white, apelike figures, naked and covered with black hair.

A company has been formed in London to exploit pita fiber, obtained from a plant of the pineapple family growing prolifically in Colombia, from which twine, textiles and paper can be made.

DODGE BROTHERS ANNOUNCE DODGE EIGHT MILEAGE MARATHON AND DODGE NATIONAL DEMONSTRATION MONTH

Thousands of owners of the Dodge Eight-in-Line are acclaiming it the greatest performer and the finest example of Dodge dependability ever produced by Dodge Brothers.

To get an accurate measure of the dependability of this car — its stamina — its economy — just what total mileage it can achieve — Dodge Brothers announce a Dodge Eight Mileage Marathon.

A Dodge Eight-in-Line sedan selected from stock starts from Detroit. It will be driven back and forth across the country from coast to coast—over all sorts of roads in every part of the continent—until it literally can be driven no longer. We confidently expect that the total mileage attained will startle the world.

To give every motorist a first-hand acquaintance with the luxury and sparkling performance of the Dodge Eight-in-Line, a Dodge National Demonstration Month will be held during July.

You are cordially invited to come in and drive the Dodge Eight-in-Line. Thrill to its flashing acceleration — its sureness and steadiness on the road—its ability to do the difficult without effort. Test its internal hydraulic brakes. Experience the luxury of its beautiful, safe and silent Mono-Piece Steel Bodies.

Here is a car that is going to be driven across the continent as no car has ever been driven before. Learn from that what a sound car it is — learn from your own experience what a glorious performer it is.

GAS FROM SAND

TORONTO, July 1. — That gasoline can be obtained from tar sands is the belief of Dr. E. A. Boomer and Dr. A. K. Clark, of the University of Alberta. Through the process of hydrogenation, the two scientists have succeeded in converting solid, tar-like material of the tar sands into fluid oil and gasoline.

CONTINUE PROBE OF FIRE MYSTERY

Although four youths have been arrested in connection with an asserted arson ring, operating at Costa Mesa, and have been certified to the juvenile court, the investigation of the first continues today, according to a statement made by Boyd Sleeper, fire marshal, and Herman Zabel of the sheriff's office.

There have been 12 mysterious fires in and near Costa Mesa during the past several months, all of which have not been accounted for, in the opinion of the officers, who said that other arrests likely would follow within the next several days.

The four youths arrested are not connected with all of the fires, it was brought out.

DRIVER ARRESTED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

He was arrested by George Stinson, state traffic officer, in the Santa Ana canyon, late Sunday afternoon. Pascual was driving a truck loaded with 18 Mexicans. They stopped on the side of the road and had a fist fight, Stinson reported, and when he arrived, he warned them to stop their fighting and move on.

As the truck started off, Stinson noted that it took up too much of the road and on an investigation, found out that Arias had been drinking, he reported.

The Mexicans were on their way to Riverside county for a picnic, they reported.

LANDELLS OCCUPY SPANISH DWELLING

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, July 1.—Rosa Loma, the beautiful new home of Judge and Mrs. Landell, blends within its spacious walls a delightful combination of historical background and modern California life.

Situated just off El Camino Real, between San Juan Capistrano and Serra, on a tract of land which was a legacy to Mrs. Landell from her father, Paul Pryor, son of Nathaniel Pryor of the Lewis and Clark Expedition, who drifted into Southern California, and married a charming Spanish senorita, Rosa Loma commands a view of the ocean, the hills to the west and the mountain range on the east.

Within the home are found countless treasures and heirlooms carefully guarded over by Miss Gladys Landell, only daughter of the house. Spanish laces, shawls and silken dresses, recalling that carefree day when Don Juan Avila, known as El Rico, father of Rosita, who was Mrs. Landell's mother, was the alcalde of San Juan Capistrano. Here also are found rare pieces of old furniture, a "grandfather clock," which has ticked the time away for more than a century; a beautiful old sideboard with its burden of quaint silver and cut glass, an old chest, once the property of Judge Landell's mother, and an old square piano, all brought from the Landall home in Philadelphia, in '75, by boat, through the Panama.

For more than 30 years the Landell family has been identified with the life and growth of southern Orange county. Judge John Landell who has been a leader in politics all during his residence in the community, served as deputy sheriff, under J. C. Nichols, at the time of his marriage to Miss Soledad Pryor, on April 6th, 1895. Following a short residence in Santa Ana, they came to San Juan Capistrano and moved into the house which was their family home until the completion of Rosa Loma. Since 1899 Judge Landell has served as Justice of the Peace for this precinct.

W. C. T. U. AND CHURCHES HIT H. B. MARATHON

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 1.—Following the lead taken by the W. C. T. U., the Christian, Methodist and Baptist churches of this city have asked the city council to close the marathon dance in the Security building at Ocean avenue and Third street and to lift all dancing to 1 a. m., in accordance with a city ordinance.

The W. C. T. U. resolution, which was endorsed by the three churches at regular services held in the separate churches Sunday, charges that the endurance or marathon dances are dangerous to the health of the dancers and contrary to public peace, morality and safety and conducive to further law violation during the contests.

The Christian church took action twice against the dance, once through the men's class and once through the Sunday school. The men's class named M. A. Turner to present the church action to the city council. Both actions were unanimous. Those who spoke at the meeting against the dance were Alex Cameron, A. B. Densmore, E. C. Wright, J. Mitchell, Mr. McMillan, Mr. Ralston.

The specific resolution which M. A. Turner is asked to present the council asks that the city officials refuse to permit to the dance, that they enforce the 1 o'clock closing ordinance, against dances and that they take immediate steps to end the dance dance.

The Methodist church and the Baptist church endorsed the W. C. T. U. resolution. The action of the Baptist church was taken through the Sunday school, the church body will take action at a later meeting.

The marathon dance started Wednesday of last week.

Uniform Building Code Favored By Contractors

ORANGE, July 1.—Rejection of the Santa Ana building code and ordinance as a model for the proposed adoption of a code and ordinance in Orange and decision to delay presenting the matter before the city council for action until a complete program was decided upon, was the result of a meeting of Orange contractors and City Attorney H. L. Dearing at the city hall last night. The contractors decided unanimously to adopt the code known as the uniform building code, and the Alhambra electrical code, and appointed a committee to select a plumbing code that would be satisfactory.

The Santa Ana code had been previously recommended to the council at the first meeting in June, but dissatisfaction with many features of this code and the resulting objections caused the change in action that took place last night. The original recommendation was made by Ernest W. Gommel, who was chairman of a committee of contractors interested in securing the benefits of a building code and ordinance for Orange. Other members of the committee included H. O. Ehlen, W. E. Stork, Walter Duker, J. J. Hutchins, and F. B. Dale.

Contractors attending the meeting last night, which started at 7:30 o'clock and continued until 10 o'clock were Gommell, chairman; Stork, secretary; C. D. Post, Ed Kogler, Duker, Dale, F. V. Reeves, N. U. Potter, A. G. Parsons, Hutchins, Dayton Ditchey, A. Long, Pernel Barnett, L. G. Gunther and H. G. Lembcke, all of whom are in business in Orange.

The Alhambra electrical code was introduced to the meeting by Hutchins, who stated that it is now in use in 26 cities in California. He recommended it very highly and also presented a letter from Charlie Ait, the other Orange electrical contractor, approving the Alhambra ordinance. City Attorney Dearing also recommended the adoption of this code and read a letter from the board of fire underwriters approving this code. Dearing observed that it was his personal opinion that this ordinance eliminated several of the objectionable features of the Santa Ana electrical code and urged its adoption. The contractors voted unanimously on the motion of Hutchins and the second of Dale, to recommend the Alhambra electrical ordinance to the council.

After a general discussion of the Santa Ana building code and the uniform code, which has been prepared by the Pacific Coast Building Officials conference, in which Dearing revealed that this ordinance was in effect in 78 cities, 58 of which were in California and six in Orange county, it was unanimously decided to recommend to the council the adoption of the uniform building code. It was pointed out that the expense of printing this could be eliminated as the code was available now at $1 per copy and that a service is in force whereby the code is kept up to date by yearly revisions at an extra cost to those desiring the same. One item, the 12 inch clearance of floor joists over the ground met some criticism, and it is believed that this matter will be changed before the ordinance is adopted by Orange, Anaheim, Fullerton, La Habra, Tustinand Laguna Beach are among the cities in the county where this ordinance is in effect.

Several objections to the Santa Ana plumbing code were voiced when this came up for discussion, relative to the use of cast iron pipe in certain instances, yearly license provisions, and laying of all sewer line bym aster plumbers. It was pointed out in the objections that these requirements increased the costs, "unnecessarily," according to some contractors who spoke on the matter. A committee was then appointed by Chairman Gommel and approved by those present to work out a satisfactory plumbing code. Members are Ehlen, Parsons, Barnett and Dearing.

Upon the recommendation of City Attorney Dearing, the group decided to withhold their recommendations from the city council until the entire matter was ready to be presented in a unit. Several contractors expressed a desire that the ordinance should become effective before the contracts for the new schools are let.

ORANGE UNPAID BALANCE LESS THAN IN 1929

ORANGE, July 1.—There was an unpaid balance of $3014.27, less than the amount last year, when delinquent taxes were sold to the city of Orange yesterday by City Tax Collector B. F. Richards, it was announced from his office today.

The total delinquent taxes, following the closing date on the last Monday in April, was $4574.80, it was revealed, to which was added $342 in penalties and costs, making a total of $4916.80 which was advertised for sale. Between the time of advertising and the time of the sale yesterday a total of $1902.53 was paid on this amount by tax payers, who thus saved the addition of extra penalties and costs, which automatically apply with the sale.

The total at the corresponding time last year was $3502.46, which was appreciably more than the amount sold yesterday by Tax Collector Richards. This is taken as an indication that conditions in Orange are better than they were a year ago.

Several persons appeared in the office of Richards yesterday after the sale had been made, who desired to redeem their taxes without the additional penalties, but were referred to City Clerk Paul Clark, who now has the handling of any redemptions. An additional penalty of 10 per cent plus certain costs attaches to the taxes yet unpaid.

YOUNG PEOPLE AT CHURCH CONFERENCE

ORANGE, July 1.—Seven young people from the First Christian church left yesterday for the one week session of the annual young people's conference, which is held at Idyllwild pines in the San Jacinta mountains. The accommodations this year were limited but those fortunate enough to secure reservations for the event included two boys and five girls from the Orange church.

Those attending the conference, which is under the direction and supervision of Wayne Neal, of Los Angeles, state secretary of young people's work for the Christian church, are Randall Bivens, Donald Todd, Roselyn Wagers, Mary Lou Alloway, Erene White, Dorothea Martin and Louise Hilyard. The program embraces a combinaiton of religious training and recreation under careful supervision. A staff of competently trained leaders is in charge of the activities of the 200 boys and girls gathered for the annual event, according to the Rev. Franklin H. Minck, pastor of the First Christian church, who accompanied the group to camp yesterday and saw them comfortably settled in their tents before returning to his home here last night.

A delegation of nine young people from the Christian church in Santa Ana also is attending the conference.

IMPROVEMENTS COMPLETED BY ORANGE BANK

ORANGE, July 1.—Customers of the Bank of Italy yesterday walked into a greatly changed and much improved banking quarters, following the change made over the week end after the extensive program of alterations and improvements had reached the point where the proposed shift could be made. The entrance is now at the north of the room on the Glassell street side and the lobby has been moved from the south to the north side of the room, with a corresponding change in the working quarters of the bank. Moving was completed yesterday and last night as members of the staff worked late to get equipment in order.

R. C. Raddant, manager, announced that additional improvements, including interior decorating, new lighting fixtures, new floor in the customers lobby, installation of Venetian blinds at the large windows and additional new furniture, remained to be completed. Total cost of the improvement program amounts to $6000, Raddant stated.

The changes in the room, which is located in the Masonic temple building on the plaza, constitute a great improvement to the plaza as well as providing enlarged and better facilities for the service of the customers of the bank. The work has been under way for more than a month, according to H. G. Lembcke, contractor. Raddant stated yesterday that he hoped all would be finished in time for a formal opening about the third week in the month.

Five large windows on the plaza have been cut into the former blank wall and the outside basement stairs well on this side has been filled in and cemented over to provide an unbroken sidewalk along this side. The front, facing on Glassell street, has been changed with the addition of two of the large windows, which are 8 by 9 feet in dimensions, and changing the entrance from the center to the north side of the room.

The large windows provide much better lighting and ventilating facilities than the banking quarters formerly possessed and greatly improves the appearance of the building in addition. The work of installing the huge windows was completed last Tuesday, according to Lembcke.

A spacious store room has been provided in the basement where supplies and forms are kept in stock is another of the features of the change that is regarded as a great improvement. Electrically controlled doors to the safety deposit vaults are also to be included in the program, according to Raddant.

Workers in the bank as well as customers are greatly pleased with the changes that have been made, although it has meant some difficulties during the remodeling period.

The new fixtures were installed over the week end and present a handsome appearance to those entering the bank.

LIBRARY MEET IS ENJOYED BY ORANGE STAFF

ORANGE, July 1.—Members of the Orange library staff, headed by Mrs. Mabel Faulkner, librarian, who attended the sessions of the American Librarians' association held last week in Los Angeles, were warm in their praises of the welcome accorded the delegates and the many fine features of the national meeting, which was held in conjunction with the state association meeting. In addition to Mrs. Faulkner, Miss Mae Kimball and Mrs. Alpha Cave were present for several sessions of the convention, whose headquarters was the Biltmore hotel The librarian attended until Thursday, returning at that time to permit her assistants to attend for the rest of the week.

The opening reception, held in the rotunda of the Los Angeles public library, the banquet for high librarians in the Beverly Hills hotel, the visit to the world famous Huntington library, and the many interesting speakers at the various sessions of the convention were pointed out by Mrs. Faulkner today as high lights of the convention. The many exhibits of publishers and the visitors from Europe, Canada and Hawaii were also features of the convention.

"It was a most interesting and instructive week," Mrs. Faulkner said in commenting on the meeting. "There were over 3100 persons registered for the sessions which began at 10 o'clock in the morning and continued many days with evening gatherings."

Mrs. Clayton Rowell, of 739 West La Veta avenue, well known in the library world and formerly a member of the staff of the Los Angeles library, took part in the program, Mrs. Faulkner revealed. Mrs. Rowell presented a paper entitled "The Other Side of the Fence" before the small library section.

Mrs. Margaret Scott, Orange union high school librarian, also attended the sessions of the convention.

ORANGE OFFICIALS PREPARING REPORTS

ORANGE, July 1.—The fiscal year for the city government heads were busy completing monthly and annual reports and are turning attention to the preparation of budget estimates for the coming year. City Clerk Paul Clark indicated yesterday that the budget probably would be ready for recommendation to the city council late in the month or early in August.

The office of City Clerk Clark was a busy and popular place yesterday. It proved the center of attraction following the visit of Mayor W. E. Clement, who together with Clark, signed the monthly pay roll checks. Some 31 regular employes were included in the distribution that followed.

Behind the question: "Who giveth this woman to be married to this man?" was the one-time accepted belief that a woman was a chattel, like furniture.

TWO SUSPECTS MAY BE TRIED FOR ROBBERY

ORANGE, July 1. — Possibility that Charles Cooper and A. C. Cherryholms, now under arrest and waiting arraignment before Justice of the Peace G. W. Ingle on charges of issuing bank checks with intent to defraud on a complaint signed by E. Abbott, may be the intruders who attempted burglary of the Jack Price clothing store on South Glassell street on June 12, was advanced here today by Price. The clothing merchant reported that Constable George Bartley first believed the men, who were recently arrested in San Bernardino on a charge of attempted robbery of a gas station, might be those who entered the Price store and had a great quantity of men's clothing ready to take away when they were interrupted by the unexpected return of Price to the store.

Under this belief, Bartley brought pictures of the men from San Bernardino to Price in the hope that he might be able to make identification. This Price was unable to do, as the two men who were engaged in robbing the store when he walked in on them made their getaway before he was able to observe their features. A salesman in the store, however, readily identified the picture of Cherryholms as that of a man who had made a purchase in the store about a month ago, and it is thought that he might have been observing the layout of the store at that time. Price said the fact that one of the men was wearing a red sweater, the fact that both were young men and he fact that one was larger than the other tallied with the description of the men who were robbing his store.

The men are believed to be those who passed a number of bad checks in Orange recently and are to be tried on the specific charge of issuing an $8 check on the Banner market on June 2, which was signed Charles Robinson.

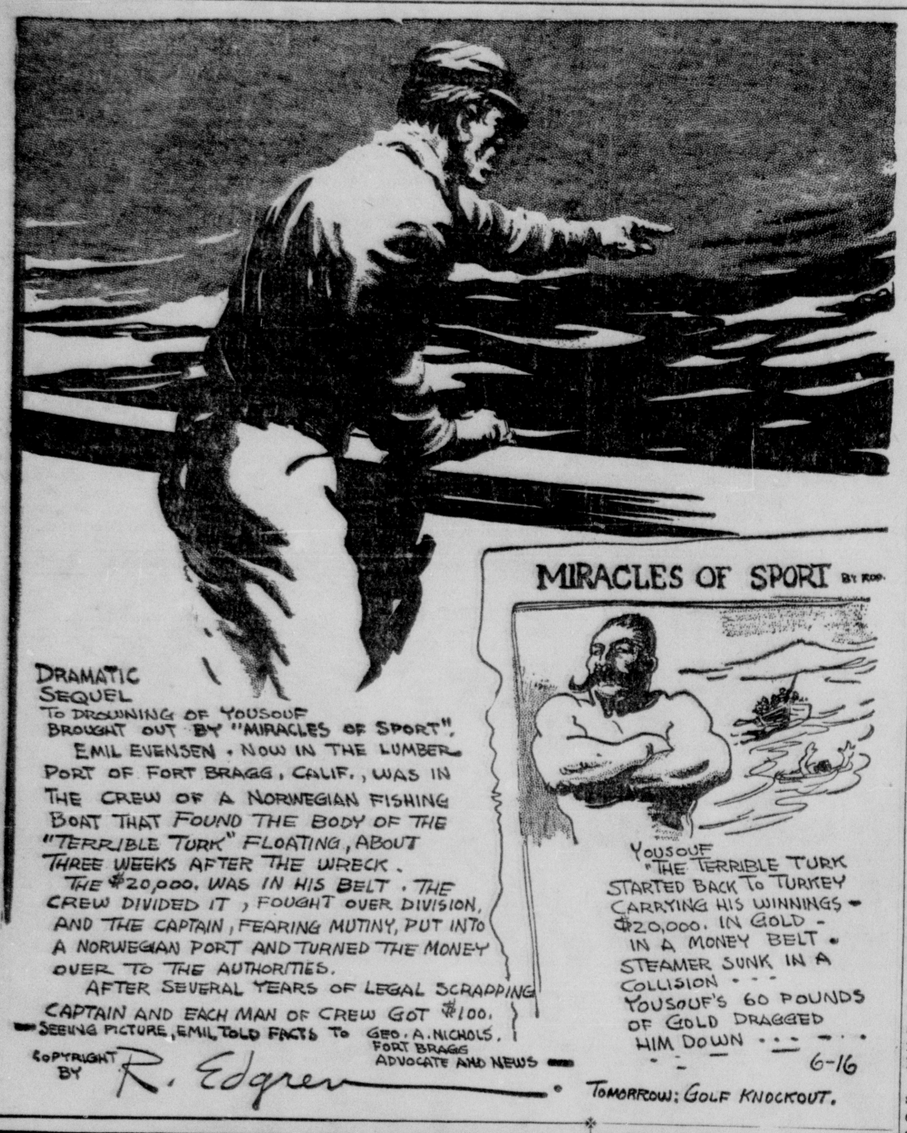
STARS PLAY HUNTINGTON BEACH TONIGHT

MIRACLES OF SPORT - - - BY ROBERT EDGREN



DID YOU KNOW THAT—

One of the reasons why Bucky Harris left Washington and went to Detroit was Joe Cronin. . . . Bucky always thought Joe was a great ball player . . . but Griff wasn't so hot for him. . . . The rift that ensued between Griff and Bucky gradually grew. . . . And Joe's great work this year makes Bucky look pretty good, thank you. . . . When Bucky made the prediction that Cronin would come through for the Nats, Joe was playing terrible ball. . . . He hit but .243 in 63 games his first year with Washington and pulled numerous peculiar plays. . . . The next year he batted .282 in 145 games. . . . This year he has been smacking 'em around 300. . . . And fielding in fine style. . . . Joe won't be 24 years old until October. . . . He's a San Francisco boy, and Pittsburgh had him up twice, finally selling him down the river to Kansas City.

BABE RUTH OF REDLAND

The fans of Cincinnati pick up their newspapers these days only to read again that Dan Howley's Reds have taken another on the chin. But that isn't really the reason why Red fans read the sports pages—they really want to see how many Harry Heilmann is hitting and where he stands in his race for the batting honors of the National league.

But for two people these would be dismal and dreary days when the Reds play at home. The two people are Dan Howley and Harry Heilmann. For the Red fans have found a slugger and clothed Harry Heilmann in all the glamour of Babe Ruth.

DAN'L SPEAKS UP

The other day Brooklyn offered $30,000 and sundry ball players for Heilmann. Robbie well knows he could win the National league pennant with that mauling mace of the ex-Detroiter. But Dan Howley would have no business of that sort.

"If we peddled Heilmann," spake Howley, in his inimitable slangy style, "this man's ball team might as well transfer its charter to the Regina, Saskatchewan, Muny league. We haven't been drawing the fans by the millions as it is. If we didn't have Heilmann up there lacerating that old Percheron's skin, we couldn't keep the ground keeper in the joint to see the games."

In this connection I remember a prediction made by Steve O'Neill, the veteran Indians' catcher who is now managing the Toronto International league entry. It was shortly after Heil-

BUILDERS LOSE TO COURTMEN: PEEKS WIN, 11-3

There was less than two weeks to play today in the second half of the Santa Ana Baseball league but the race was tsill a free-for-all, with three or four teams having a chance to creep into first place.

The Courthouse's 8 to 2 triumph over the league-leading and officially undefeated Orange County Builders' exchange in the Bowl last night brought much of this about.

Although the Parliamentarian victory was not entirely unexpected, the convincing manner in which they smeared their unbeaten opposition fooled all the fans.

"Spike" Spicer got off slowly but blanked the Builders after the second inning while his mates marked in almost every round. They scored once in the first on Jenks' single, an error and wild pitches. "Bub" Heard hit a home run in the second. Smith's single, Cannon's safe fielder's choice, Pierce's double and Jenks' single gave the Courtmen three in the fourth. Spicer's single, Thiery's double and an error produced a pair in the fifth which was followed by still another in the sixth on Pierce's walk, Jenk's forceout, an error and Spicer's single.

The Builders made a run in the first when Griset was safe on an error and Nickey and Lacey singled, and got its other one in the second when Jack Schultz doubled and Edson singled.

PEEK'S MARKET BREAKS LOSING STREAK

It took Peek's market five games, plus eight innings, to find itself in the City league but when the Butchers got started last night they didn't stop until they had taken on the Richfield Oil company some of the punishment they have absorbed from others. The Peek victory was 11 to 3.

The teams were tied, 3-3, at the end of the regulation seven heats but the Butchers knocked Fred Miller all over the Bowl in the first of the eighth, making eight runs on

Helen Moody, Miss Ryan Win

HELEN JACOBS IS BEATEN BY GERMAN GIRL

WIMBLEDON, England, July 1.—Two Americans entered the semi-final round of the women's singles in the Wimbledon tennis championships today, while a third, Miss Helen Jacobs, of California, met decisive defeat.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody won over Miss Phylis Mudford, 17-year-old English marvel, 6-1, 6-2, and Miss Elizabeth Ryan, formerly of California, defeated Miss Betty Nutall, of England, 6-2, 2-6, 6-0.

Fraulein Cilly Aussem of Germany, sprang a surprise bl defeating Helen Jacobs, 6-2, 6-1. The fourth semi-finalist will be Mme. Rene Mathieu, of France, who beat Miss Joan Ridley, 6-2, 6-1.

Mrs. Moody also won a woman's Mrs. John Hill and Mrs. Randolph Ryan. The Americans defeated doubles match, paired with Miss Lycett, 6-2, 6-0, to enter the semi-finals.

Finds Miss Jacobs' Weakness

Miss Mudford made a brave showing against Mrs. Moody. She drove harder and returned Helen's serves fearlessly, often forcing the games to deuce. She lacked, however, the great variety of shots in the repertoire of the American girl. Her chief armament was a heavy forehand drive, with which she often caught t heAmerican.

Helen Uses "Poker Face"

Helen resumed her famous poker face. She soon found the weak spot in Miss Mudford's defense, her backhand, and took many points with drives to that side. She frequently aced her opponent and generally showed better courtcraft.

Miss Ryan took her first set with Miss Nuthall with comparative ease. In the second set, however, the decision of one of the linescen upset her considerably, and Miss Nuthall took advantage of her opponent's discomfiture to score numerous placements.

Betty Nuthall and Miss Whittingstall, her partner, won over Mrs. J. I. Colgate and Miss C. Tyrrell, also of England, 6-2,6-2, and will mett Edith Cross and Sarah Palfrey in the fourth round.

U. S. Doubles Team Wins

Miss Cross of San Francisco and Miss Palfrey of Boston, defeated Mrs. M. A. O. Mayne and Miss Vam A. Montgomery, England, in a women's doubles match, 7-5, 6-4.

Dr. J. Colin Gregory and I. G. Collins, England, entered the quarter-final round by defeating Nigel Sharpe and Pat Wheatley, England, 3-6,6-0, 6-8, 6-2, 7-5.

Women's matches, both singles and doubles, dominated the afternoon's play and attracted a large crowd. This was despite the almost unbearable heat.

Daniel Prenn and Fraulein H. Krahwinkel, Germany, defeated W. A. Ingram and Mrs. P. Bouverie, England, 6-1, 6-2, and entered the last eight of the mixed doubles.

Tilden And Timmer Triumph

Jean Borotra and Christian Boussus, France, entered the last eight when they meat the Australians, Jack Crawford and E. F. Moon, 2-6, 6-2, 6-1, 5-7, 6-4.

Big Bill Tilden and Hans Timmer, his Duth partner, defeated Gregory Mangin and Berkeley Bell, All-American team, 7-5, 8-6, 6-2.

—AND ANOTHER FIGHT ENDED IN A DRAW

The bigger they are the harder they fall . . . . and here you see how the mighty Signor Primo Carnera looked when he spread his 262 pounds of bulk over the resined canvas after a terrific left hook let loose by George Godfrey, giant negro heavyweight, in the fifth round of their fight at Philadelphia. But Referee Tommy Reilly called the blow a foul and disqualified Godfrey, who is shown standing in his corner. Angry fans precipitated a near riot when the decision was announced.

Ed Banta, the big man from the north, cut himself a piece of cake today as the night baseball immortals welcomed him into their fold. The former Madera moundsman, now slinging 'em home for the Santa Ana Shells in the Orange County "B" league, turned in a no-hit game at Costa Mesa where he beat Newport Harbor, 11 to 1, last night. A wild throw to second in the ninth inning, after two were out, cost Banta a no-run game along with the other part of his perfect performance.

WALSH DOUBTS IF FANS WANT MAX-JACK BOUT

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
(I.N.S. Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, July 1.—A number of otherwise useful citizens expect to place themselves under lock and key at Madison Square Garden for the next day or two for the purpose of discussing the second battle of the bozos in all of its aspects and ramifications.

Frankly, if they do this, I feel that there still is a chance for everybody, for if they discus it at all, they may start laughing before it is too late and thus restore their sense of proportion. However, a man can't have a sense of humor and stay in the boxing racket, so I suppose the next episode of the Schmeling-Sharkey serial is to proceed, as scheduled, provided the Herr Schmeling can be persuaded that it is all for the best.

Schmeling Eager, Too.

Sharkey, of course, wants to fight because he can lose it and still be no worse than he is, which, frankly, is terrible. Schmeling, they say, also wants the fight, first, because he thinks he can win it and, second, because he will get 37 1-2 per cent of the receipts. However, it is my understanding that 37 1-2 per cent of nothing is not very much.

By this, I mean to infer that, if it is really true that both Schmeling and Sharkey want this fight, they have achieved real destinction. It is my suspicion that nobody else wants

Big Ed was a bit wild, passing no less than five, but this seemed only to increase his effectiveness for no Newport Harbor swatsmith was able to get anything that resembled a hit except Baker, first up in the first inning, who was safe on a close play at first base that was scored as an error for Ed Adams, Santa Ana sacker.

After one was out in the ninth, Melvin Beatty, Santa Ana junior college athlete who was in the Harbor lineup, drew a pass. He remained at first while Banta was fanning L. Messing and then stole second. Catcher "Speed" Hankenmeyer's throw to the sack was wild and Beatty came all the way home before the ball was retrieved.

Santa Ana scored two in the second Banta's single, Blower's walk, wild pitches and an error by Messing.

Norton's single, Speed's sacrifice, Banta's triple and a passed ball produced two more in the fourth.

Dorman's single Sands' single, a wild pitch and an error by Pitcher Pangle accounted for one in the fifth.

Hits by Blower, Walbridge and Adams, sacrifices by Walker and Sands and two errors gave the Shells three in the sixth.

Banta's single, Blower's walk and wild pitches and passed balls manufactured two in the seventh. Santa Ana got its last run in the eighth on errors.

'I'LL SET HOME RUN RECORD IF THEY PITCH TO ME'—RUTH

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, July 1.—"If they keep pitching to me I'll break my home run record easy," Babe Ruth told the United Press today.

"This hot weather is just what I like, and I'll keep busting 'em as long as they keep getting 'em anywhere near the plate."

With 15 homers during June, Ruth had a total of 30 today and was 12 days and 12 games ahead of his 1927 schedule, the year in which he made his record of 60.

In only one month, September, 1927, since he started hitting homers as a pitcher with the Boston Red Sox in 1915, has Ruth ever made more than 15 circuit drives in a single month. He hit 17 in the last month of 1927 to break his 1921 record of 59 by the margin of one homer.

Ruth did not hit No. 30 in 1927 until July 12 and No. 31 did not come until July 24. If Ruth continues his present pace, he can tie his record in his 134th game, and still have 20 games left in which to create a new record.

Ruth is now ahead or tied with his schedule in every year. In 1928 he ended the month of June with 30 homers, but slumped in August and closed the year with 54.

CORNELIUS AND MORNING TO BE SLAB CHOICES

If habits of years are as hard to break as some crusaders would have us believe, the Santa Ana Stars' sensational winning streak will be snapped in the Bowl here tonight.

Howard Morning, dean of owl baseball pitching and master of Santa Ana teams season after season, will oppose the club that is now joint holder of first place in the National Night league, the Big Ten of after-dinner sport.

Morning formed a habit years ago of beating the Stars. The veteran southpaw has always cast a spell over Santa Ana batsmen. To them he has lost only once in the five or six years that night baseball has meant anything in Southern California.

Oilers Always Troublesome

Morning will lead a good Huntington Beach team into the Sixth and Olive street orchard — one that is always dangerous despite its present humble station in the standings and the overwhelming defeat it suffered at Whittier on a recent a date as last Friday.

It is dangerous for no other reason than that Morning, the old Santa Ana jinx, will be wheeling 'em home from the knoll.

With Morning wheeling, Huntington Beach beat Santa Ana, 5-3, on April 29. With Morning again crooked-arming, the Oilers repeated, 4-2, on May 30. What Morning does July 1 is for you to find out.

Santa Ana will sick at the Seasiders a better team than it did on either of the previous occasions. The Stars are hitting better, fielding better and profiting by better pitching. Riding along on four straight second half victories, one of them a convincing triumph over Anaheim, the Stars doubtless are in better mental condition than they ever have been this term, too.

Cornelius Probable Choice

Herb Salveson, the soft-spoken leader of the homesters, wants to win this one—plenty. He wants to win so badly, in fact, that he has just about decided to start Joe Cornelius, his ace pitcher, for the fifth time in the last two weeks.

Salveson thinks he can take Orange in stride Friday, using Gene Hitt or Ray Price or possibly young Russell Muir, a new one to the staff, but he knows Huntington Beach represents stubborn and sturdy opposition, and he will employ every available resource to beat it.

So it appears that Cornelius will hurl with Hitt or Price due Friday, and Cornelius again next Tuesday against

Daley Leads Stars Again; Average .462

Leavitt Daley again is leading Orv Schuchardt in the great seesaw race for the batting championship of the Santa Ana Stars. After temporarily losing the advantage to his brilliant outfielder teammate, Daley regained first place last week as a result of a batting spree at Garden Grove where he hit safely three times in four attempts.

Daley's average is .462. Schuchardt dropped to .447, still a commanding figure on any club. "Big Bill' Cole, first baseman, slipped in ahead of "Rosy" Merrill for third place. Cole, however, has been to bat only 28 times.

Schuchardt is the team's leading run-maker with Merrill second. Nelson leads in two-base hits, Daley in triples and Nelson in homers.

80,000 SEATS AVAILABLE IN COLISEUM NOW

LOS ANGELES, July 1.—University of Southern California's football team will play to record crowds of more than 80,000 in the Los Angeles Coliseum in the California game November 8 and the Notre Dame contest December 6 and possibly also in the Washington game on November 27, according to Arnold Eddy, who took up his duties as general manager of the Trojans today.

According to Eddy, record crowds are assured inasmuch as the Coliseum this fall will hold 4000 more spectators than its previous capacity of 76,400.

The work this summer on the Coliseum, although being primarily for the purpose of cementing walls, stairways, floors and other parts of the structure that have previously been or wood or earth, will also provide the 4000 additional seats through a rearranged and more efficient system of aisles.

The construction work being done on the Coliseum at present is known as Unit A. Unit B, which is planned for the near future, will consist of enlarging the Coliseum to a seating capacity of more than 100,000 by the addition of more rows of seats around the top.

It also is taken for granted that Salveson will start the same men who have been knocking off all comers since the second part of the split season got under way. "Eeny" Wilcox will catch, Bill Cole will be at first base, Leavitt Daley second, Darwin Scott third, and "Memphy" Hill short. Wayne Nelson, Orville Schuchardt and "Rosy" Merrill will compose the outfield.

Oilers Defense Strong

Louie Baher is scheduled to receive Morning. Art Mittelstedt at first base, "Beanie" Maylin at second, Johnny Geshert at third, and "Shorty" Neal at short give Huntington Beach a sterling defense. Johnny Norek, one of the best hitters in the league, "Bullets" Marshall and Perry Callahan are the Oiler flychasers.

La Habra has not set-up itself tonight. The Ray invade Long Beach and may find the Acorns in one of their run-making moods, although the league-leaders will shoulder the odds as usual.

Dangerous despite its spotty defense, Garden Grove goes to Whittier to meet the team that most of the critics still hold is the one to beat for the championship. This should be a mound battle between tall "String" McDonnell and short Earl Morrill.

Anaheim draws Orange, an in-and-outer, at Orange. The valencias are likely to have too much pitching for Lyle Richards' boys.

Olive goes to Fullerton in the other game of the day. The standing:

JACK-MAX REMATCH INTEREST DOUBTED

it and, when the time comes, if at all, they will prove this by remaining agsent in much profusion.

However, it is yet to be established that Schmeling is as avid for the enterprise as his public utterances have indicated. He has left the matter in the hands of the Herr Jake, his manager, and the latter is empowered to sign only on terms that are satisfactory to the Herr Schmeling's real manager, who is the Herr Schmeling himself.

Want Option On Max

For one thing, the Garden people are trying to exercise a mortgage on him for 1931 and the man will have none of it. For another, the Herr Jake is attempting to have the New York boxing commission take the bowser off him so that he can do his managing right out there in the light of day and not in the furtive mannare of a man sneaking home by the backstairs. The Bulow issue, whereby Schmeling's step-manager is to be paid by Sharkey, also has given the boys a lot of conniving to do.

However, they say they will sign the documents not later than tomorrow and that, thereupon, everything will be in readiness for the gripping encounter.

They have arranged for the fight to take place at the Yankee stadium.

They have arranged with the boxing commission to pay off again with the world's title to the winner.

They have arranged for the date, naming either September 13 or 25.

They have arranged for everything in fact, except the crowd.

Boone Will Join Brooklyn At Once

NEW YORK, July 1.—(INS)—Ike Boone, veteran big leaguer who has been busting the old winesap with much eclat out in the Pacific Coast league, will report immediately to the Brooklyn Robins, it was announced today.

He was purchased outright by the Robins from the San Francisco Mission club. Boone was formerly with the Red Sox, White Sox and Giants and is rated a hard hitter but a mediocre fielder.

mann was waived out of the American league last winter.

"He'll lead that league," said Steve. "Those National league pitchers will dish him up some curve balls and he will knock them down a lot of infielders' throats."

A STEADY BARRAGE

He has been doing just that. The other day he was batting .380. And .380 represents no spurt at all for Heilmann. He'll be hitting .380 when the season ends, or better than that. When September rolls around, there won't be many National leaguers hitting above that figure.

Personally, Heilmann must be deriving a great deal of satisfaction from the esteem in which he is held in Redland. They waived him out of the American league as all washed up. There still seems to be plenty of dirt on him. He is in the twilight of his big league career, as he will mark his 36th birthday in August, and ball players usually fade swiftly around that age.

In his 15 years in the majors, all with Detroit, the San Francisco ball murderer never has been in a world series.

But he is the Babe Ruth of Redland field now, basking in the bright light of heroism. And enjoying a quiet laugh at the expense of American league managers who let him slip away.

In a hostess it's Graciousness

in a cigarette it's Taste

THE SUCCESS OF A HOSTESS depends upon her ability to make others feel at home; that of a cigarette, upon better taste.

HOW ELSE EXPLAIN Chesterfield's constant gains, its ever-mounting popularity with smokers everywhere?

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE for the delicate mildness and rich aroma that belong to Chesterfield, nor for Chesterfield's unique blend and cross-blend. "In a cigarette it's TASTE!" Yes, and in a Chesterfield, it's . . . "TASTE above everything".

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield cigarettes are of finer quality and hence of better taste than in any other cigarette at the price.

CHAPTER XLII

"I've brought Wickett along to identify Johnson," Dundee told his chief when he arrived at Police Headquarters. "You sounded a bit mysterious over the telephone. Where is Johnson?"

"On his way here now, escorted by a couple of the finest," Captain Strawn grinned. "I told you that unless he staged the cleverest disappearing stunt of the country we'd have him here within 20 minutes."

"Where did you find him?" Dundee asked, still puzzled.

"Right here in Hamilton!" Strawn chuckled. "Wasn't in hiding at all. In fact, he was as conspicuous as a wart on a nose. He's been making Hamilton regularly for six months as a traveling salesman for a Chicago silk hosiery manufacturer. Always stops at the Stuart House, which, if you don't happen to know, is Hamilton's most popular commercial hotel. A pretty good salesman, too!" Strawn added admiringly. "After the robbery and the murder Friday night he made his rounds Saturday morning, as usual, and booked a string of big orders from department stores, shoe stores and specialty shops.

"But if you found him at the Stuart House—" Dundee objected.

"We didn't," Strawn chuckled. "The boys picked him up 10 minutes ago on the municipal golf course. But I'll tell it from the beginning.

"About 12 o'clock today into this office walks a dame who says she's Hattie Schneider, chambermaid at the Stuart House. Wants to know if there's any reward for information about Harvey Johnson. I tell her to spill her story and let me see what it's worth. She opens a bundle and I'll be damned if she don't pull out a navy-blue polka dot bow tie and a white shirt with blue pin stripes. Says they belong to the gent in 512, one of the rooms she cleans. Young man by the name of Cartwright — Hubert Cartwright. She describes Johnson to a T, except that this Cartwright wears horn-rimmed glasses and parts his hair in the middle instead of on the left side. But if you remember, Johnson's description would fit about four out of 10 young men you see on the streets any day, and shirts and ties like the ones she showed me are pretty apt to be in every man's wardrobe."

"Yes," Dundee agreed.

"But I wasn't taking any chances," Strawn went on with immense satisfaction. "I went to the Stuart House myself, and had a talk with the manager. He gave Cartwright a swell sendoff. Said he'd known him for six months, ever since Cartwright had taken over this territory for the hosiery manufacturer, and that Cartwright was a model character. Paid his bills promptly, kept regular and decent hours. But as I said, I wasn't taking any chances. I made the manager take me up to Cartwright's romo, and stay while I searched it. In the desk were a couple of wires and a letter from his sales manager, and everything looked jake for Cartwright. Nothing funny in his clothes closet or bureau drawers. No black pigskin bag, like the one Johnson stole from Crosby. But there was a big sample case, stamped with the name of the hosiery concern. It was locked. One of my skeleton keys opened it."

He paused provocatively, and leisurely lit his pipe.

"And how!" Strawn assured him grimly, as he opened a drawer of his desk and showed his subordinate a pile of silk stockings. "Look!" He lifted a pair of "sun tan" sheer silk hose and Dundee's fascinated eyes watched a gleaming snake writhe swiftly to the toe of a stocking. "Mrs. Berkeley's string of 49 matched pearls. Every piece stolen from Crosby, Clorinda and Mrs. Berkeley is here. Even the miniature of Phyllis Crosby. Each article was concealed in a separate pair of stockings, and the stockings folded so smoothly you'd never guess what Santa Claus had put into them."

"Pretty neat," Dundee commented admiringly. "And Johnson, or Cartwright, had left the loot there while he trustfully went out to play golf."

"Yeah. The hotel manager says he plays every Sunday that he's in Hamilton. Went out this morning with a couple of friends he's made in the hotel. I had the manager put in a call to a soft drink and hot dog stand near the course, and get a message to one of the twomen he was playing with. This chap, name of Petty, has been living in the hotel for years and the manager could vouch for him. I spoke to Petty, told him who I was, warned him not to tip off Cartwright, and asked him to keep my man in sight until a police car could get there ....Come in!" he bawled.

Sergeant Turner stuck his head in. "Got him chief. Want him in there?"

"Yes. What's he been told?" Captain Strawn replied.

"Nothing, but that he's wanted at headquarters for questioning," Sergeant Turner answered.

"Good! Bring him in."

Within two minutes the suspect was ushered into Captain Strawn's office. Wearing correct and rather expensive golf togs the young man presented a surprisingly prepossessing appearance. Even his expression—mingled surprise and indignation—was eminently correct.

"Hello, Johnson!" Captain Strawn greeted him jovially, like an old friend.

"My name is Cartwright—Hubert D. Cartwright," the man answered with just the right amount of vehemence. I am a traveling representative of the TruSilk Hosiery Company of Chicago."

"Sergeant, there's a man out in the hall named Wickett. Will you bring him in?"

"Ever see this man before, Wickett?" Strawn asked genially, as the butler edged diffidently into the room.

"If he will kindly take off his glasses—"

Wickett studied the face conscientiously for a moment before replying. "Yes, sir," he said to Captain Strawn. "I have seen him before. I know him as Johnson, the man Mrs. Lambert hired on Friday to serve as Mr. Crosby's valet.

"Thanks, Wickett. Sorry to have had to yank you away from your work like this," said the chief of detectives. "Payne have one of the boys drive Wickett back to Hillcrest....Now, Johnson—or is it really Cartwright?—what have you got to say for yourself?"

"Am I under arrest?" the man asked coolly.

"Arrest? Oh, no, Not yet," Strawn retorted genially. "You're just here for a nice, quiet little chat....See here, Johnson!" he snapped, abandoning all pretense. "We've got you cold on the burglary business, and if you insist, I can put you under arrest right now; you can stand on your rights, demand a lawyer and refuse to talk. But I'm trying to be decent to you. I'm going to give you a chance to come clean on the whole rotten mess you got yourself into Friday night. I'm going to listen to your story with an open mind, then advise you honestly, as man to man, whether I think you have a Chinaman's chance to get a minimum sentence for second degree murder or maybe just manslaughter, if you plead guilty. Otherwise, Johnson, I'm going to book you right now for first degree murder as well as grand larceny."

"You haven't got anything on me, except that I happen to look something like a man named Johnson," the man retorted, but his voice shook a little.

"Yeah?" Strawn grinned. "Life's just full of funny coincidence, ain't it? You happen to look something like a man named Johnson; you 'happen' to sign the Stuart House register in a handwriting that 'happens' to look like Johnson's writing on his application for work filed Friday with the Hamilton Domestic Employment Bureau; you 'happen' to own a navy-blue silk bow tie with white polka dots and a white shirt with blue pin stripes—just like Johnson's; and you 'happen' to have had in your possession about $75,000 worth of jewelry just like the stuff Johnson stole from the Berkeley home Friday night."

As he spoke Strawn opened a drawer of his desk and pulled out the shirt and tie; then, still grinning at the white-faced young man, he opened another drawer and exhibited the rumpled stack of silk stockings.

It was the last exhibit which completely shattered the nerve of the prisoner. He made no melodramatic lunge toward the chief of detectives; he did not curse or snarl. He merely collapsed so completely that Dundee, watching with keen but not unkind eyes, had a momentary fear that the man had died of a heart attack. His eyes were closed, and cheeks and lips had, with amazing suddenness, taken on the grayish-lavender pallor of death.

Captain Strawn must have become alarmed, too, for he jerked open the bottom drawer of his desk, seized a pint bottle of whisky and poured a stiff dose into a small glass.

"Lend a hand, Dundee!" he ordered. "Force his jaws apart.... That's right....Ah!....Well, my man!" he exulted, as Johnson's eyelids fluttered weakly. "Ready to talk now?"

"Give him time, chief," Dundee begged compassionately.

"I'll talk," Johnson whispered feebly. "Make—a statement—"

Within five minutes the anemic stenographer attached to the homicide squad was seated across the desk from Captain Strawn, ready with notebook and pencil.

The calm of despair had settled upon the suspect. "My name is Harold Conway. I was convicted of burglary in 1919, and served seven years of a 10-year sentence in San Quentin. I was released April 10, 1926."

"Any other convictions?" Starwn prodded him, as he paused.

"No. I've been going straight since I got out of San Quentin. This is the first job I've pulled. I—well, I needed some sudden money, and I didn't know how else to get it."

"May I ask a question, chief?" Dundee broke in. "Thanks....Conway, were you in New York City at any time during 1926 or 1927?"

"Say! What are you trying to pin on me now?" the suspect demanded, with a feeble spark of anger. "What if I was in New York?"

"You really do look amazingly like a gentleman, and it's quite possible," Dundee ruminated aloud. "Just where did you meet Phyllis Benham, Conway?" he demanded suddenly.

Supreme Court Ruling Upholds Local Tribunal

DEFENDANTS IN OLD NOTE CASE GAIN VICTORY

The supreme court of California has rendered a decision reversing the district court of appeal for the fourth district and affirming the judgment of the superior court of Orange county, in the case of Jerome L. Richardson, plaintiff, versus J. F. Lamp, C. O. Field, D. P. Goodrich, A. W. Leichtfuss, G. G. Beckmann and W. B. Lamp, defendants.

The plaintiff, a Riverside attorney, brought suit against the defendants, who are ranchers living in the vicinity of Orange o,n a promissory note, interest, attorney fees and costs amounting to approximately $2500. The defendants in their answer admitted the execution and delivery of the note, but pleaded absence of consideration, and by way of special defense pleaded that the note was executed and delivered pursuant to a contemporaneous oral agreement entered into with the plaintiff whereby he agreed to absolve them from personal liability on the note and to collect it from persons against whom defendants had claims for damages.

The case was tried before a jury at Santa Ana about 18 months ago and verdict was rendered and judgment entered in favor of the defendants. Plaintiff appealed to the district court of appeal, which reversed the judgment and ordered a new trial, on the ground that evidence of the contemporaneous oral agreement was erroneously admitted. Thereupon the defendants petitioned for a rehearing. Rehearing was denied and defendants then petitioned the supreme court for a hearing, and a hearing was granted by the latter court, which, after oral argument, rendered its decision affirming the judgment of the superior court of Orange county.

The plaintiff was represented by W. Earl Redwine and Frank C. Scherrer, of Riverside, and the defendants by James L. Davis and Sharpless Walker, of Santa Ana.

WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG, July 1.—Preaching services were omitted morning and evening at the Wintersburg Methodist church owing to the conference of the church in Long Beach. Sunday school was held and Mr. Graham, a member of the school, who for a number of years was superintendent before coming here, spoke to the school. The Epworth league service in the evening had as its leader Mrs. J. W. McIntosh.

The Rev. and Mrs. J. Scott Willmarth, who have been staying in the community while attending the Methodist conference, were entertained at dinner Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Pratt.

J. H. Pryor and son, John Pryor and mother, Mrs. Emma Pryor and sister and niece, Mrs. David Wettlin and Miss Emma Wettlin, returned Saturday for a three-day motor trip to Yuma, Ariz., where they went to attend the funeral of a brother-in-law of Cecil Pryor, brother of . H. Pryor.

Alvin Koenig, of Huntington Beach, was a recent overnight guest of Dean Pryor.

BYRD AIDE MEETS SON

"Mr. Hanson, meet Master Hanson! . . . A couple of strangers—father and son—were making each other's acquaintance for the first time when this picture was taken. Malcolm P. Hanson, Jr., was born several months after his father had sailed for the Antarctic as radio operator with the Byrd expedition, and here you see them united as the elder Hanson landed in New York with his fellow explorers.

NEW ORDINANCE ESTABLISHES MIDNIGHT 'CURFEW' FOR ALL NIGHT GOLF PLAYERS IN CITY

Night golf enthusiasts in Santa Ana in the near future will have to do their playing and shouting before the hour of midnight, for the city council last night adopted an ordinance limiting the hours of play from 7 a. m. to midnight.

The ordinance will become effective 30 days hence. Its adoption was the result of complaints being made by residents in the neighborhood of miniature and driving courses that their peace was being disturbed by loud and boisterous noises after the hour of midnight.

An ordinance was adopted placing the full length of Main street in the central traffic zone. By this action, the steet superintendent is given control of the street in the placing of time limit parking hours. Probably one of the first moves of the department will be to establish two hour parking on the street immediately north and south of Washington avenue. Complaint has been made that all day parking has interfered with business houses located on the corner.

The city engineer was directed to prepare plans and specifications for installation of sewer, water and gas lines on Ross street, between Fairview and Wilshire.

Walker and Martin, of Anaheim, were awarded the contract for installing an ornamental lighting system on Birch street, between Fairview and Wilshire, on their bid of $1984. The engineer's estimate on the job was $2374.

By adoption of the ordinance necessary, the council changed the Main street frontage of the M. Nission property on North Main street from the residential to the business zone.

The property is on the west side of the street and extends virtually from Santa Clara avenue to Santiago creek. The depth of the zoning is 150 feet.

The Shell Oil company was given the contract for supplying the city with gasoline for the fiscal year. It will deliver the product at the city garage at 12 1-2 cents the gallon, with a guarantee against a raise and protection in case of decline in tank wagon prices.

Permission was given G. A. Martin to operate a used car market at 510 E. Fourth street, and like action was taken on the application of Placentia Ballister for operation of a dance hall at Fourth and Artesia.

The Reformed Presbyterian church was granted a permit for removal of its church building from First and Spurgeon streets to Myrtle and Hickory.

First reading was given an ordinance authorizing informal meetings of the council prior to regular meeting and the city clerk will send copies of minutes to each member of the council, the latter step avoiding the necessity of minutes being read at meetings of the body.

In 1902 there were 245 companies making steam, gas and electric automobiles. Today there are less than 50 makes of all cars manufactured in this country, and they are nearly all gasoline driven.

PLAN OFFERING OF HUNGARIAN MUSIC BY BAND

Lovers of typical Hungarian music, with its wealth of native gypsy themes and rhythmical variation, will welcome the announcement that a colorful selection, "Gipsy Love," arranged from the modern Hungarian operetta by Franz Lehar, will be featured by the Santa Ana Municipal band, when it is heard in the third concert of its current series, under the direction of D. C. Cianfoni, in Birch park next Thursday night.

According to Harry Hanson, president and manager of the band, the concert will open promptly at 7:30 p. m.

This will mark the premiere local presentation of this work, which has just been added to the local organization's musical repertoire. The opera was composed by Lehar in 1910, and had its premiere performance in Vienna, that famous old world musical center.

Lehar is one of the modern school of Hungarian composers, having been born in Komorn in 1870. His musical instruction was received at Prague conservatory. For a time he officiated as violinist in orchestral work, which was followed by a period of work as conductor in the Austrian army. In 1902 he was appointed conductor at the Theater an der Wien at Vienna, and while there he produced his first light opera, which was a great success.

Continuing to compose light operas, Lehar soon became famous for this type of work, having since produced over 20 works in this form, as well as various orchestral works, and numerous marches, dances and songs.

"Gypsy Love," an arrangement of which will be featured by the band here next Thursday night, utilizes the characteristic gypsy themes that contributed so effectively to the creative works of Liszt and Brahms. The work is of brilliant nature, and thoroughly enjoyable.

Two soloists will be featured on next Thursday night's program, Robert Brown, popular local baritone, in the favorite "Toreador Song" from "Carmen," and Louis Indreani, cornet soloist of Los Angeles, also a favorite with local music lovers and a member of the local band.

Yachting News

By S. H. LUCAS

The yachting schedule of events for the week end, including Independence day, is both extensive and strenuous.

At Newport harbor the Independence day series for star boats will begin at 1:30 p. m., July 4th, on the outside course. The second race of this series will be sailed on Saturday, July 5th, at 2:30 p. m. The third and concluding race of this series is scheduled for 1:30 p. m. on Sunday, July 6. Appropriate prizes have been secured for this series. The Sunday race will count as two races, figuring not only as the third of the Independence day series, but also as the first of the elimination series that will be used to determine the challenger for the International Star boat trophy.

The Newport Harbor Yacht club schedules on the Fourth, a staff commodores and officers snow bird race, at 10:30 a. m., speed boat race at 11:30 a. m.; performance handicap race, 1:10 p. m.; snowbird race, 1:10 p. m. (inside course). A ladies bridge luncheon and a dinner followed by dancing will complete the day's program. Saturday will offer a canoe race (paddle), 10:30 a. m.; snowbirds at 1:15 p. m.; rowboats (single and double), 5:30 p. m. Informal dance and dinner. On Sunday snowbirds will race at 1:15 p. m.

The Balboa Yacht club has races for snowbirds on July 4 and 6, with a chance race on July 5 for all classes. The Marions will sail a series of three races, one each on July 4, 5 and 6.

The start of the ocean race to Honolulu on July 4, will be watched with considerable interest by the yachtsmen. Although only four entries have been received as yet, it is hoped that another boat or two may be added to the list before the starting gun is fired. The four entries are "Enchantress," schooner, Morgan Adams; "Mollilou," schooner, Floyd Swift; "Contender," yawl, Walter Horn; "Talayha," cutter, Lazard Lippman.

It will be remembered that the "Mollilou" carried away her bowsprit at the start of a former race and went through a hurried repair in Newport harbor.

SEVENTY BOYS OFF FOR CAMP OSCEOLA TODAY

To the accompaniment of shrill yells and the tooting of automobilehorns, 70 boys and their leaders took off this morning at 7 o'clock from the Y. M. C. A. building for their annual two weeks at Osceola, the Orange county Y camp on the south fork of the Santa Ana river. It was the largest number of boys ever taken to Y camp from Santa Ana and the prospects are that it will be one of the best.

D. H. Tibbals, boys' work secretary, has the camp under his charge. He has for helpers R. H. McArthur, Ivan Scott, Robert Lehnhardt, John Hoy, Edward Rinker, Franklin Burke, Edward Gaebe, William Gibbs and Halstead McCormac, as group leaders.

Dr. C. E. Saulsberry accompanied the party, as camp physician. Every precaution is being taken to safeguard the health and well being of the boys, and to give them a safe and wholesome outing. Final inspection was given just before the start to camp by Dr. G. E. Raitt, who pronounced the boys "O.K."

Osceola is located on the south fork, seven miles above Seven Oaks. Mail intended for the campers should be addressed to Osceola, via Seven Oaks. Visitors will be welcome at the camp on week ends, and on the Fourth of July. To reach the place, drivers may go to Seven Oaks and then proceed up the canyon, or may leave the Big Bear road and go through Barton flats. Either way is fairly good mountain road.

The boys will return two weeks from today, and will be followed into camp by the boys from the Fullerton district, conducted by Secretary A. J. Raitt. The boys of Orange and Anaheim, who have been in camp for two weeks, returned home today, after a wonderful outing.

The list of campers who went today is as follows:

SUCCESSFUL REFORMER

LONDON, July 1.—There have been many reformers who set out to reform, only to be reformed themselves. But F. N. Carrington, who has made the East-end what it is today, is a successful reformer. He refused a huge fortune from his father's brewery when he was young, to set out helping his fellow-man. Now, at 80, he has seen the East-end grow from a nest of vice to one of the most respectable quarters in the city.

PLANE TOPSY-TURVY

ELKS LODGE LAUNCHES NEW PUBLICATION WITH EARL R. ABBEY AS EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

A new journal today has entered the publication field in Santa Ana and from the lusty lungs it has it promises to develop into one of the brightest of the many spicy private-circle periodicals of the city.

"The Elk Horn" is the name of the publication. It is issued by Santa Ana Lodge No. 794, B. P. O. E., and it is to appear weekly as "the big blast from 794, B. P. O. E.'

The "masthead" flaunts the name of Earl R. Abbey, deputy county clerk, as editor. Abbey formerly was engaged in the newspaper field at Anaheim, and his association at one time was with one of the "wickedest writers" that ever quilled a line in Orange county for public consumption.

Those who know the editor's early writings say that he is clever, versatile and humorous. It is anticipated that "The Elk Horn" will be read greedily and interestedly by every member of the local lodge.

The journal reveals that plans are being made for starting a dinner club to meet for dinner at the club dining hall once a week, with the dinner program being scheduled to start immediately following the summer months.

Intended to arouse interest of members in the club publication is the announcement that it will conduct an essay contest on the question, "What is the Difference Between an Elk and a Member?" A limit of 50 words has been placed and the prize is to be a membership card with dues paid up for six months. The contest will close in October.

Celebration of the 28th anniversary of the founding of the local lodge will be a big feature of a meeting to be held on July 14, it is announced.

The nearest allies of sheep are goats. The span of life of a sheep is from 10 to 15 years.

RETURN FROM LONG AUTOMOBILE JAUNT

Ed Kolbe, deputy county clerk, had returned to duty today following a vacation of two weeks, passed with his family in an automobile journey to points in California, Nevada, Idaho and Oregon.

The party traveled by way of Las Vegas to Weiser, Ida., where several days were passed visiting Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moore, parents of Mrs. Kolbe. Then followed visits to sisters of Mrs. Kolbe, Mrs. C. L. Moore at Ontario, Ore.; Mrs. Ed Powell and Mrs. Herman Towne, at Nyssa, Ore.

The return home was by way of Klamath Falls, over the John Day highway and inland route in California, through Redding, Sacramento and the San Joaquin valley.

"We must hand it to California for good roads system maintained," the deputy county clerk commented.

FIRST LEAP IN 'CHUTE GIVES WOMAN THRILL

Thrills for some people consist of seeing a wild movie or taking a corner on two wheels or perhaps racing a train to a crossing, but to Miss Villa Newbold, young and pretty employe of the Bungalow restaurant in the Grand Central market, it is going up in an airplane some 8000 feet and then stepping off into space for the first time and praying that her parachute will open.

Such an experience actually happened to Miss Newbold Sunday afternoon at the Long Beach Municipal airport. Denied the privilege of being taken through loop-the-loops, Immelman turns and tail spins, she took the next best thrill and used a 'chute. For 8000 feet, she wafted down with another flyer, both of them jumping from the same plane.

"It was terrible stepping off," Miss Newbold said, "but lots of fun after I forgot to count 10 and pulled the string." Quizzed as to her intentions of repeating the feat, she declared that it was doubtful unless absolutely necessary. "But I'm going to fly a lot more," she declared.

After taking 10 minutes to come to earth, Miss Newbold was dragged along the ground for 30 feet but sustained no severe hurts.

The U. S. Census Bureau, in 1926, reported the Protestant church membership at 36,019,973. The Methodist Episcopal church had 4,080,777.

Job's Daughters Honor Mrs. Bourroughs at Recent Meeting

Choosing the opportunity afforded by their regular meeting recently held in Getty hall, members of Job's Daughters planned a delightful miscellaneous shower for one of their group, Mrs. George Bourroughs who previous to her wedding the latter part of this month was Miss Ferdena Peters. The honor guest was presented with a charming array of gifts, which found a fitting setting amongst her other lovely presents.

The business meeting of the evening was presided over by the newly-installed queen of the organization, Miss Lucile Bermann. Plans for a beach party at Balboa on the evening of July 9 at 5:30 were made, and it is expected that an especially representative number of the girls will be present.

It was also decided that "The Womanless Wedding" should be the play to be given by the group September 4 and 5, at which time Miss Winifred Miller will be the director of the drama. The cast is to be chosen at a later date when members of the council and the principal officers get together to make the decision. Proceeds from the play, whose plot promises to be most entertaining, will go towards purchasing something for the proposed Masonic temple.

July 10 marks the date of the next Job's Daughters meeting, which will feature practice and perhaps initiation of new members.

Middle West Lures Santa Ana Autoists

The lure of the middle west was strong for Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wolff, of 1919 Spurgeon street, and their niece, Miss Alberta Wolff, who left recently by automobile for an extended trip to points of interest near Denver, Col. They will be gone for seven weeks, stopping en route at the Grand Canyon, where they will spend the Fourth of July.

The little group is anticipating with especial enthusiasm the week that they will spend in Estes Park in a delightful little cabin, about 100 miles from Denver. After visiting with several relatives and friends, they will return home, stopping at Zion National park.

Charm of New Orleans Is Suggested in Party Details

Delightful vacation experiences in New Orleans, and the quaint old-world charm of the French quarter of that romantic city, provided Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hays with the decorative theme for an original party with which they complimented Mr. and Mrs. Dana Lamb on Saturday night, entertaining in their home at 508 Eastside avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Hays were married in early May, in San Gabriel. Mrs. Hays was formerly Miss Mae Sexton. The two young people had been the attendants at the romantic wedding of Mr. Lamb and Miss Ethel Catherine Stuart, held in Yuma on December 28, and aided them in maintaining the nuptials a complete secret until they were revealed in early June at a charmingly appointed party given by Mrs. John C. Lamb, mother of Dana Lamb, and his bride, as co-hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Lamb have just returned from their belated honeymoon trip, and Mr. and Mrs. Hays took the first opportunity to entertain in their honor. Bridge was played, and scores tallied on cards bearing pen and ink sketches of quaintly lovely New Orleans scenes. Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Bradstreet scored high, and received a framed etching also depicting one of the famous spots in the French quarter. Etched stationery provided the second prizes won by Miss Helen Sawdey and Harry Anderson, while a special guest prize of a luncheon set in the bright colors used in the south, was presented the honor guests.

At the supper hour the same southern theme was stressed and amusing little "mammy dolls" served as favors.

Sharing the unusual charm of the evening with the hosts and their honor guests, were Miss Helen Sawdey, Miss Margaret Paterson, Miss Florence Backs, Mr. and Mrs. Bradstreet, Mr. and Mrs. Fred May, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Trickey, Al J. Fernandez, Harry Anderson and Hal Warner of San Clemente.

Bridge Luncheon Was Pretty Compliment To Young Matron

The "Los Alisos" canyon home of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Osterman was the setting for a bridge luncheon Saturday afternoon, when Mrs. Osterman and Mrs. Boyd Munger entertained with a shower honoring Mrs. Fred Schildmeyer, of Grand avenue.

The inviting menu was served at a prettily appointed table, featuring pink and blue color scheme. Flowers in those shades centered the table, and were flanked by harmonizing tapers. Favors were in pink.

In the bridge game which followed, Mrs. Robert Bentson held high score, and was awarded a much coveted Dresden boudoir lamp; while Mrs. William Silva and Mrs. Nellie Munger, in receiving second and cut prizes, were presented with very attractive vases. Mrs. Schildmeyer's bassinet was then brought in, full of exquisite wee garments and presented to her.

Guests, aside from the honoree, Mrs. Fred Schildmeyer, were Mesdames Louisa Schildmeyer, Nellie Munger, Albert Schults, George Boyd, William Silva, Robert Bentson and William English of Santa Ana; Mrs. Gilbert Kraemer, of Placentia; Mesdames Willis Mitchell and Horace Munger, of Irvine; Mesdames John Gobruegge, and Lewis Gobruegge of Riverside; Mrs. Oscar Schildmeyer of Orange; Mrs. Earl Goodall and Mrs. Arthur Hoefer of Owensmouth, and the hostesses, Mrs. B. Enjoyable Luncheon Shared By Ebell Nursery Board

Mrs. Clyde A. Bach, 832 Garfield street, was a delightful hostess to members of the Ebell Day Nursery board with a 1 o'clock luncheon in her home recently. The home represented a veritable flower garden, with a profusion of dahlias intermingled with other blossoms from the Bach gardens. The dining room was especially lovely, with the long table gleaming with crystal and china, emphasizing the pink color scheme, which was carried out in the fluted nut cups and slender pink tapers, adorned with fluffy bows. A centerpiece of spicy pink carnations and wild chrysanthemums completed the appointments.

Following the delectable luncheon, guests adjourned to the home of Mrs. Bach's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Lamme, where they enjoyed a short visit with Mrs. Lamme, who has been an invalid for several years. Following their return to the Bach home, a business meeting was held.

Members of the board present were Mesdames W. E. Watkins, C. S. Dumphey, Edward C. Erwin, Perry E. Lewis, T. F. Ham, C. H. Lurker, W. W. Kays, M. C. Williams, and three guests, Mrs. W. W. Anderson, Mrs. Eugene McBurney and Miss Mary Craig.

Japanese Wedding Will Prove of General Interest

In this season of brides and bridals, the wedding in Wintersburg on Saturday, June 28, of an American-born young Japanese couple, Miss Shiguko Masuda, and Kaorer Kodashi, will prove of general interest.

The ceremony took place at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, in the Wintersburg First Methodist Episcopal church, since the chapel of the little Japanese Presbyterian church was not large enough to accommodate the 200 or more guests invited. Potted plants and vivid hued flowers were used in profusion to deck the altar where the young people took their vows before the Rev. Mr. Kikuchi, pastor of the Japanese church, and the Rev. S. T. Ban, a friend of long standing of both the bride and bridegroom.

Miss Masudo, who was a member of the 1930 graduating class at Huntington Beach high school, wore a pretty white wedding gown and long veil and was attended by four daintily clad little flower girls and two bridesmaids, the Misses Hisako Masuda, her sister, and Hatsuko Matsumiya, a high school friend. Both were charmingly gowned in filmy summer chiffons. Mr. Kodashi was attended by two close friends, M. Nakadasha and M. R. Fugimoto.

The large guest group was invited to attend the reception which was held in the hall above the Wintersburg Japanese store. Dinner was served at 6 o'clock, when the beautifully decorated five-tiered bride's cake was cut. Each guest received a box with a piece of the cake as a gift of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Masuda, as is the unfailing Japanese custom.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Kodashi are at present with the latter's parents in Talbert, but will leave within the week for Fresno where Mr. Kodashi is the owner of an 80-acre ranch.

Ever since her childhood days, the bride has been connected with the Japanese missions of Wintersburg and Bolsa. She is a member of the Wintersburg church and a teacher in the Japanese Sunday school of Bolsa. She is popular and respected in both Japanese and American circles, and while her departure for a new home in the northern part of the state is regretted by her co-workers in church circles, all have extended their best wishes for her future happiness and welfare.

C. M. Best Family Leaves For Modesto

It was with much regret that Santa Ana friends of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Best and their interesting family of young people, bade them farewell this mornnig, with warmly expressed hopes for their success in Modesto, where they will establish a new home. Mr. Best, who has been advertising manager for the Excelsior Creamery company, prior to which time he was connected with the advertising department of The Register, has returned to the newspaper field, and will be advertising manager of the Modesto News-Herald, having already left to take the position.

Mrs. Best and the young people remained in their home at 613 South Ross street until a place was in readiness for them at Modesto, and left this morning by automobile for the north. Miss Catherine Best, who has been a student at Chouinard's in Los Angeles since completing junior college, accompanied her mother, sisters and broth and plans to continue art studies in San Francisco. Miss Joy Best will continue her high school and junior college work, while Gloria and Charles, the younger members of this interesting family, will enter the Modesta schools in the autumn.

Mrs. Best has nearly completed the manuscript for a new book written for juveniles, and Miss Catherine has completed the illustrations for it. Those who have seen them, declare them to be better even than those she did for an earlier book of verse, "Whys and Otherwise," written by Mrs. Best.

The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

Well, What If I Do?

I live in a castle in Spain.
Well, what if I do!
I have built it of joy and of pain,
Of smiles and of tears not a few.

It has gardens around it of visions,
And dreams that may never come true.
I choose to believe that they will!
Well, what if I do?

These little verses, I am told, were written by a young woman who was bravely fighting against tuberculosis. I am impressed, every time I read them, by their splendid courage, and their applicability to the hard facts of life faced by all women.

Imagination, the ability to bury ourselves in a Castle in Spain, is the saving grace in many a drab existence. It certainly hangs rose-colored curtains in the windows of many a mind.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Mayflower Salad

2 cups milk
8 egg yolks, well beaten
Seasoning of paprika, salt, celery and onion salt
1 tablespoon plain gelatine
1-4 cup cold water to soften
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 cups minced chicken, or shrimp and crab meat
1 cup whipped cream

Serve the salad for the main dish of the meal. It is fine for a supper party or for any luncheon occasion.

Put the milk to heat in a double boiler and while it is coming to the scalding point beat the egg yolks with whatever amount of seasonings preferred. Add slowly into the hot milk, stirring constantly. Watch that custard does not over cook. It is just right when it coats the spoon thickly, yet runs off readily.

Egg yolks will curdle just as readily as egg whites if cooked too long. Just before the custard is cooked add the softened gelatine to it and let is dissolve.

Take the custard from the fire and let it cool until it begins to thicken and jelly, then fold in the lemon juice, chicken or shell fish and when yet a little thicker fold in the cup of cream whipped stiff.

Put into individual moulds—little ones because of the richness of the salad—and chill for a few hours. Unmould on lettuce, garnish with asparagus tips and quartered tomatoes and serve with a spoonful of thin tart mayonnaise.

This recipe will fill ten small cups of salad. The individual calorie value of each salad garnished and dressed with mayonnaise is 380. Many of these calories are the energy-making rats, quite all right where the salad serves as the chief part of the meal.

Returned Honeymooners To Take Lacy Home

Returning from a leisurely eastern honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fernandez reached Santa Ana late last week, and have already completed arrangements whereby they will take over the Mark B. Lacy home at 705 South Broadway, during the extended absence abroad of Mr. and Mrs. Lacy and their young daughter, Elizabeth.

Mrs. Fernandez was Miss Frances Lewis of Santa Monica, and her wedding to the popular young Santa Ana business man, vice president and manager of the Tiernan Typewriter company, was one of the leading spring events. The young people left shortly after the ceremony, held in Santa Monica, for New York, traveling by steamer through the Panama Canal and stopping at various interesting points en route. From New York they returned to California by rail, visiting Buffalo and Niagara Falls as a side trip.

They will take possession of the Lacy home early this week, although Mr. and Mrs. Lacy are not leaving for their interesting world tour until a later date.

Hubbard, trustee of the organization, together with Mrs. Hubbard, as delegate, have recently arrived home from the tenth annual convention of Veterans of Foreign Wars held at Santa Cruz, June 25 to 29.

Officers elected at the conclave to serve California and Nevada for the coming year, were H. W. Winn of Emeryville, Cal., as department commander; Zal Brandon of San Pedro, as junior vice commander; and C. N. Hall of Alameda, as quartermaster. Long Beach was unanimously chosen as the convention city for 1931.

There were wild mountain sheep in the Rockies and other parts of America before its discovery by Europeans.

'BIG HOUSE' SHOWS PRISON CONDITIONS

Giving the chief causes for daring prison breaks which have focused the eyes of the nation on the penal institutions in the United States for the past several years, the picture is declared to be a sensational expose of present prison conditions.

At the same time, there is a plot that is outstanding and a romance that will be remembered here for a long time. Robert Montgomery has one of the leading parts in the production, that of a college youth who is sent to prison because of an automobile accident. Young and clean when he enters, his association with hardened criminals make him even harder than they. The cast is hand picked throughout. It includes Chester Morris, Wallace Beery, Lewis Stone, Lelia Hyams, J. C. Nugent, Karl Dane, and Mathew Betts.

The big prison riot, where murder is committed on all sides, is the turning point in the film and brings it to a thrilling climax.

BOTTLE CROSSES SEA

ILWACO, Wash., July 1. — A bottle cast into the sea three years ago by a Russian coast guard cutter's crew landed here recently. A note inside, written in English, Japanese and Russian, was dated June 23, 1927. It is estimated that the bottle traveled more than 60,000 miles in various currents to cross the Pacific from Siberia.

The clock in the town hall of Castleton, on the Isle of Man, has been going for 380 years. It has only one hand.

GOLD, ROMANCE IN WEST COAST FILM

The gold rush days of California when the six-shooter was the ruler of the country and when wild bands of outlaws rode through the hills—that's the story of "The Border Legion," Paramount all-talking picture which is now showing at the Fox-West Coast theater.

The story, one of Zane Grey's best novels, has been read by thousands. The picture will be seen by twice as many. It is the 28th Zane Grey picture to be filmed by Paramount, and is the latest all-talking picture made by the company.

The cast of "The Border Legion" includes some of the best known names on the screen. Jack Holt plays the leading part, that of Jack Kells, leader of a roving band of bandits who came to California soon after the Civil war, to strike terror into the camps along the gold lined creeks. There is more color about his role than in any picture in which he has been seen in the past several years.

Richard Arlen and Fay Wray have leading parts and furnish the romance for the film. Gene Pallette, Stanley Fields and E. H. Calvert also are seen in the film.

Aside from the feature, a Fox Movietone newsreel and an all-talking comedy also will be shown.

HO, HUM!

EL PASO, Tex., July 1.—Odd are the reasons some persons give for divorce. What proved to be "just another divorce" was that sought by O. B. Summers, from his wife, Gertrude. He said that his wife wanted more to live in Virginia than she did with him, so in order to let her have her own way, he wanted a separation.

'SONG OF FLAME' TO CLOSE TODAY

"Song of the Flame," First National's massive film spectacle with the Russian revolution for its background and an engrossing love story for its central theme, is closing tonight at Walker's State theater.

Alexander Gray, Bernice Claire, Noah Beery, Alice Gentle, Bert Roach, Inez Courtney, Ivan Linow and Shep Camp are a few members of the large cast. Great mobs of extras brilliantly costumed, and massive sets representing Russian cities and villages, countryside and castles, are seen in the all-Technicolor film.

Alan Crosland directed the picture, which was beautifully photographed by Lee Garmes and his staff. Spectacular dance numbers in a village square and in cafes were staged by Jack Haskell. The story is based on the operetta of the same title. Gordon Rigby wrote the adaptation.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

The Russian train was quite a sight and tickled Clowny Tinymite. Said he, "This sure is different than the trains we have at home. It's funny how you get so thrilled o'er trains that are of different build. It seems we find a new sort in most every place we roam."

The Travel Man then said, "My boy, it's different things that put the joy in any sort of journey. That's why we have all had fun in every town of every size. A change brings forth a grand surprise. Just like our trains, however, it is steam that makes this run."

"Oh, I would like to go up front. I think 'twould be a dandy stunt," cried Carpy. "Let's all hike up to the engine cabin now. The engineer won't start to rave, if we are careful and behave. If he is shoveling coal we might turn in and help somehow."

So, through a lot of trains they ran and shortly found the engine man. He let them come into his cab for just a little while. "No help is needed now," said he. "But you can sit and ride with me." And so they sat real quiet as they moved mile after mile.

Soon Mister Travel Man cried out, "Come boys! We're just about to land in grand Odessa. It's a mile or so ahead." And, sure enough, with quite a shout, they reached the depot and jumped out. They promptly found a fine cafe where they were nicely fed.

Then, after eating, they went 'round and on a quiet street they found a funny little toy shop. "Walk right in," somebody cried. It was the toy man. He was kind, because he said, "I do not mind if you watch me make my toys. Stand right here by my side."

Missing Letter Links

RULES

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't: TEE-TIE-PIE-PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.

3. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

DEAL to CARD—This is a long par five holes, but with a little shuffling you should be able to DEAL the CARD.

REFERENDUM ON OIL DERRICK ORDINANCE TO BE ASKED IN HUNTINGTON BEACH PETITION

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 1.—Petitions asking for a referendum on the recent oil derrick ordinance passed by the city council will be deposited with the city clerk before July 4, according to members of the Huntington Beach Oil Protective league. More than enough signatures have been obtained, it is reported.

A meeting of the association has been called for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning for the purpose of discussing further plans for the referendum.

W. T. Newland, president of the association, today released the following statement:

"Denying to the property owner a full utilization of his land, the oil field ordinance recently passed by the city council of Huntington Beach is arbitrary in its demands for exercise of uncalled-for discretionary powers. It is discriminatory in its unbalanced application to oil field development and to use of construction materials, and it is restrictive beyond a reasonable doubt both in its requirement for a financial statement and an excessive bond as well as its indefinite requirement for waste water disposal and its biased implications of fire hazard.

"Our association, recently formed to combat the unjustifiable legislation incorporated in this Ordinance No. 332, in its present action in seeking to referendum this ordinance is working to promote in no uncertain manner the future prosperity of Huntington Beach by permitting unhampered oil field development. The committee in charge of circulating the petitions for the referendum already report three times the necessary signatures after only a few days work. It is estimated that more than 50 per cent of the registered voters will sign the petitions.

"Repeated efforts have been made to hinder and restrict the development of the Huntington Beach oil field and prevent the full realization of the vast wealth buried beneath the property of citizens of this community. Previous measures of this sort more open in their intent have been promptly vetoed by vote of the people, and popular opinion is certain to defeat this measure.

"By cloaking the aim of the ordinance in indefinite language the council proposes to require a financial statement from each oil operator before a drilling license will be issued by the city council. A $5000 bond is proposed in the guise of a guarantee for the cleaning of the property after the cessation of oil drilling. A waste water disposal system is required to meet the approval of the city council. Any one of these three requirements may be used as the basis for excuses of refusal to permit oil operations at the discretion of the city council as illustrated by the language of the ordinance, which is:

"'The said city council may continue the hearing upon said application from time to time for the purposes of determining the financial responsibility of the bondsmen, the business integrity and financial responsibility of the applicant, and the efficiency and propriety of the waste water disposal plan or system contemplated. The said city council may require alterations and changes as may appear to them to be necessary . . . and may require additional or other bondsmen or security for the same purpose.'

"The ordinance is consistent in its indefiniteness and fails in every major requirement to set up any definite or specific standard to guide the applicant for a drilling license. There is no time limit placed upon the investigation and it may be continued at the whim or fancy of the council until the property owner's rights are jeopardized by the drilling of adjacent or offset wells. The property owner under the ordinance would be powerless to act and would have to sit idly by, twiddling his thumbs.

"Under the guise of fire protection, wood derricks which have never proven, in the opinion of experienced engineers, a fire hazard in the oil fields, are proposed to be excluded from Huntington Beach in the near future. This like the other provisions of the ordinance applies an uncalled-for excessive expense in the future development of oil property. As engineers who are familiar with oil field conditions have pointed out, the fire hazard in the oil field is the leaking gas and oil. Records of oil field fires prove this is to be the case and the insurance rates of fire insurance companies fail to contradict this contention. It also proves to be a discrimination against local lumber yards which ness and solid assets to the business aud growth of our community.

"It has been alleged by proponents of this ordinance," Newland continued, "that the ordinance will protect the city of Huntington Beach from unscrupulous oil operators and assure the payment of wages to workmen in the oil fields. This is assuredly a weak alibi for the ordinance, since we know that the state of California through the state labor commission provides this protection and in no uncertain manner.

"It was after considerable thought and discussion that our association decided to make use of the referendum to prevent this ordinance, which is not desired by the voters of Huntington Beach, from becoming effective. We propose to protect the rights of the property owners and the livelihood of the citizens of Huntington Beach which are dependent to a great extent upon oil field development."

LINGLE INTERVIEWING AL CAPONE

When newspaper writers said that Alfred J. Lingle, murdered Chicago newspaper reporter, had for years "brushed shoulders with gangdom" while getting crime news, they were speaking literally. This interesting picture, snapped by an NEA Service cameraman as Al Capone was emerging from the federal building at Chicago in February, 1929, after being questioned by federal officials, shows Lingle interviewing Capone who has his head bowed to dodge the camera. Notice the gang chieftain's alert bodyguards, their hands deep in their coat pockets.

I've just received a shirt back from the laundry, and I'm as mad as a hatter. Ordinarily, laundries being as they are in this day and age, the mere fact of receiving a shirt back from the laundry should inspire in one feelings of joy and gladness. In fact, I never miss having a feeling of gratitude and pleasure when I open up my bundle and find that the laundry has lost only one or two pieces—which, of course, they promptly replace (general laughter and loud cries of, "Yes, they do!"). Once there was a gala day when I got back everything I had sent out, and urged on by a heart full of thanksgiving and hosannas, I went out and made whoopee. But now I'm mad clear through. Yes, the laundry sent my shirt back, but that's all—they kept the rest of the shirt there.

PRODUCE

LOS ANGELES, July 1.—(UP)—Supplies were liberal today in practically all lines nad buying demand was considerably reduced. Considerable stock acumulated on the hands of dealers.

The apricot market was overloaded and prices continued weak. Small Royal Apricots from Hemet jobbed at 2c per lb. Asparagus was in limited supply with Delta stock stronger at 8-9c per lb.

The cantaloupe market was slightly weaker with heavy receipts and considerable off grade stock. Imperial valley Salmon tints jobbed at $1.50-$1.75 on standard 36-45s. The celery market was weak, due principally to slower demand and a bad break in the shipping market. Venice 4-4½ dozen sizes brought $1.50-$2.00 per cmrate.

Local green corn was in heavy supply and prices weaker. Most stock jobbed at 65-75c per lug, with fair quality at 40-50c. San Diego county and homegrown cucumbers were weaker at 75-$1.00 per lug. San Joaquin valley figs are finding improved demand and prices are stronger.

The grape market was dull with Imperial valley seedless ranging from 6-10c per lb. The lettuce market was stronger on good stock, with considerable stock, however, of only fair to ordinary quality. Receipts of dry pack stock were heavier. Best San Luis Obispo Guadalupe and Santa Maria 4s brot $2.-$2.25.

San Joaquin valley Triumph peaches jobbed at 4-4½c per lb. Local White Rose pjotatoes were slightly firmer at $1.75-$1.85 per cwt. Best stock bzrot $1.90-$.210. The tomato market was weaker under liberal receipts of local stock. Best 5x6s and airger jobbed at $.135-$.150, with few early sales and best stock at $1.75.

CHICAGO BD. OF TRADE

CHICAGO July 1.—(UP)—A short covering movement that carried prices up nearly 3s on the Board of Trade today resulted from the strong foreign cables with Liverpool sharply higher and less favorable crop news from Australia and Hungary while the deliveries tdoay were extremely light. On the last bulge eastern houses sold and the best figures were not maintained but the market closed with good gains. Corn was firm with wheat but oats was uneven throughout the session.

At the close wheat was 1⅞c to 2c higher, corn was ¾ to 1⅛c higher and oats was ⅝c lower to ⅛c higher. Provisions were strong on meats and about steady on lards.

THE TIME'S COMING

Land, with water, in this favored district available for Valencias, is becoming scarce, very scarce. The result is higher prices per acre and good groves will be at a premium. This 15 acrs, full bearing, uniform grove at $50,000 will be worth much more and bring it. Growers wishing to add to their acreage will be wise to investigate; it's worth more right now. Maybe you have a house to turn in—it's possible. No. 4152.

WHEN FAME LACKS SUBSTANCE

Within the heart of man is a longing for fame—to be lifted above the crowd. The desire is commendable, but in order to arrive at any definite conclusion this thing called fame must be analyzed.

The fame of accomplishment in art, music, on the stage, in letters, is one kind. Fame because of political or social preferment is another kind. Fame because of sitting on top of a flagpole longer than the other fellow is still another. But how long does fame last?

The world is forgetful even of genuine accomplishment. It is fickle and even cruel with the famous. The applause soon dies away, swallowed up in the fame of another. Today the star rises in the spotlight. Tomorrow he or she is living in a two-room apartment with little sustenance except the dreams of yesterday. Here and there is found a former baseball player or an Olympic champion. Yes, he must work for a living just like other people. The author of such-and-such former best seller is now doing a little business here and there to make ends meet. Many of the once famous are living on the hills and in the valleys, on side streets—almost forgotten, neglected creatures. A few hold the crowd until the end. Some have to die to be recognized.

The price of fame is exacting. Like all who must face old age, the famous must face a time when he is going to be a "has-been." The condition is pitiable. What, then, is the real substance of fame?

The substance of fame is its correct definition. Good character, industry, application to the job or business of life, contentment with what one has and what one is, after having done his best—these are the foundations of real fame. These accomplishments last with one always, or just as long as one continues in plain but high ideals of life and of living.

Fame lacks substance when it is built upon hypocrisy, make-believe, unwarranted publicity or unfair advantage, when one tries to be famous for fame's sake, not for genuine good.

Good citizenship is a species of distinction, if not of fame. Not, however, because good citizenship is unusual, but because it is normal and right.

There is plenty of glory in well-doing. There is eminence in uprightness. This kind of renown lasts in age as well as in youth. Obscurity can never shadow the just and virtuous, though the bands may not have played in their honor.

THE WAR MENACE

Nothing brings the menace of war, as it prevails over Europe, closer than the effect it has had on retarding the English channel tunnel. The House of Commons yesterday, by a vote of 179 to 172, once again voted the project economically and politically impractical. Despite those two reasons for abandoning the project, correspondents maintain that there is really but one reason for the doom of the tunnel and that is England's fear of continental complications and desire to continue what isolation she can.

To fully appreciate this attitude toward the tunnel one must travel on one of the channel boats and see what the English traveler endures rather than hazard the tunnel. He knows just what it is going to be like for him, from past experience and he esconces himself in a bunk or deck chair and abandons himself to mal de mer before the ship leaves the dock.

The cost of the tunnel has been estimated as between 25 and 100 millions. The militarists have maintained that it would cost between 5 million and 10 million annually to defend the British end of the tunnel.

DON'T LIKE AMOS 'N ANDY

Mrs. Virginia Carson Elwood, wife of John Elwood, a vice president of the National Broadcasting company, obtained a divorce at Reno recently because she was compelled to associate with radio stars like Amos and Andy and Mack Sennett, the custard pie throwing comedian, instead of with the set she had been hobnobbing with before her marriage.

So it seems that popular idols are not agreeable to everybody. We suspect there are millions in this country who would be tickled to death to spend an evening with Amos and Andy. Some millions have already paid good money to see them in person on the stage, and to have them come to the house and get all their jokes for nothing would be almost beyond calculation as a privilege.

It takes all sorts of people to make a world. Who would have thought that there were any people who could be bored by Amos and Andy? But at least Virginia Carson Elwood was thus bored. Who could have thought it?

TRANSMITTING HEART BEATS

Heart pulsations and sounds made in the lungs by breathing were transmitted the other day from Buenos Aires to Madrid by radiotelephone with such clearness as to enable Spanish physicians in Madrid to diagnose the disease from which the patients used in the experiment were suffering.

The transmission was made through an instrument lately invented by an Argentine surgeon which sends sounds from the heart and lungs greatly amplified through a loud-speaker and at the same time registers their intensity on a galvanometer.

To be in Madrid and hear a heart beat in Buenos Aires is no small miracle, even if man does know how it was done.

AN ORANGE COUNTY VACATION

It would be penny-wise and pound-foolish to forego vacation this year even if the stock market did crash.

Hugh S. Cummings, surgeon general, said the other day:

"If you can possibly afford it, you owe it to yourself and to those with whom you are associated in your homes or in your business offices to get away from homes and business for a change of surroundings, for a few weeks during the summer. It is not necessary that you go long distances, but it is necessary that you get out in the open. A vacation should be the time set aside for the building up of that reserve of health and bodily vigor before the next vacation season rolls around.

"The first suggestion that the Bureau of Public Health Services wishes to offer the vacationist is, therefore, forget your business, forget your job, forget your cares. Forget your scramble for the world's wealth. You will carry none of it with you on the last trip you will take. Your business will not suffer. If you take a vacation you will be far better off and both you and your business will gain in the end, provided your play time is used for the restoration of health and strength."

It is often true, however, that for the worker who is away from home many hours of the day, a week or two at home in this vacation land is possibly a real treat. During a period at home, one can develop a new hobby which one has always wanted to take up and which will be an interest to hold over into leisure hours when vacation is over.

Furthermore, a vacation spent at home will enable one to do those little tasks around the home which have been waiting so long to be done and which possibly have been a real harassment to the mind during the past few months. It is wonderful, and surprising how buoyant one feels when they have finally been done; it is worth sacrificing a bit of play time.

With the available beaches, the plunges, the golf courses, the tennis courts, one can do practically all of the things one does on a vacation anywhere else in the world, except new things, and to repay one for that loss one is more sure of a rest than if one motors hundreds of miles to see some sights.

It isn't a particular treat for the wife and mother to stay at home but it might be a real vacation for her, too, if she had more cooperation than usual.

Orange county isn't a half bad place to spend one's vacation even if one does live here all the year around.

California Must Be a Salesman As Well As Produce the Goods

San Francisco Chronicle

California cannot afford to sit back and let the currents of foreign trade flow where they happen to go. It is natural, of course, to think of foreign trade in terms of national figures. But the interest taken by South America in the forthcoming Pan American Trade Conference to be held in Sacramento in August and what Frederick J. Koster, president of the State Chamber of Commerce, has to say upon his return from a trip to Europe, where he looked into the channels through which America's foreign trade flows, encourages California to consider this subject as a matter of vital state interest.

It is a fine thing, of course, to see the volume of America's export trade increasing, no matter from what part of the country the exports products are drawn. But it is imperative that California see to it that the products of this state stand well up in the totals.

Mr. Koster says that he finds the foreign markets inclined to distinguish California as a unit in world commerce. We have many products which may be practically considered as monopolies in America's exports, and Mr. Koster believes there is a great deal of room for expansion if California can get a perspective on world trade as a California issue as well as a national interest.

Any person who has had an opportunity to observe knows that in world markets California has a magic selling appeal. Manufacturers of national distributed products spend millions upon millions to establish the "going value" that makes their brands more valuable possessions than their formulas or manufacturing processes. Their plants might be destroyed utterly by fire, yet they could start up again tomorrow bigger and stronger than ever. California has this "going value." Just the name is wonderful sales talk. If full advantage were taken of our trade assets we should hear nothing about "surplus" but only about deficiency of production. Any automobile salesman will tell you that while millions of people buy motor cars very few call up and order them by telephone. People must be sold, even the things they want. What Mr. Koster and others report, and the enthusiastic way that Latin America ha staken hold of the Sacramento conference, is California's cue to get out with the sample case and book some orders.

Faith Can Move This Mountain of Prunes

San Francisco Chronicle

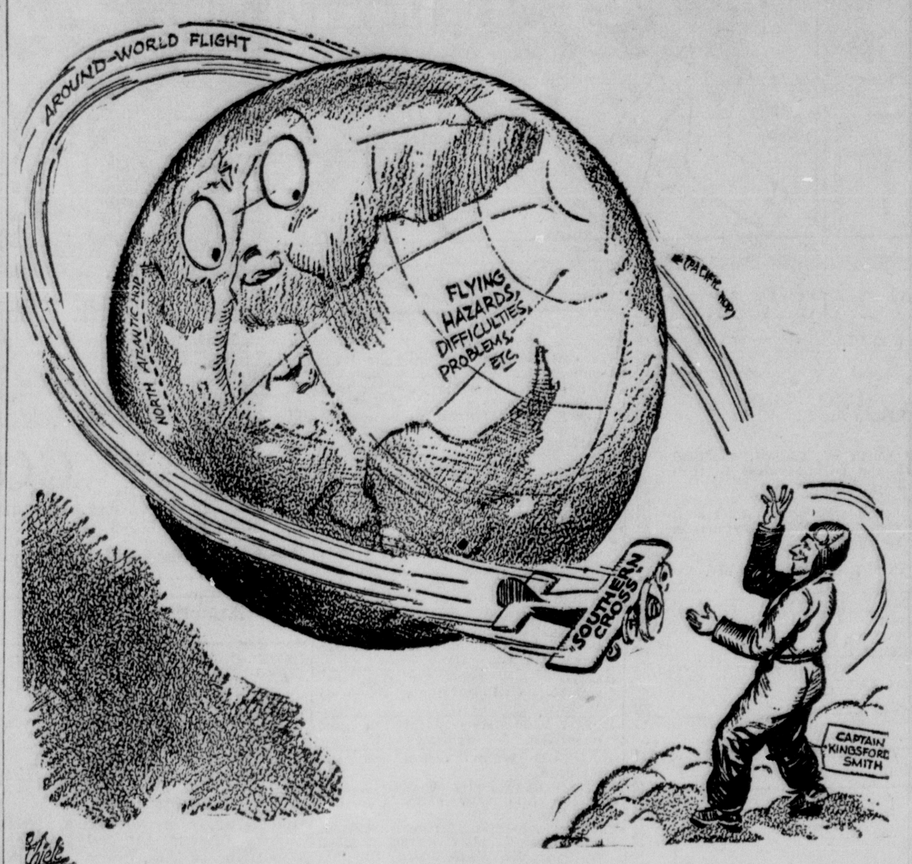
If some morning there bursts upon the public eye the urge to "Eat that prune" it will be because the California prune industry has decided not to get caught in the door where so many industries have been nipped. The California Prune Institute is working out a plan to bring all the prune growers, shippers and packers into a program of national advertising to move the prune from the orchard to the American breakfast, luncheon and dinner table—and perhaps put a few into the children's lunch boxes to take to school.

Advertising sells America the razor to shave with, the soap to bathe with, the cigarette to smoke, the breakfast food to eat. It sells the car that America drives. Even monopolies like the telephone, telegraph and electric light need the force of advertising. The orange growers use plenty of paper and ink. So do the walnut growers. It is not mere coincidence that the faltering industries are the ones that do not shine in the advertising field.

The prune growers are not fooling themselves this time just because last year's crop was sold at a fair price. That was an abnormally short crop and, even so, it is still being moved out. Looking ahead there is probability of 234,000 tons this year, the biggest harvest in the state's history.

The Prune Institute believes that faith can move this mountain of prunes, faith in the American public's willingness to eat them, faith in the ability of advertising to whet the public appetite for prunes. The stumbling block will be, of course, that advertising costs money. But that will not be so serious if the prune industry keeps it in mind that the people who have the money to advertise are those who do it. While there is one home in the land that is a stranger to the prune there should be no talk about "surplus."

Australian Boomerang-Thrower Does His Stuff



More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

"HOW HAPPY I'D BE WITH EITHER"

I like to climb aboard my car,
Which stands by my abode,
And drive it daily fast and far
Along some country road,
To turn and twist that way and this,
Urged on by super-power,
But if I do I'll have to miss
The No Grit toothpaste hour.

I like to turn the little knob
With an attentive hand
Until I catch the beat and throb
Of Benny Bilkins' band.
But when upon these strains I feed,
My peace of mind is marred
For then, of course, I cannot speed
Along the boulevard.

Aboard my little bus I climb,
The countryside to roam,
But in a fleeting space of time
The radio calls me home.
I listen to some vocal star
A little while and then
I have to switch her off—the car
Has called me out again.

If I possessed a car alone
Or just a radio set,
I would not daily need to moan
And fume and fuss and fret.
With either one of them to part
I am extremely loath,
And yet it daily breaks my heart
To get along with both.

THE LAND OF OPPORTUNITY

All caddies hope to be professionals, and by the time they grow up there will be enough new golf courses to provide jobs for all of them.

CONSISTENT

We heard the other day about an investor who never bought any stock on a margin unless it was stock in a marginal railroad.

In Tune With The Definite

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Will Rogers has an excuse for any inaccuracy that may creep into his works. All he knows, he submits plaintively, is what he reads in the papers.

But the United States Government, on the crucial subject of how many of its citizens are without jobs, doesn't know even that. Neither do the States. So unanimous is the ignorance that we wonder Bruce Barton hasn't added it to his collection of what "Nobody Knows."

Philadelphia resolved to find jobs for the jobless in its own bailiwick. It soon discovered that no one but a magician could cut out perfectly fitting relief garments for a sufferer about whose size nobody had a definite idea. Like others before them, the Philadelphians first tried figuring out the answer by algebra, politics, and applied astrology. The conclusions they drew were like some modernistic paintings. They looked just as hopeless one side up as another. And none of the sides meant anything. Then some daring genius conceived the cataclysmic idea of finding out how many unemployed there were by going around and counting them!

Philadelphia's Folly! But she moved under her own steam, and in due time came into a port with a full cargo of definite statistics. The thing worked!

Cincinnati tried it, and it worked again.

Now the Federal Government is trying it. Uncle Sam is at last lifting up his eyes to the facts. Getting, so to speak, in tune with the definite.

But unemployment is a moving picture. Conditions change. Finding the facts once is not enough. To keep on finding them at frequent intervals is necessary.

JULY 1, 1916

Hugh J. Lowe and Paul Knauf are to be representatives at the Santa Ana Lodge of Elks at the national convention of the order to be held in Baltimore July 10 to 14, leaving tomorrow morning.

Miss Cecile Fross has been so popular with West End theater audiences that Manager Schlesinger has engaged her for a series of appearances during the summer season.

The assessment rolls of the county show an increase in assessed valuation over last year of 12,350,940, excessive of road property.

Roofing tacks, nearly two inches in length, scattered for a distance of several dozen feet on the Santa Ana-Newport Beach highway today caused a half dozen automobilsts to stop to repair tire punctures.

There were 156 june brides in the county this year, as compared with 157 for the corrseponding month of last year.

Most of the apricot trees in Tustin and surrounding orchards, are very lightly laden, and it is expected that the apricot pitting business will be very small in comparison with that of former years.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

EDUCATING THE NURSE

The profession of nursing is something more than a glorified maid service.

By virtue of its strategic position in the field of medical practice, it takes its place among the accredited professions of modern society.

This means that sooner or later society must give to the professional education of nurses the same serious consideration it has given to the professional education of doctors, lawyers, and engineers.

The education of the nurse calls for something more than the scraps of a hospital staff's spare time.

For many types of nursing the training period is longer than necessary — perhaps because the nurse in training is cheap labor for the hospital.

We should remove every temptation to prolong the training period beyond what is actually necessary for the conquest of the basic materials and techniques of the profession.

The program of nursing education should recognize the social necessity for different professional levels inside the profession.

There are, I should say, four fairly distinct types of nursing service for which distinct sorts of training should be offered.

First, we should train very broadly, and richly those nurses who must be looked to for leadership in nursing education.

Second, we should provide adequately for the training of nurses specifically skilled in the handling of distinctive diseases.

Third, special educational preparation should be available for nurses in the varied fields of public health service.

Fourth, our great educational centers should co-operate with the vast array of small hospitals in the development of sound training programs for that army of less highly trained nurses for whom a distinct pubic need exists.

If our nursing education program took fully into account these diversities of need there would not be the unemployment problem among trained nurses that now exists.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

WHAT CHILDREN PAY

There is a certain queer quirk in human nature that makes us value what we get according to the price set upon it. And everything has its price, even to children. The price a child has to pay for what he gets determines his attitude toward it, and toward things in general, because his getting is all he knows about living just then.

"Isn't it time for Jennie to have her bottle?"

"Yes, but as long as she is quiet I won't bother. When she cries I'll give it to her."

So. Tears and howls are the price Jennie pays for her food. Tommy Tucker sang for his supper but Jennie wails for hers. Tommy's price will be less likely to harm his career. Jennie's is likely to prove costly to her and to all who know her.

"Gee, I'd like to own one of those outfits. I bet I could play like a champ if I had a suit like that How much does one cost?"

"Oh, about twenty bucks, I guess. Doesn't matter. I'll make Dad give me one."

"My Dad won't give me one. He'll say, 'If you want to pay that price for a ball suit, go ahead. Seems to me a lot of money for a boy to earn and spend all in a lump.' And he'd be about right at that. I'd have to cut a lot of grass and deliver a good many packages for twenty dollars. Then I'd have nothing left for other things. Can't play ball but a few times anyway. I pass. Come on."

If a boy can make Dad give him anything he wants, he is paying a far higher price for his possessions than is the lad who knows and accept what we offer him. We allow very little personal experiences to enter the school. We permit very little personal expression within the school. Teachers know best, is our motto. We cannot have the schoolroom messed up. We cannot have the bustle and movement and waste of personal experience in the school building.

Are we buying an education for the children or peace for ourselves? It requires a new type of school, a new type of teacher, to accept the right price from a child for his education. We are that Dad will not give him a cent beyond what has been agreed upon as right and equitable.. The lad who must stand upon his own feet will grow a couple of them guaranteed to maintain any kind of load, travel any distance with security. The easy way pays the highest price in the long run.

Children must pay for their education in terms of self activity, or they will get only the cheapest sort of article. It will break down under strain, it will collapse at the crisis. Only that for which the child gave his own blood and brain cells to capture will stand by him.

The child is willing to pay the price for his education. It is we who insist that he remain quiescent not building those schools. We are not training those teachers. We are forcing the child to pocket his price and take our education for nothing.

There lies our danger for the child. Being essentially human he is going to value our education at precisely its price, nothing.

Chicago Endurance Plane Passes 480th Hour Of Flying

HUNTER BROTHERS WILL STAY UP IN AIR UNTIL ENGINE QUITS WORKING

Urgent Request Is Made for Repair Parts as Plane Drops Low After Being Up 475 Hours

CHICAGO, July 1.—(UP)— John and Kenneth Hunter circled monotonously today over Sky Harbor airport in the endurance airplane City of Chicago—determined to remain aloft until forced down by mechanical trouble.

At the end of the 480th hour of continuous flying at 4:40 P. M., C. D. T., the endurance plane still circled low over the fog hung airport, rapidly burning up the supply of gasoline that has been taken aboard at considerable risk.

Preparations were being made to take a plane aloft with a microphone later. It was planned to lower the microphone to the fliers and let them broadcast their experiences over a national network. If carried out, it was believed to be the first time in endurance flying history such a move has been made.

Shortly before ending the 475th hour, the "City of Chicago" flew low over the field and dropped near the nangar an urgent note calling for repair parts.

Parts Needed

The ground crew refused to say what parts were necessary, but admitted they were for the motor. Preparations were made to deliver them.

The importance attached to the request was not indicated. During the course of the flight, many minor adjustments have been made aboard the endurance plane, some o fthese necessitating the transfer of parts.

The entire plane, John and Kenneth said, was "loosened up" from the constant grind. The ship was tipped to one side because a leak had developed in the left wing tank and the heavy fuel supply on that side was drained out. Another slight leak in a fuel line was reported by the pilots yesterday.

There was only one person at the field who appeared to think John and Kenneth may be staying up too long. That was their mother, who wept when they broke the record.

Mother Is Worried

"I think my boys are wonderful," she said, "but I am getting a little worried. Don't let them know about it though."

Sister Irene, also was a little worried; but not about the flight. The pilots complained about the food she provides for them and she was striving to provide more "honest to goodness" victuals on the menu.

"We want less fancy food and more hard boiled eggs, hot dogs and thinks like that," said a note signed by Kenneth, who is just 21.

HUNTER BOYS WRITE STORY AS THEY FLY

Record Breaking Fliers in Letter to United Press Admit They're Tired

(Editor's Note—The United Press presents herewith an exclusive signed story by John and Kenneth Hunter, other endurance fliers, who have shattered all previous records for sustained refueling flights and still circle over sky harbor airport piling hour on hour to their credit. The story was written under difficulties in the small, unsaturated cabin of the City of Chicago in answer to questions sent up by a United Press staff correspondent.)

World's Record Endurance Fliers

(Copyright 1930 by The United Press)

OVER SKY HARBOR AIRPORT, CHICAGO, July 1. — (UP)—There isn't much amusement for us flying around up here breaking all the records on the books. Mostly we have to work, looking on fuel and piloting and dodging the thunderstorms that have come so fast the last few days.

No, we don't get much sleep. From one to five hours at a time and then just as likely as not the one who is sleeping will be routed out before he has much more than got his eyes shut.

We don't know for sure just how we feel now. Kinda dead like. Not good.

The first thing we'll do when we get down will be to get a good long sleep on a regular bed. Sleeping up here is not so hot.

Well, it's hard to say how long we'll stay up. Maybe 520 hours but we think probably longer. Only the weather knows.

Yes, we'll try to beat the next record if this one is beaten. We intend to bring it back to Chicago and keep it here.

Now about that food question. We don't so well like to eat chicken. Because it flies, too, we guess. Hot dogs and hard boiled eggs are regular he-man food for fliers and we've asked for more and better service along that line.

REFLECTING THE HEALTHY condition of the five banks of Santa Ana, figures compiled today by The Register revealed that the combined deposits and resources of the First National bank, Farmers and Merchants bank, Bank of Italy, Commercial National bank and Security-First National bank of Los Angeles are very much better than on July 1, 1929.

The deposits showed the largest increase with nearly three million dollars more than last year. The total deposits for the five banks up to July 1 were $20,203,799.77 while the year before, they were $17,358,306.73. In this division, the First National bank easily ranked first with the Bank of Italy, Farmer and Merchants bank, Security-First National bank of Los Angeles and the Commercial National bank following in that order.

Resources Great

In resources, the 1930 figure was more than a million dollars over that of last year, the exact amounts being $16,506,779.53 for 1929 and $17,658,778.01 for 1930. This is not a complete figure as only the First National, Farmers and Merchants and Commercial National banks are included. Totals on the Bank of Italy and Security-First National of Los Angeles bank were not obtainable because they are branch institutions and do not keep separate accounts.

Dividend checks from the local banks were mailed out today. Building and Loan and finance companies will also distribute large dividends to their stockholders.

TORNADO DAMAGES TOWN IN OKLAHOMA

DEVOL, Okla., July 1.—(UP)—A tornado whipped through Devol today, tearing away several buildings and dropping debris on terrified citizens, who rushed for cover.

Three persons were injured. Heavy damage was done along the path of the storm, which cut a swath a half mile wide through the town.

France May Break With Soviets As Result Of Speech

PARIS, July 1.—(UP)—Hints were heard in semi-official quarters today that France, unable to bear more attacks from the Soviet government, might break off diplomatic relations with that country as a result of Joseph Stalin's comments on France's militarism and capitalism in a speech before the Communist party congress in Moscow.

Stalin's comments were received with hostility here, and it was recalled that the foreign office failed to order Ambassador Jean Herbette to return to Moscow after his departure recently, apparently being contented with practically no representation in the Soviet capital.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—(UP)—Declaring that dry forces of California must present a "united front to defeat the wet candidate," the board of directors of the northern California division of the Women's Christian Temperance Union today endorsed the candidacy of Governor C. C. Young.

The resolution was addressed to the board of directors of the Anti-Saloon league to join with the W. C. T. U. in supporting Governor Young who is a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in the August primary.

Fitts Not Mentioned

No other candidate is mentioned in the resolution, although Buron Fitts, Los Angeles district attorney, is running as a dry.

The favoring of Governor Young over Fitts is viewed as a bit of practical politics on the part of the dry organization as two drys are seeking the Republican nomination while the third, Mayor James Rolph jr., of San Francisco is generally viewed as a wet, although he has not declared either for or against prohibition in the present campaign.

It is urged in the resolution that drys unite in favor of Young and not even a direct reference is made to either of the other Republican candidates, Fitts and Rolph.

The resolution came up at today's quarterly meeting of the board. As first drafted the document contained a reference to a

Carries Out Pledge Made By President

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(UP)—Ending a decade of prohibition enforcement, the treasury today tranferred 2700 of its agents, special investigators and administrators to the justice department which now is charged with enforcing the laws under the 18th amendment.

The transfer, carrying out a pledge made by President Hoover during his campaign, paves the way for what is generally expected to be the supreme effort to make the United States a thoroughly dry nation. It was authorized by the Williamson bill which Congress passed recently.

Meanwhile, a last minute drive to pass some more of the legislation recommended by the commission and passed by the house, designed to handle petty prohibition offenses, were expected to be reported favorably by the senate judiciary committee. Their supporters hope they may be finally enacted before adjournment.

The fourth bill, one to authorize trial of petty offenses before U. S. commissioners, was not slated to be approved. Because of the opposition which has developed to this proposal it will be left in sub committee until next session.

The other bills define petty offenses, liberalize the Jones "five and ten" law and provide for waiver of jury trial.

Policies under the justice department were still in the formative stage today, but it was strongly indicated that henceforth new stress will be placed on obtaining local co-operation in apprehending prohibition law violators.

BILLINGS FINDINGS READY FOR REPORT

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—(UP)—The California supreme court completed its report on which Gov. C. C. Young will base his decision to pardon Tom Mooney and Warren K. Billings, who are serving life sentences for conviction of the preparedness day bombing of 1916.

It is thought that the seven judges will vote on the report early tomorrow, although a vote late today is possible.

The contents of the report will not be made public until Governor Young announces whether he will pardon the two men.

The decision of the court will be presented to Governor Young at Los Angeles Thursday, and action may be expected over the week end.

He arrived at the field shortly before noon to inspect the Southern Cross, in which he and three companions flew from Ireland to New York with a stop at Harbor Grace, Newfoundland.

CHARGES FITTS GIVEN $75,000 FOR IMMUNITY

Attorney Makes Startling Statement But Is Halted By Judge

LOS ANGELES, July 1.—(UP)—The charge that Jacob Berman, former Julian Petroleum corporation executive, paid $75,000 to District Attorney Buron Fitts for immunity in various trials arising from the collapse of the Julian company was made today at the trial of Louis Krause, private detective, accused of jury bribing in the 1928 Julian conspiracy case.

The startling accusation was made by S. S. Hahn, attorney for Krause, in his opening statement before the jury of nine women and three men who will decide whether Berman and his brother, Louis, bribed two jurors through Krause.

Charges against the Bermans, indicted with Krause, were dismissed yesterday at the opening of the case by Superior Judge Emmet Wilson. The move was recommended by Fitts' office which said it intended to use the Bermans as state's witnesses.

Superior Judge Emmet Wilson halted Hahn's diatribe against Berman but ruled that it should be entered in the case as an exhibit and advised the lawyer that he might finish his statement at a later time in the trial.

Berman originally was a co-defendant with Krause, having been accused of bribing two jurors by using Krause as an agent, but the charges against him were dismissed yesterday at the recommendation of the district attorney's office which wishes to use him as a state's witness.

"We propose to prove," Hahn said in opening his address to the jury of nine women and three men today, "that this star witness, Jacob Berman, boasted that he had no fear of prosecution for any crime, claiming that he had paid $75,000 to the offices of the present district attorney for immunity."

Judge Wilson halted Hahn at this point on the ground that "it is not proper at this time since thet defense obviously is not positive that the state even will call Berman."

The jurist instructed the attorney that he could, if he wished, make the statement at the opening of the defense case after all prosecution evidence was presented. The jurist also allowed a typewritten proof of Hahn's speech to be entered as an exhibit in the case.

EXPENDITURES FOR NEXT YEAR ARE REDUCED WHEN BUDGET GIVEN APPROVAL

Water Department Shows Net Profit of $53,000 and Rates Hereafter Will Be Cut Materially

THE CITY COUNCIL last night tentatively slashed the city tax rate 7 cents on the $100 assessed valuation and definitely lowered the minimum water rate per month per meter 25 cents. Both actions followed conclusion of preparation of the budget, upon which the city council worked all yesterday to complete in time for consideration last night.

The reduction in the tax rate will slice $15,000 from the income from taxes during the coming year and $24,000 from receipts by the water department, or a total savings to taxpayers and water consumers of $39,500. The new tax rate is $1.82 as compared with $1.89 for last year.

"Economical administration of city business during the past year, and benefits accruing from expenditures made for improvement of the water system over the period of the last three years made it possible for the city governing body to offer such substantial relief to taxpayers and water users," L. H. Banks, city auditor, said.

Advertising Cut

The advertising fund rate was cut 1 cent, from 5 to 4; the band fund, 2 cents, from 6 to 4, and the remaining 4 cents was cut from interest and sinking funds, the rate for these funds this year being 30 cents.

Profits from operation of the water department have more than carried the interest and sinking fund charges on bonds issued for the improvements in the department. The income of this department from water sales and other sources was $169,117.85 and disbursements $116,096.91, creating a net profit of $53,020.94. Plenty of cash on hand has made it possible for the department to effect big savings by buying water pipe in large quantities and taking advantage of cash discounts, according to Banks.

The cut in the water rate will be made available in approximately 45 days, as it is necessary to make the change by ordinance. First reading was given the necessary ordinance last night, and adoption will follow next Monday night. Here is the new schedule:

Water Reduction

For three-quarter inch pipe connection, the size of the usual house connection, $1 per month for 1000 or less cubic feet; 1 inch opening, $1.25; 1½ inch, $2.25; 2 inch, $3.25.

Slashes were made in expenditures wherever it was possible to do so without seriously affecting the efficiency of city administration, the councilmen declaring that they felt it their duty to fall in line as far as possible with the general demand for reduction in taxes.

Organizations that in the past have been given financial assistance for various activities that came under the classification of advertising will have hard sledding the coming year if they attempt to get help. Just three organizations

LOS ANGELES, July 1.—(UP)—Frank Foster, notorious gangster, was under arrest here today charged with suspicion of the murder of Alfred J. Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter.

He was taken into custody late yesterday, held incommunicado all night in an outlying jail and then brought to the county jail shortly before noon and booked on the count.

Arrested with Foster were four men, suspected of being members of his mob. Foster once owned the revolver which has been identified as the one that took Lingle's life.

The six men were captured when they walked into a fashionable apartment that literally was packed with police officers.

The apartment was rented by Foster.

The four men arrested with Foster also were booked on suspicion of Lingle's murder. They were identified by police as Marvin Apler, alias Frank Foreman; Frankie Fisher and George Davis, all said to be Chicago gangsters, and Herman Walters, said to be a former Chicago racketeer.

In addition to the five men, district attorney's investigators yesterday took into custody a young and beautiful woman who was questioned at the prosecutor's office, admittedly on ramifications of the Chicago case, and held in technical custody throughout the night. Officers refused to disclose her name or her connection with the case.

Washington Minus Cash As Congress Fails To Pass Bill

When the first day of the new fiscal year began at midnight last night the city became technically "broke" due to the failure of congress to pass an appropriation for its support. Luckily, fire and police payrolls are not due for 15 days and within that time it is hoped congress will provide its share of the district budget.

The district's current poverty was due to a dead lock between the house and senate over the amount the federal government should provide of the total $44,000,000 appropriation.

The popularity of Santa Ana securities as investment issues was evidenced when the board of supervisors today opened bids for the $494,000 school bond issue voted here recently and received a premium offer of $25,715. The high bid was a combination offer of the Bank of Italy, Anglo-London-Paris company and Weeden and company, and the bonds were awarded to the group.

The supervisors encountered a rather unusual experience as the opening of the first five offers revealed each succeeding bidder increasing the premium offer.

The first to be opened by County Clerk J. M. Backs was that of the First National bank of Santa Ana, which offered a premium of $18,193.60. This handsome offer sent the county men into ecstacies, for it was considered a top offer. Exclamation after exclamation followed as the letters of the bidders were opened and revelations were made of still higher premiums. In the order of their opening, the bids were as follows:

American Investment company, $21,780.40; National City Company of California and C. F. Childs and company, $22,879; W. R. Staats and company, Dean-Witter company and Wm. Caviler and company, $23,329; Bank of Italy group, $25,715; American Securities company, $25,378; R. H. Moulton and company and Security First National company, $22,526; Heller, Bruce and company, Crocker First company, Wells Fargo bank and Union Trust company, $24,051.

The bonds bear 5 per cent interest.

Frank Was, manager of the Security-First National bank of Los Angeles declared that business conditions are much better and are getting on a sounder basis all the time. He also pointed out that indications point to good prices for all crops in the county except walnuts.

Earnings Large

Alex Brownridge, cashier of the Farmers and Merchants bank, stated that business conditions were very good and that the bank earnings had been unusually high for the first six months of the year. He prophesied even greater returns after the crop monies were turned in.

W. B. Williams, cashier of the First National bank, practically repeated Brownridge's statement and pointed to the substantial increases in the bank deposits and resources as proof that business was good. Charles L. Cotant, vice-president of the Bank of Italy, was also of the opinion that business is on the upward trend.

Edwin Rockhill, cashier of the Commercial National bank, was firmly convinced that when returns from the crops were turned in, money would be more plentiful and business good.

CARRIES OUT PLEDGE MADE BY PRESIDENT

tive, officials predicted. Woodcock was sworn in today.

Prior to taking command, he said:

"We intend to enforce the law to the best of our ability and without sensationalism or violation of civil rights."

In an earlier statement, Attorney General Mitchell, who today became the commander in chief of the federal dry army, emphasized that enforcement henceforth will be more selective than ever. The government's limited staff and appropriation will be devoted hereafter, it was indicated, to detecting larger commercial bootlegging, and efforts to obtain state co-operation will be expended.

Doran Stays On

Informed that Campbell also had charged certain treasury officials with insincerity in enforcement, former prohibition commissioner Doran said. "That doesn't apply to me." Doran is remaining in the treasury as head of the industrial alcohol permissive section which is being retained by that department.

In the house today leaders were attempting to restore in the second deficiency appropriation bill the $250,000 asked by the enforcement commission for the coming year. The appropriation was originally struck out in the house on a point of order. The senate restored $50,000 of it, but limited its use to the study of prohibition alone. House conferees have rejected the senate amendment with a view to restoring the entire amount without limitation.

Meanwhile, the commission began the new fiscal year today without funds. If the appropriation is finally passed a few days delay will not be serious. Otherwise the commission will be dependent on Mr. Hoover's plan to raise $100,000 from outside sources to continue the commission's work.

"We're tired of duck and chicken. By the way, send up my ukulele."

The pilots spent more time than usual out on the perilously narrow "cat walk" on the side of the plane yesterday, tightening the mechanism and inspecting the struts, wires and mountings. From the ground they appeared to be giving the motor a careful going over.

Wilson Herren, manager of the flight, announced he would not order the plane to land. "I think the pilots know their own capacity and the capacity of the plane," he said.

Several Storms

Storms have several times buffeted the plane and the pilots have been forced to guard against ever recurring mechanical trouble. They sleep in three hour stretches on a narrow bed hinged to the wall and must rouse their fatigued flying senses eight or nine times a day to send the plane through the delicate maneuvers necessary in refueling and food contacts with the auxiliary ship, Big Ben.

Walter and Albert Hunter, who handle the refueling plane, were confident that the City of Chicago will remain aloft until Friday. Albert, who started the family up in the flying business and who manages their fortunes, said they were undecided about what to do when the present flight ends.

The City of Chicago and her pilots had earned $5000 today from the $100 offered by an oil company for every hour the plane remained aloft past the 420 hour record established by Dale Jackson and Forrest O'Brine in the St. Louis Robin a year ago. If they stay up until Friday they will have earned [illegible] 000 from that source.

HIGHER PRICES EXPECTED FOR VALENCIA CROP

Although figures are not entirely complete showing the total citrus shipments during June through the Orange County Fruit exchange, C. C. Hillis, manager, stated at Orange today that the probabilities were that the figure would reach 685 cars. This is about the same percentage as shipments made in June during the two previous years of 1928 and 1929, or from 16 to 18 per cent of the estimated total crop for the year. No figures were available as to the amount of returns to growers from the June shipments, but Hillis advised that the price levels were somewhat higher this year.

The total number of cars shipped during May, when all May records were broken for the association with a return to growers of $886,790, was 638. This, added to the larger June shipment of 685 cars, makes a total for the season of 1323 cars. This, it is estimated is about 35 per cent of the total Valencia shipments for the entire season. This percentage, due to the unusually heavy shipments in May, is heavier for the period ending July 1 than the corresponding period in the previous two years, according to the exchange manager.

"Market conditions are a little better, although June presents a low spot as compared to May, due to the competition of local fresh fruits, which are abundant and cheap this year," Hillis commented. "It is a very satisfactory market, regardless of this fact, however."

No estimate as to the returns for the month was made by the exchange official, although it is believed by those familiar with the situation that the figure will exceed $1,000,000. This is reached on a basis of comparison of the May returns and the heavier shipments last month.

USES PICTURES IN TALK ABOUT COUNTY'S PAST

Notable among the scenes shown by members was a collection of Mrs. J. E. Pleasant and Mrs. M. J. Marks. W. T. Brown, of Fullerton, showed a birds-eye view of Los Angeles taken in 1877. Another interesting picture displayed was that of a bandit of the early days who afterwards met his fate with a rope at the hands of the vigilance committee of Santa Ana near the corner of Sycamore and West Fourth street, where Rankin's Dry Goods store is now located.

A basket lunch will be held Saturday, July 19, at the home of Mrs. Frank Bemus, of 2703 Victoria drive, Laguna Beach. A transportation committee was appointed, with T. E. Stephenson, of Santa Ana, W. T. Brown, of Fullerton, Alice Grimshaw, of Anaheim, and William McPherson, of Orange, as members.

Bar Group Is To Back F. C. Drumm For Federal Post

The Orange County Bar association, within the next day or two, will meet and recommend Judge F. C. Drumm for appointment to the federal judgeship recently authorized by congress for the Southern California district, it became known today.

It was pointed out today by persons interested in promoting the local attorney for the federal position, that he has served on the bench of the Orange county superior court and that he has practiced his profession successfully for many years.

Police Capture Sidewalk Signs Under Ordinance

Merchants who value their advertising signs should keep them off the curbings, police pointed out today when it was reported that six gasoline advertisement signs and a creamery advertisement sign were confiscated on South Main street.

There is a city ordinance which forbids such signs on the curbings and the police department has instructions to confiscate the signs placed on forbidden property. The signs taken yesterday were sent to the city yards.

The Citizens' Public Beach association held its second meeting last night, in the auditorium of the Capistrano Beach grammar school, with about 20 representative business men of Capistrano Beach and Dand Point present. A misunderstanding regarding the place of meeting divided the crowd, some going to the school house in San Juan Capistrano.

Alfred E. Guy, temporary chairman, presided, introducing the speaker of the evening, Stuart Lucas, of Corona Del Mar, candidate for supervisor for the fifth district. Lucas gave interesting facts regarding the public owned beaches of Orange county. Lucas stated that, according to public records, the public owns at Sunset Beach about one mile of beach, at Huntington two miles; at Newport and Balboa, about seven miles; a few hundred feet at Corona Del Mar and three-fourth of a mile at Laguna. At Three Arches there is a strip of about 200 feet, and from there until Dana Point is reached there is no more public beach land, Lucas said.

"On the south side of Dana Point is about three quarters of a mile of beach which has been dedicated to the public. This is the bone of contention which has opened the eyes of the public to the necessity of forming the Citizens Public Beach association, for this strip of public land has been fenced off and is not open for public use. The only access to the beach at this point is by way of a road owned by the syndicate operating Dana Point, and down a stairway which this syndicate has built, both of which are closed by gates.

"The Sante Fe owns beach lands at the intersection of the Roosevelt and Inland highways, at this point, and has not interferred with the public making use of its property. From this point, to the southern boundary of Orange county, there is no more open land.

"In July, 1926, after the new highway along the ocean front, between Capistrano Beach and the northern boundary of San Clemente was opened, a new road between the railroad tracks and the cliffs was used, and in November, 1927, a petition, signed by thirteen voters of this district, was presented to the board of supervisors, and accepted by that body, asking that the old road be abandoned. Three strips, shown as X Y and Z on the map have been placed in trust in the First National bank, in Santa Ana by the Petroleum Securities company, to be dedicated to the public, when conditions warranted. In the meantime, these strips of land are now enclosed in a fence which surrounds the property of the Securities company."

Alfred Guy, in speaking of the object of the association, stated that it had not been formed to take away anything rightfully belonging to anyone, but to give to the public what was rightfully its own. An effort will be made to have each town in Orange county represented on the board of directors of the association, and a concerted move will be made to open and control the public beaches of the county.

A meeting will be held on the evening of July 7, in the grammar school, in Capistrano Beach, to effect the permanent organization, elect officers, and organize a board of directors.

Fireworks Will Be Under Ban In Mountain Areas

All parties who are looking forward to an outing or camping trip in the mountains over the Fourth of July must leave their fireworks at home, H. R. Valentine, district ranger, stated today. Under the state and county laws the use of fireworks will not be allowed on any brush or grass covered land.

State and federal officers will be on duty during the Fourth of July period and this law will be strictly enforced, he declared. It is hoped that all people going into the mountains for an outing during this period will take all precautions in helping to prevent forest fires, Valentine pointed out.

VON PORAT INJURES ANKLE

TOMAHAWK, Wis., July 1.—(INS)—Otto Von Porat, hard hitting Norwegian heavyweight, was suffering from a compound sprain of the ankle here at his summer home today. Von Porat slipped and fell while prowling around in a nearby woods. As a result he will be unable to make a scheduled appearance at Chicago July 16.

DRUM CORPS IS TO BACK MOVIE RACE ENTRANTS

The Santa Ana American Legion Drum corps, headed by W. Hunter Leach, business manager, today entered the big Santa Ana Register-Fox Theaters popularity contest, now being staged to find the most popular young man and young woman in Orange county.

Leach announced the candidates which would be sponsored by the drum corps and indicated that the drum corps would work night and day to see that they won the two first places.

Miss Sue Verburg, of the county clerk's office, will be the girl candidate for the drum corps, and Norman Paul, prominent Santa Ana High school athlete, will be the boy entrant of the drum corps, Leach said. Miss Verburg is well known in Santa Ana and recently returned to Santa Ana after playing in pictures in New York.

That the Drum corps is going after the initial prizes for its candidates in a big way, was intimated by Leach, who said that an organized campaign would be started today to gather votes for the two entrants.

The first prize in the campaign is the leading parts in a big feature motion picture to be made by the Fox corporation, and which will be taken right in Santa Ana, it has been announced. There are almost a dozen other prizes however, ranging from a 10 day vacation trip to Catalina island, or somewhere else if the winner desires, offered by the Register; the down payment on a Willys-Knight automobile; a $50 evening dress, offered by the Sample Shop, and a suit of men's clothes, offered by the Brooks Clothing store.

Other prizes are to be announced later. Less important parts in the picture also are offered as prizes.

The contest opened here yesterday with seven candidates. There are now 10 in the field, and the list is expected to grow to 25 within the next few days.

New entrants in the field today were Pauline Evans, of Tustin, Sue Verburg, Leona Zimmerman, of 1133 Chestnut street, Santa Ana, and Luvina Layton Schade, Santa Ana. The ones who already had announced their candidacy were Mario Mecurio, who will be sponsored by the Phi Zeda sorority of Santa Ana; Corene Pennington, Jack Hunton, Jack Lindlaw, Norman Paul and Dorothy Ailene Loyd.

Standings Saturday

Norman Sprowl, manager of the Fox theaters here, stated that first standings of the candidates would be announced about Saturday of this week.

Votes for the candidates can be obtained in several ways, through purchase of admission tickets to the two Fox theaters in Santa Ana, through subscriptions to the Santa Ana Register, and through purchases at the Sample shop and the Brooks Clothing store, of Santa Ana. At the two stores each cent spent will be counted as one vote. A total of 2000 votes will be given for each and every three months subscription to the Register, and a 50 cent ticket to the theaters will be counted as 500 votes, according to the schedule.

Annie Laurie is not a fictitious character. She was the daughter of a Scottish knight and was born about 1682.

A DUSTY SEA

TACOMA, July 1.—You can believe this or not, but the freight steamship Kentucky recently steamed into port here after having the oddest ocean trip ever experienced. The ship hit a dust storm 500 miles out of Shanghai, and her decks were covered with dust as thoroughly as if she were an auto traveling inland on a desert. It is believed the dust came from a Mongolian desert, being carried out to sea by a windstorm.

SIX- CENT KISS

CLEVELAND, July 1. — How much is a kiss worth? Six cents is the valuation placed on one by the jurors in a $25,000 damage suit which Mrs. Orville Butler recently brought against Dr. Leonard Kuttler. She charged that the doctor attempted to kiss her when she went to his office for an examination. She valued the kiss at $25,000, but only got the six-cent verdict.

Court Notes

Joseph Edward Hester pleaded guilty in department two today to a charge of issuing a worthless check for $175 to B. J. MacMullen. He asked for probation and hearing on the request will be held in the court room at 9:30 a. m., July 11.

SEEK SERUM TO AID TREATMENT OF PARALYSIS

Issuing an apeal for volunteers to help check the spread of infantile paralysis in Orange county, Dr. K. H. Sutherland, head of the Orange county health department, desires to get in touch with individuals who have had infantile paralysis and who are willing to give some of their blood to be prepared for convalescent serum, he stated today.

In view of the unusual number of cases of paralysis in Southern California, the supply from Los Angeles has been exhausted and the county department is forced to provide its own serum. Cases from which the serum is to be obtained should have had the disease not longer than 10 years ago nor more recently than three months. All these individuals interested in helping to combat this terrible malady are requested to notify the Orange county health department, 314 hall of records, Santa Ana.

No new cases were reported today or yesterday afternoon and one patient was released from quarantine today, Keith Hassett, 4, 907 North Olive street.

4-H Club Council Convenes Tonight

Among the business matters to be discussed will be projects of the members, radio programs and work during the summer. Work is progressing rapidly on the plans for the junior fair of the Orange county fair in the fall. Premium lists are being made out now.

ALL NATIONAL FOREST AREAS CLOSED TODAY

On account of dangerous fire conditions within the boundaries of the Cleveland National forest, located in Orange and Riverside counties, the United States forest service has found it necessary to prohibit the use of all government lands lined within Orange and Riverside counties, H. R. Valentine, district ranger, announced today. Therefore, by the authority of the regional forest of San Francisco, that part of the National forest located in Orange and Riverside counties will be closed to all use except under special permit from the district ranger at Corona. This closing restriction became effective today.

The closing order does not affect the private or government lands located in the following canyons in Orange county: Silverado canyon to the mine camp, Trabuco canyon to the closing signs into Trabuco and Holy Jim canyon, and to the closing signs in San Juan canyon.

All parties owning cabins or private land within the closed area will be granted the privilege of entering closed area to reach their own property, but this fact does not give them the privilege of traveling over the closed area after reaching their private property. This closing order also affects the Black Star road in Orange county and the skyline drive road in Riverside county and no travel will be permitted over these two roads during the balance of the summer except for those having a special permit. Permits will be issued only to those having business in the forest.

ISSUE WARRANT FOR ATTORNEY'S ARREST

Failure of John F. Groenee, Los Angeles attorney, to appear in the court of Judge James L. Allen, today, to defend James Howlett, charged with burglarizing the Lemon Heights residence of D. N. Kelly, aroused the wrath of the jurist to the point where he issued a bench warrant for the arrest of the attorney on a charge of contempt of court.

The jury panel had been summoned into court for the selection of 12 men and women to hear evidence in the case, and the non-appearance of the attorney forced continuation of the case and dismissal of the panel. The new trial date was set for July 28.

The bench warrant recites that the attorney was present when the trial date was set, and should have been prepared to come into court today to defend his client.

Howlett is said by officers to be an old offender. He served time in Texas for burglary, according to officers.

SOCIETY

Public Party Furthers Pledge Completion

Although the public card party given in the Masonic Temple last night by the Harmony Bridge club did not draw as large a crowd as had been expected, quite a neat sum was realized towards completing the group's pledge to the new Masonic temple. About 13 tables of bridge were in progress.

Prizes were won by Mrs. A. N. Beal, who held high score for women, Mrs. J. T. Carter, second, and Mrs. D. B. Petty, low. Men's high score was held by Larry Golden, second by Glenn Lycan, and third, E. L. Heiss.

At a late hour refreshments were served, with Mrs. C. E. Jackson and Mrs. Maud Swarthout as the committee in charge. A delightful social time was then enjoyed, and was made especially pleasurable by the colorful surroundings of a variety of summer blooms. Roses, gladioluses, and larkspurs in a profusion were artistically arranged.

Mrs. Mary Shawgo was general chairman of the affair, while card tables were in charge of Mesdames E. L. Heiss, D. B. Petty, Hugh Henry, R. L. Spaugh, and Larry Golden.

It is expected that at the next meeting of the Harmony Bridge club on July 11, plans will be made for other methods of raising money for the members' pledge to the building fund.

SKIPPER LIZZIE

LONDON, July 1.—Women skippers are rare, and Lizzie Meadows is said to be the youngest in the world. She's only 19, and runs a barge on the Grand Junction Canal. When she was 16 her parents died and she had to shift for herself. Despite being a cripple, she finally acquired her barge and is now a full-fledged "captain."

Vance Home Was Scene Of Recent Wedding

The home of the Rev. and Mr. T. Vance at 420 West First street, provided a charming setting for a wedding of recent date, when Miss Marian Delano, a charming Belleflower girl, and her fiance, Albert Van Maren, Los Angeles, motored to this city for their nuptials with the Rev. Mr. Vance to perform the ceremony.

The bride had been a frequent guest in the home, accompanying Miss Frances Coxen, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vance, and her school friend and sorority sister at Woodrow Wilson high school, Long Beach. Miss Coxen is now in Honolulu, a student at the University of Hawaii.

Mrs. Vance made her home very attractive with many flowers, using pink roses and breath of heaven in the big living room where the ceremony was held. The Rev. Mr. Vance, a minister in the Christian church for 55 years, has now retired from active ministry because of frail health, but was happy to conduct the rites for his granddaughter's friend.

The bride wore a pretty frock of soft orchid silk with which she carried pink rosebuds. Close friends from Long Beach accompanied the young people, and served as bridal attendants. Mr. and Mrs. VanManen were to enjoy an automobile honeymoon and then make their home in Los Angeles, where Mr. Van Manen is one of the partners in a large dairy business.

NOME, Alaska, July 1.—Eskimos are big eaters, according to restaurant owners here. They state that Eskimos eat two or three times as much as the average white man. It is ordinary for one to ask for three meat orders and devour a whole loaf of bread at the same meal. They are good customers, paying in gold, fur or cash.

Fraternal Brotherhood

Friday provided an interesting date for members of the Fraternal Brotherhood, the junior lodge having the opening event at M.W.A. hall, when the young people met at 5:30 o'clock under the direction of their president, Hazelbelle Comer.

P. A. Trickey, organizer, was present to address the young people on membership and assessments, pointing out to them that they could earn the assessments by bringing some young friend into the order. Increased membership will be rewarded also with a special picnic to be held at an early date.

Candidates initiated were Edith Halloway, Janet Halloway, Marie Rachels and Ila May Smith, while applications were read from Helen Mair, Pauline Westlake, Geneva Spillers, Gladine Robertson, Dudley Westlake and Ella Robinson.

Election of officers resulted as follows: Helen Trickey, president; Ida Raymond, vice-president; Edith Halloway, chaplain; Dorothy Benner, secretary-treasurer; LaVene Parks, mistress-at-arms; Robert McClain, sergeant-at-arms; Ilene Lord, inner doorkeeper; Edward Hutchinson, outer doorkeeper; Yvonne Bruner, musician. Plans were also made for organizing a drill team of 16 girls from 14 to 17 years of age.

At 7 o'clock the adult lodge members met for a covered dish dinner at which the juniors were guests. The committee in charge was made up of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Pierson, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ellingson, and Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn Parker.

In the lodge session conducted by George Furtsch, one new member was elected, Mrs. Ella Westlake. Plans were made for attendance at the annual picnic in Redondo Beach August 24, when drill teams from all fraternal organizations will compete for prizes.

There will be no local lodge meeting next Friday because of the national holiday, but on Friday, July 11, there will be installation of officers under the direction of Harry Brookbank.

Over 100 members were present Friday night, remaining after the business session to enjoy dancing and cards.

Sycamore Rebekah

When officers of Sycamore Rebekah lodge entertained the general membership in I. O. O. F. temple Saturday night, it was to celebrate the closing of a year which has been successful and enjoyable in every respect under Mrs. H. C. Wiley's term of office as noble grand. Every officer was represented either by being present in person or by sending a representative, and as evidence of their co-operative spirit, served the delicious menu to the members.

As a sequel to this interesting opening of the evening, were the spirited card games for which the members lingered after the regular lodge session, and which continued almost until midnight.

At the next meeting of Sycamore lodge on Saturday night, July 12, the new officers will be installed and an entertaining evening is anticipated.

REAL SNOW MEN

DELHI, India, July 1.—According to natives, the expedition now in the Himalayan mountains, attempting to scale Kanchenjunga's treacherous peaks, is to encounter a peril much worse than high altitudes. The natives report the mountain range is guarded by a mysterious race, the Abominable Snow Men. These men are described as being huge, white, apelike figures, naked and covered with black hair.

A company has been formed in London to exploit pita fiber, obtained from a plant of the pineapple family growing prolifically in Colombia, from which twine, textiles and paper can be made.

GAS FROM SAND

TORONTO, July 1. — That gasoline can be obtained from tar sands is the belief of Dr. E. A. Boomer and Dr. A. K. Clark, of the University of Alberta. CONTINUE PROBE OF FIRE MYSTERY

Although four youths have been arrested in connection with an asserted arson ring, operating at Costa Mesa, and have been certified to the juvenile court, the investigation of the first continues today, according to a statement made by Boyd Sleeper, fire marshal, and Herman Zabel of the sheriff's office.

There have been 12 mysterious fires in and near Costa Mesa during the past several months, all of which have not been accounted for, in the opinion of the officers, who said that other arrests likely would follow within the next several days.

The four youths arrested are not connected with all of the fires, it was brought out.

DRIVER ARRESTED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

He was arrested by George Stinson, state traffic officer, in the Santa Ana canyon, late Sunday afternoon. Pascual was driving a truck loaded with 18 Mexicans. They stopped on the side of the road and had a fist fight, Stinson reported, and when he arrived, he warned them to stop their fighting and move on.

As the truck started off, Stinson noted that it took up too much of the road and on an investigation, found out that Arias had been drinking, he reported.

The Mexicans were on their way to Riverside county for a picnic, they reported.

LANDELLS OCCUPY SPANISH DWELLING

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, July 1.—Rosa Loma, the beautiful new home of Judge and Mrs. Landell, blends within its spacious walls a delightful combination of historical background and modern California life.

Situated just off El Camino Real, between San Juan Capistrano and Serra, on a tract of land which was a legacy to Mrs. Landell from her father, Paul Pryor, son of Nathaniel Pryor of the Lewis and Clark Expedition, who drifted into Southern California, and married a charming Spanish senorita, Rosa Loma commands a view of the ocean, the hills to the west and the mountain range on the east.

Within the home are found countless treasures and heirlooms carefully guarded over by Miss Gladys Landell, only daughter of the house. Spanish laces, shawls and silken dresses, recalling that carefree day when Don Juan Avila, known as El Rico, father of Rosita, who was Mrs. Landell's mother, was the alcalde of San Juan Capistrano. Here also are found rare pieces of old furniture, a "grandfather clock," which has ticked the time away for more than a century; a beautiful old sideboard with its burden of quaint silver and cut glass, an old chest, once the property of Judge Landell's mother, and an old square piano, all brought from the Landall home in Philadelphia, in '75, by boat, through the Panama.

For more than 30 years the Landell family has been identified with the life and growth of southern Orange county. Judge John Landell who has been a leader in politics all during his residence in the community, served as deputy sheriff, under J. C. Nichols, at the time of his marriage to Miss Soledad Pryor, on April 6th, 1895. Following a short residence in Santa Ana, they came to San Juan Capistrano and moved into the house which was their family home until the completion of Rosa Loma. Since 1899 Judge Landell has served as Justice of the Peace for this precinct.

W. C. T. U. AND CHURCHES HIT H. B. MARATHON

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 1—Following the lead taken by the W. C. T. U., the Christian, Methodist and Baptist churches of this city have asked the city council to close the marathon dance in the Security building at Ocean avenue and Third street and to limit all dancing to 1 a. m., in accordance with a city ordinance.

The W. C. T. U. resolution, which was endorsed by the three churches at regular services held in the separate churches Sunday, charges that the endurance or marathon dances are dangerous to the health of the dancers and contrary to public peace, morality and safety and conducive further law violation during the contests.

The Christian church took action twice against the dance, once through the men's class and once through the Sunday school. The men's class named M. A. Turner to present the church action to the city council. Both actions were unanimous. Those who spoke at the meeting against the dance were Alex Cameron, A. B. Densmore, E. C. Wright, J. Mitchell, Mr. McMillan, Mr. Liston.

The special resolution which M. A. Turner was asked to present the councilmen that the city officials refuse to permit to the dance, that they enforce the 1 o'clock closing ordinance against dances and that they take immediate steps to end the dance dance.

The Methodist church and the Baptist church endorsed the W. C. T. U. resolution. The action of the Baptist church was taken through the Sunday school, the church body will take action at a later meeting.

The marathon dance started Wednesday of last week.

Uniform Building Code Favored By Contractors

ORANGE, July 1.—Rejection of the Santa Ana building code and ordinance as a model for the proposed adoption of a code and ordinance in Orange and decision to delay presenting the matter before the city council for action until a complete program was decided upon, was the result of a meeting of Orange contractors and City Attorney H. L. Dearing at the city hall last night. The contractors decided unanimously to adopt the code known as the uniform building code, and the Alhambra electrical code, and appointed a committee to select a plumbing code that would be satisfactory.

The Santa Ana code had been previously recommended to the council at the first meeting in June, but dissatisfaction with many features of this code and the resulting objections caused the change in action that took place last night. The original recommendation was made by Ernest W. Gommel, who was chairman of a committee of contractors interested in securing the benefits of a building code and ordinance for Orange. Other members of the committee included H. O. Ehlen, W. E. Stork, Walter Duker, J. J. Hutchins, and F. B. Dale.

Contractors attending the meeting last night, which started at 7:30 o'clock and continued until 10 o'clock were Gommell, chairman; Stork, secretary; C. D. Post, Ed Kogler, Duker, Dale, F. V. Reeves, N. U. Potter, A. G. Parsons, Hutchins, Dayton Ditchey, A. Long, Pernel Barnett, L. G. Gunther and H. G. Lembcke, all of whom are in business in Orange.

The Alhambra electrical code was introduced to the meeting by Hutchins, who stated that it is now in use in 26 cities in California. He recommended it very highly and also presented a letter from Charlie Ait, the other Orange electrical contractor, approving the Alhambra ordinance. City Attorney Dearing also recommended the adoption of this code and read a letter from the board of fire underwriters approving this code. Dearing observed that it was his personal opinion that this ordinance eliminated several of the objectionable features of the Santa Ana electrical code and urged its adoption. The contractors voted unanimously on the motion of Hutchins and the second of Dale, to recommend the Alhambra electrical ordinance to the council.

After a general discussion of the Santa Ana building code and the uniform code, which has been prepared by the Pacific Coast Building Officials conference, in which Dearing revealed that this ordinance was in effect in 78 cities, 58 of which were in California and six in Orange county, it was unanimously decided to recommend to the council the adoption of the uniform building code. It was pointed out that the expense of printing this could be eliminated as the code was available now at $1 per copy and that a service is in force whereby the code is kept up to date by yearly revisions at an extra cost to those desiring the same. One item, the 12 inch clearance of floor joists over the ground met some criticism, and it is believed that this matter will be changed before the ordinance is adopted by Orange. Anaheim, Fullerton, La Habra, Tustin and Laguna Beach are among the cities in the county where this ordinance is in effect.

Several objections to the Santa Ana plumbing code were voiced when this came up for discussion, relative to the use of cast iron pipe in certain instances, yearly license provisions, and laying of all sewer line bym aster plumbers. It was pointed out in the objections that these requirements increased the costs, "unnecessarily," according to some contractors who spoke on the matter. A committee was then appointed by Chairman Gommel and approved by those present to work out a satisfactory plumbing code. Members are Ehlen, Parsons, Barnett and Dearing.

Upon the recommendation of City Attorney Dearing, the group decided to withhold their recommendations from the city council until the entire matter was ready to be presented in a unit. Several contractors expressed a desire that the ordinance should become effective before the contracts for the new schools are let.

ORANGE UNPAID BALANCE LESS THAN IN 1929

ORANGE, July 1.—There was an unpaid balance of $3014.27, less than the amount last year, when delinquent taxes were sold to the city of Orange yesterday by City Tax Collector B. F. Richards, it was announced from his office today.

The total delinquent taxes, following the closing date on the last Monday in April, was $4574.80, it was revealed, to which was added $342 in penalties and costs, making a total of $4916.80 which was advertised for sale. Between the time of advertising and the time of the sale yesterday a total of $1902.53 was paid on this amount by tax payers, who thus saved the addition of extra penalties and costs, which automatically apply with the sale.

The total at the corresponding time last year was $3502.46, which was appreciably more than the amount sold yesterday by Tax Collector Richards. This is taken as an indication that conditions in Orange are better than they were a year ago.

Several persons appeared in the office of Richards yesterday after the sale had been made, who desired to redeem their taxes without the additional penalties, but were referred to City Clerk Paul Clark, who now has the handling of any redemptions. An additional penalty of 10 per cent plus certain costs attaches to the taxes yet unpaid.

YOUNG PEOPLE AT CHURCH CONFERENCE

ORANGE, July 1.—Seven young people from the First Christian church left yesterday for the one week session of the annual young people's conference, which is held at Idyllwild pines in the San Jacinta mountains. The accommodations this year were limited but those fortunate enough to secure reservations for the event included two boys and five girls from the Orange church.

Those attending the conference, which is under the direction and supervision of Wayne Neal, of Los Angeles, state secretary of young people's work for the Christian church, are Randall Bivens, Donald Todd, Roselyn Wagers, Mary Lou Alloway, Erene White, Dorothea Martin and Louise Hillyard. The program embraces a combinaiton of religious training and recreation under careful supervision. A staff of competently trained leaders is in charge of the activities of the 200 boys and girls gathered for the annual event, according to the Rev. Franklin H. Minck, pastor of the First Christian church, who accompanied the group to camp yesterday and saw them comfortably settled in their tents before returning to his home here last night.

A delegation of nine young people from the Christian church in Santa Ana also is attending the conference.

IMPROVEMENTS COMPLETED BY ORANGE BANK

ORANGE, July 1.—Customers of the Bank of Italy yesterday walked into a greatly changed and much improved banking quarters, following the change made over the week end after the extensive program of alterations and improvements had reached the point where the proposed shift could be made. The entrance is now at the north of the room on the Glassell street side and the lobby has been moved from the south to the north side of the room, with a corresponding change in the working quarters of the bank. Moving was completed yesterday and last night as members of the staff worked late to get equipment in order.

R. C. Raddant, manager, announced that additional improvements, including interior decorating, new lighting fixtures, new floor in the customers lobby, installation of Venetian blinds at the large windows and additional new furniture, remained to be completed. Total cost of the improvement program amounts to $6000, Raddant stated.

The changes in the room, which is located in the Masonic temple building on the plaza, constitute a great improvement to the plaza as well as providing enlarged and better facilities for the service of the customers of the bank. The work has been under way for more than a month, according to H. G. Lembcke, contractor. Raddant stated yesterday that he hoped all would be finished in time for a formal opening about the third week in the month.

Five large windows on the plaza have been cut into the former blank wall and the outside basement stairs well on this side has been filled in and cemented over to provide an unbroken sidewalk along this side. The front, facing on Glassell street, has been changed with the addition of two of the large windows, which are 8 by 9 feet in dimensions, and changing the entrance from the center to the north side of the room.

The large windows provide much better lighting and ventilating facilities than the banking quarters formerly possessed and greatly improves the appearance of the building in addition. The work of installing the huge windows was completed last Tuesday, according to Lembcke.

A spacious store room has been provided in the basement where supplies and forms are kept in stock is another of the features of the change that is regarded as a great improvement. Electrically controlled doors to the safety deposit vaults are also to be included in the program, according to Raddant.

Workers in the bank as well as customers are greatly pleased with the changes that have been made, although it has meant some difficulties during the remodeling period.

The new fixtures were installed over the week end and present a handsome appearance to those entering the bank.

TWO SUSPECTS MAY BE TRIED FOR ROBBERY

ORANGE, July 1. — Possibility that Charles Cooper and A. C. Cherryholms, now under arrest and waiting arraignment before Justice of the Peace G. W. Ingle on charges of issuing bank checks with intent to defraud on a complaint signed by E. Abbott, may be the intruders who attempted burglary of the Jack Price clothing store on South Glassell street on June 12, was advanced here today by Price. The clothing merchant reported that Constable George Bartley first believed the men, who were recently arrested in San Bernardino on a charge of attempted robbery of a gas station, might be those who entered the Price store and had a great quantity of men's clothing ready to take away when they were interrupted by the unexpected return of Price to the store.

Under this belief, Bartley brought pictures of the men from San Bernardino to Price in the hope that he might be able to make identification. This Price was unable to do, as the two men who were engaged in robbing the store when he walked in on them made their getaway before he was able to observe their features. A salesman in the store, however, readily identified the picture of Cherryholms as that of a man who had made a purchase in the store about a month ago, and it is thought that he might have been observing the layout of the store at that time. Price said the fact that one of the men was wearing a red sweater, the fact that both were young men and he fact that one was larger than the other tallied with the description of the men who were robbing his store.

The men are believed to be those who passed a number of bad checks in Orange recently and are to be tried on the specific charge of issuing an $8 check on the Banner market on June 2, which was signed Charles Robinson.

STARS PLAY HUNTINGTON BEACH TONIGHT

HELEN JACOBS IS BEATEN BY GERMAN GIRL

WIMBLEDON, England, July 1.—Two Americans entered the semi-final round of the women's singles in the Wimbledon tennis championships today, while a third, Miss Helen Jacobs, of California, met decisive defeat.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody won over Miss Phylis Mudford, 17-year-old English marvel, 6-1, 6-2, and Miss Elizabeth Ryan, formerly of California, defeated Miss Betty Nutall, of England, 6-2, 2-6, 6-0.

Fraulein Cilly Aussem of Germany, sprang a surprise bl defeating Helen Jacobs, 6-2, 6-1. The fourth semi-finalist will be Mme. Rene Mathieu, of France, who beat Miss Joan Ridley, 6-2, 6-1.

Mrs. Moody also won a woman's Mrs. John Hill and Mrs. Randolph Ryan. The Americans defeated doubles match, paired with Miss Lycett, 6-2, 6-0, to enter the semi-finals.

Finds Miss Jacobs' Weakness

Miss Mudford made a brave showing against Mrs. Moody. She drove harder and returned Helen's serves fearlessly, often forcing the games to deuce. She lacked, however, the great variety of shots in the repertoire of the American girl. Her chief armament was a heavy forehand drive, with which she often caught t heAmerican.

Helen Uses "Poker Face"

Helen resumed her famous poker face. She soon found the weak spot in Miss Mudford's defense, her backhand, and took many points with drives to that side. She frequently aced her opponent and generally showed better court-craft.

Miss Ryan took her first set with Miss Nuthall with comparative ease. In the second set, however, the decision of one of the linescen upset her considerably, and Miss Nuthall took advantage of her opponent's discomfiture to score numerous placements.

Betty Nuthall and Miss Whittingstall, her partner, won over Mrs. J. I. Colgate and Miss C. Tyrrell, also of England, 6-2,6-2, and will mett Edith Cross and Sarah Palfrey in the fourth round.

U. S. Doubles Team Wins

Miss Cross of San Francisco and Miss Palfrey of Boston, defeated Mrs. M. A. O. Mayne and Miss Vam A. Montgomery, England, in a women's doubles match, 7-5, 6-4.

Dr. J. Colin Gregory and I. G. Collins, England, entered the quarter-final round by defeating Nigel Sharpe and Pat Wheatley, England, 3-6,6-0, 6-8, 6-2, 7-5.

Women's matches, both singles and doubles, dominated the afternoon's play and attracted a large crowd. This was despite the almost unbearable heat.

Daniel Prenn and Fraulein H. Krahwinkel, Germany, defeated W. A. Ingram and Mrs. P. Bouverie, England, 6-1, 6-2, and entered the last eight of the mixed doubles.

Tilden And Timmer Triumph

Jean Borotra and Christian Boussus, France, entered the last eight when they meat the Australians, Jack Crawford and E. F. Moon, 2-6, 6-2, 6 -1, 5-7, 6-4.

Big Bill Tilden and Hans Timmer, his Duth partner, defeated Gregory Mangin and Berkeley Bell, All-American team, 7-5, 8-6, 6-2.

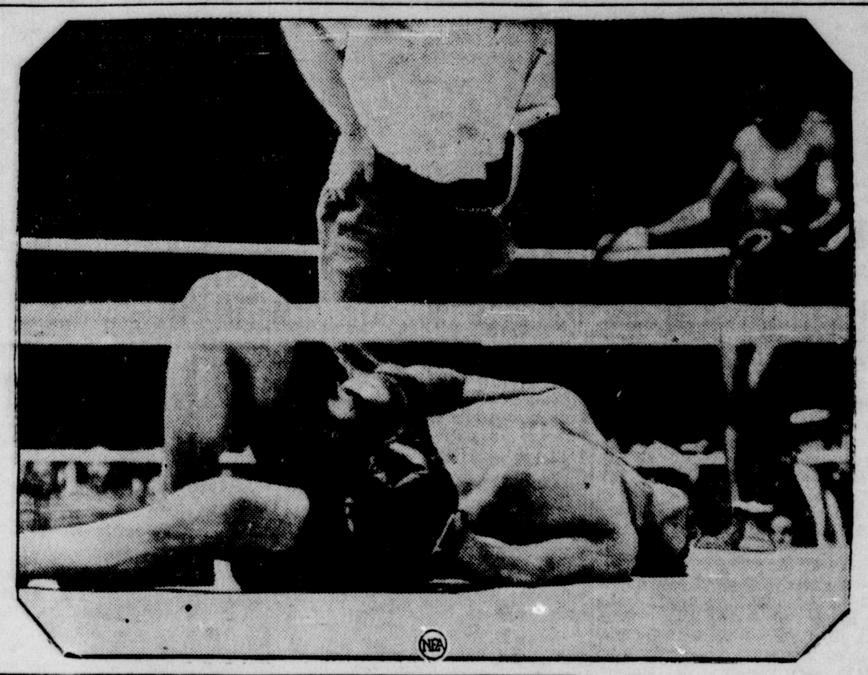
—AND ANOTHER FIGHT ENDED IN A DRAW

The bigger they are the harder they fall . . . . and here you see how the mighty Signor Primo Carnera looked when he spread his 262 pounds of bulk over the resined canvas after a terrific left hook let loose by George Godfrey, giant negro heavyweight, in the fifth round of their fight at Philadelphia. But Referee Tommy Reilly called the blow a foul and disqualified Godfrey, who is shown standing in his corner. Angry fans precipitated a near riot when the decision was announced.



CORNELIUS AND MORNING TO BE SLAB CHOICES

If habits of years are as hard to break as some crusaders would have us believe, the Santa Ana Stars' sensational winning streak will be snapped in the Bowl here tonight.

Howard Morning, dean of owl baseball pitching and master of Santa Ana teams season after season, will oppose the club that is now joint holder of first place in the National Night league, the Big Ten of after-dinner sport.

Morning formed a habit years ago of beating the Stars. The veteran southpaw has always cast a spell over Santa Ana batsmen. To them he has lost only once in the five or six years that night baseball has meant anything in Southern California.

Oilers Always Troublesome

Morning will lead a good Huntington Beach team into the Sixth and Olive street orchard — one that is always dangerous despite its present humble station in the standings and the overwhelming defeat it suffered at Whittier on a recent a date as last Friday.

It is dangerous for no other reason than that Morning, the old Santa Ana jinx, will be wheeling 'em home from the knoll.

With Morning wheeling, Huntington Beach beat Santa Ana, 5-3, on April 29. With Morning again crooked-arming, the Oilers repeated, 4-2, on May 30. What Morning does July 1 is for you to find out.

Santa Ana will sick at the Seasiders a better team than it did on either of the previous occasions. The Stars are hitting better, fielding better and profiting by better pitching. Riding along on four straight second half victories, one of them a convincing triumph over Anaheim, the Stars doubtless are in better mental condition than they ever have been this term, too.

Cornelius Probable Choice

Herb Salveson, the soft-spoken leader of the homesters, wants to win this one—plenty. He wants to win so badly, in fact, that he has just about decided to start Joe Cornelius, his ace pitcher, for the fifth time in the last two weeks.

Salveson thinks he can take Orange in stride Friday, using Gene Hitt or Ray Price or possibly young Russell Muir, a new one to the staff, but he knows Huntington Beach represents stubborn and sturdy opposition, and he will employ every available resource to beat it.

So it appears that Cornelius will hurl with Hitt or Price due Friday, and Cornelius again next Tuesday against

Ed Banta, the big man from the north, cut himself a piece of cake today as the night baseball immortals welcomed him into their fold. The former Madera moundsman, now slinging 'em home for the Santa Ana Shells in the Orange County "B" league, turned in a no-hit game at Costa Mesa where he beat Newport Harbor, 11 to 1, last night. A wild throw to second in the ninth inning, after two were out, cost Banta a no-run game along with the other part of his perfect performance.

Daley Leads Stars Again; Average .462

Leavitt Daley again is leading Orv Schuchardt in the great see-saw race for the batting championship of the Santa Ana Stars. After temporarily losing the advantage to his brilliant outfielder teammate, Daley regained first place last week as a result of a batting spree at Garden Grove where he hit safely three times in four attempts.

Daley's average is .462. Schuchardt dropped to .447, still a commanding figure on any club. "Big Bill" Cole, first baseman, slipped in ahead of "Rosy" Merrill for third place. Cole, however, has been to bat only 28 times.

Schuchardt is the team's leading run-maker with Merrill second. Nelson leads in two-base hits, Daley in triples and Nelson in homers.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
(I.N.S. Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, July 1.—A number of otherwise useful citizens expect to place themselves under lock and key at Madison Square Garden for the next day or two for the purpose of discussing the second battle of the bozos in all of its aspects and ramifications.

Frankly, if they do this, I feel that there still is a chance for everybody, for if they discus it at all, they may start laughing before it is too late and thus restore their sense of proportion. However, a man can't have a sense of humor and stay in the boxing racket, so I suppose the next episode of the Schmeling-Sharkey serial is to proceed, as scheduled, provided the Herr Schmeling can be persuaded that it is all for the best.

Schmeling Eager, Too.

Sharkey, of course, wants to fight because he can lose it and still be no worse than he is, which, frankly, is terrible. Schmeling, they say, also wants the fight, first, because he thinks he can win it and, second, because he will get 37 1-2 per cent of the receipts. However, it is my understanding that 37 1-2 per cent of nothing is not very much.

By this, I mean to infer that, if it is really true that both Schmeling and Sharkey want this fight, they have achieved real dastinction. It is my suspicion that nobody else wants

Big Ed was a bit wild, passing no less than five, but this seemed only to increase his effectiveness for no Newport Harbor swatsmith was able to get anything that resembled a hit except Baker, first up in the first inning, who was safe on a close play at first base that was scored as an error for Ed Adams, Santa Ana sacker.

After one was out in the ninth, Melvin Beatty, Santa Ana junior college athlete who was in the Harbor lineup, drew a pass. He remained at first while Banta was fanning L. Messing and then stole second. Catcher "Speed" Hankenmeyer's throw to the sack was wild and Beatty came all the way home before the ball was retrieved.

Santa Ana scored two in the second Banta's single, Blower's walk, wild pitches and an error by Messing.

Norton's single, Speed's sacrifice, Banta's triple and a passed ball produced two more in the fourth.

Dorman's single Sands' single, a wild pitch and an error by Pitcher Pangle accounted for one in the fifth.

Hits by Blower, Walbridge and Adams, sacrifices by Walker and Sands and two errors gave the Shells three in the sixth.

Banta's single, Blower's walk and wild pitches and passed balls manufactured two in the seventh. Santa Ana got its last run in the eighth on errors.

'I'LL SET HOME RUN RECORD IF THEY PITCH TO ME'—RUTH

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, July 1.—"If they keep pitching to me I'll break my home run record easy," Babe Ruth told the United Press today.

"This hot weather is just what I like, and I'll keep busting 'em as long as they keep getting 'em anywhere near the plate."

With 15 homers during June, Ruth had a total of 30 today and was 12 days and 12 games ahead of his 1927 schedule, the year in which he made his record of 60.

In only one month, September, 1927, since he started hitting homers as a pitcher with the Boston Red Sox in 1915, has Ruth ever made more than 15 circuit drives in a single month. He hit 17 in the last month of 1927 to break his 1921 record of 59 by the margin of one homer.

Ruth did not hit No. 30 in 1927 until July 12 and No. 31 did not come until July 24. If Ruth continues his present pace, he can tie his record in his 134th game, and still have 20 games left in which to create a new record.

Ruth is now ahead or tied with his schedule in every year. In 1928 he ended the month of June with 30 homers, but slumped in August and closed the year with 54.

HOOKS and SLIDES

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

One of the reasons why Bucky Harris left Washington and went to Detroit was Joe Cronin. . . . Bucky always thought Joe was a great ball player . . . but Griff wasn't so hot for him. . . . The rift that ensued between Griff and Bucky gradually grew. . . . And Joe's great work this year makes Bucky look pretty good, thank you. . . . When Bucky made the prediction that Cronin would come through for the Nats, Joe was playing terrible ball. . . . He hit but .243 in 63 games his first year with Washington and pulled numerous peculiar plays. . . . The next year he batted .282 in 145 games. . . . This year he has been smacking 'em around 300. . . . And fielding in fine style. . . . Joe won't be 24 years old until October. . . . He's a San Francisco boy, and Pittsburgh had him up twice, finally selling him down the river to Kansas City.

BABE RUTH OF REDLAND

The fans of Cincinnati pick up their newspapers these days only to read again that Dan Howley's Reds have taken another on the chin. But that isn't really the reason why Red fans read the sports pages—they really want to see how many Harry Heilmann is hitting and where he stands in his race for the batting honors of the National league.

But for two people these would be dismal and dreary days when the Reds play at home. The two people are Dan Howley and Harry Heilmann. For the Red fans have found a slugger and clothed Harry Heilmann in all the glamour of Babe Ruth.

DAN'L SPEAKS UP

The other day Brooklyn offered $30,000 and sundry ball players for Heilmann. Robbie well knows he could win the National league pennant with that mauling mace of the ex-Detroiter. But Dan Howley would have no business of that sort.

"If we peddled Heilmann," spake Howley, in his inimitable slangy style, "this man's ball team might as well transfer its charter to the Regina, Saskatchewan, Muny league. We haven't been drawing the fans by the millions as it is. If we didn't have Heilmann up there lacerating that old Percheron's skin, we couldn't keep the ground keeper in the joint to see the games."

In this connection I remember a prediction made by Steve O'Neill, the veteran Indians' catcher who is now managing the Toronto International league entry. It was shortly after Heil-

There was less than two weeks to play today in the second half of the Santa Ana Baseball league but the race was tsill a free-for-all, with three or four teams having a chance to creep into first place.

The Courthouse's 8 to 2 triumph over the league-leading and officially undefeated Orange County Builders' exchange in the Bowl last night brought much of this about.

Although the Parliamentarian victory was not entirely unexpected, the convincing manner in which they smeared their unbeaten opposition fooled all the fans.

"Spike" Spicer got off slowly but blanked the Builders after the second inning while his mates marked in almost every round. They scored once in the first on Jenks' single, an error and wild pitches. "Bub" Heard hit a home run in the second. Smith's single, Cannon's safe fielder's choice, Pierce's double and Jenks' single gave the Courtmen three in the fourth. Spicer's single, Thiery's double and an error produced a pair in the fifth which was followed by still another in the sixth on Pierce's walk, Jenk's forceout, an error and Spicer's single.

The Builders made a run in the first when Griset was safe on an error and Nickey and Lacey singled, and got its other one in the second when Jack Schultz doubled and Edson singled.

The box score.

PEEK'S MARKET BREAKS LOSING STREAK

It took Peek's market five games, plus eight innings, to find itself in the City league but when the Butchers got started last night they didn't stop until they had taken on the Richfield Oil company some of the punishment they have absorbed from others. The Peek victory was 11 to 3.

The teams were tied, 3-3, at the end of the regulation seven heats but the Butchers knocked Fred Miller all over the Bowl in the first of the eighth, making eight runs on

80,000 SEATS AVAILABLE IN COLISEUM NOW

LOS ANGELES, July 1.—University of Southern California's football team will play to record crowds of more than 80,000 in the Los Angeles Coliseum in the California game November 8 and the Notre Dame contest December 6 and possibly also in the Washington game on November 27, according to Arnold Eddy, who took up his duties as general manager of the Trojans today.

According to Eddy, record crowds are assured inasmuch as the Coliseum this fall will hold 4000 more spectators than its previous capacity of 76,400.

The work this summer on the Coliseum, although being primarily for the purpose of cementing walls, stairways, floors and other parts of the structure that have previously been or wood or earth, will also provide the 4000 additional seats through a rearranged and more efficient system of aisles.

The construction work being done on the Coliseum at present is known as Unit A. Unit B, which is planned for the near future, will consist of enlarging the Coliseum to a seating capacity of more than 100,000 by the addition of more rows of seats around the top.

It also is taken for granted that Salveson will start the same men who have been knocking off all comers since the second part of the split season got under way. "Eeny" Wilcox will catch, Bill Cole will be at first base, Leavitt Daley second, Darwin Scott third, and "Memphy" Hill short. Wayne Nelson, Orville Schuchardt and "Rosy" Merrill will compose the outfield.

Oilers Defense Strong

Louie Baher is scheduled to receive Morning. Art Mittelstedt at first base, "Beanie" Maylin at second, Johnny Geshert at third, and "Shorty" Neal at short give Huntington Beach a sterling defense. Johnny Norek, one of the best hitters in the league, "Bullets" Marshall and Perry Callahan are the Oiler flychasers.

La Habra has not set-up itself tonight. The Ray invade Long Beach and may find the Acorns in one of their run-making moods, although the league-leaders will shoulder the odds as usual.

Dangerous despite its spotty defense, Garden Grove goes to Whittier to meet the team that most of the critics still hold is the one to beat for the championship. This should be a mound battle between tall "String" McDonnell and short Earl Morrill.

Anaheim draws Orange, an in-and-outer, at Orange. The valencias are likely to have too much pitching for Lyle Richards' boys.

Olive goes to Fullerton in the other game of the day. The standing:

it and, when the time comes, if at all, they will prove this by remaining agsent in much profusion.

However, it is yet to be established that Schmeling is as avid for the enterprise as his public utterances have indicated. He has left the matter in the hands of the Herr Jake, his manager, and the latter is empowered to sign only on terms that are satisfactory to the Herr Schmeling's real manager, who is the Herr Schmeling himself.

Want Option On Max

For one thing, the Garden people are trying to exercise a mortgage on him for 1931 and the man will have none of it. For another, the Herr Jake is attempting to have the New York boxing commission take the bowser off him so that he can do his managing right out there in the light of day and not in the furtive mannare of a man sneaking home by the backstairs. The Bulow issue, whereby Schmeling's step-manager is to be paid by Sharkey, also has given the boys a lot of conniving to do.

However, they say they will sign the documents not later than tomorrow and that, thereupon, everything will be in readiness for the gripping encounter.

They have arranged for the fight to take place at the Yankee stadium.

They have arranged with the boxing commission to pay off again with the world's title to the winner.

They have arranged for the date, naming either September 13 or 25.

They have arranged for everything in fact, except the crowd.

Boone Will Join Brooklyn At Once

NEW YORK, July 1.—(INS)—Ike Boone, veteran big leaguer who has been busting the old winesap with much eclat out in the Pacific Coast league, will report immediately to the Brooklyn Robins, it was announced today.

He was purchased outright by the Robins from the San Francisco Mission club. Boone was formerly with the Red Sox, White Sox and Giants and is rated a hard hitter but a mediocre fielder.

A STEADY BARRAGE

He has been doing just that. The other day he was batting .380. And .380 represents no spurt at all for Heilmann. He'll he hitting .380 when the season ends, or better than that. When September rolls around, there won't be many National leaguers hitting above that figure.

Personally, Heilmann must be deriving a great deal of satisfaction from the esteem in which he is held in Redland. They waived him out of the American league as all washed up. There still seems to be plenty of dirt on him. He is in the twilight of his big league career, as he will mark his 36th birthday in August, and ball players usually fade swiftly around that age.

In his 15 years in the majors, all with Detroit, the San Francisco ball murderer never has been in a world series.

But he is the Babe Ruth of Redland field now, basking in the bright light of heroism. And enjoying a quiet laugh at the expense of American league managers who let him slip away.

In a hostess it's Graciousness

in a cigarette it's Taste

THE SUCCESS OF A HOSTESS depends upon her ability to make others feel at home; that of a cigarette, upon better taste.

HOW ELSE EXPLAIN Chesterfield's constant gains, its ever-mounting popularity with smokers everywhere?

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE for the delicate mildness and rich aroma that belong to Chesterfield, nor for Chesterfield's unique blend and cross-blend. "In a cigarette it's TASTE!" Yes, and in a Chesterfield, it's . . . "TASTE above everything".

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield cigarettes are of finer quality and hence of better taste than in any other cigarette at the price.

CHAPTER XLII

"I've brought Wickett along to identify Johnson," Dundee told his chief when he arrived at Police Headquarters. "You sounded a bit mysterious over the telephone. Where is Johnson?"

"On his way here now, escorted by a couple of the finest," Captain Strawn grinned. "I told you that unless he staged the cleverest disappearing stunt of the country we'd have him here within 20 minutes."

"Where did you find him?" Dundee asked, still puzzled.

"Right here in Hamilton!" Strawn chuckled. "Wasn't in hiding at all. In fact, he was as conspicuous as a wart on a nose. He's been making Hamilton regularly for six months as a traveling salesman for a Chicago silk hosiery manufacturer. Always stops at the Stuart House, which, if you don't happen to know, is Hamilton's most popular commercial hotel. A pretty good salesman, too!" Strawn added admiringly. "After the robbery and the murder Friday night he made his rounds Saturday morning, as usual, and booked a string of big orders from department stores, shoe stores and specialty shops.

"But if you found him at the Stuart House—" Dundee objected.

"We didn't," Strawn chuckled. "The boys picked him up 10 minutes ago on the municipal golf course. But I'll tell it from the beginning.

"About 12 o'clock today into this office walks a dame who says she's Hattie Schneider, chambermaid at the Stuart House. Wants to know if there's any reward for information about Harvey Johnson. I tell her to spill her story and let me see what it's worth. She opens a bundle and I'll be damned if she don't pull out a navy-blue polka dot bow tie and a white shirt with blue pin stripes. Says they belong to the gent in 512, one of the rooms she cleans. Young man by the name of Cartwright — Hubert Cartwright. She describes Johnson to a T, except that this Cartwright wears horn-rimmed glasses and parts his hair in the middle instead of on the left side. But if you remember, Johnson's description would fit about four out of 10 young men you see on the streets any day, and shirts and ties like the ones she showed me are pretty apt to be in every man's wardrobe."

"Yes," Dundee agreed.

"But I wasn't taking any chances," Strawn went on with immense satisfaction. "I went to the Stuart House myself, and had a talk with the manager. He gave Cartwright a swell sendoff. Said he'd known him for six months, ever since Cartwright had taken over this territory for the hosiery manufacturer, and that Cartwright was a model character. Paid his bills promptly, kept regular and decent hours. But as I said, I wasn't taking any chances. I made the manager take me up to Cartwright's romo, and stay while I searched it. In the desk were a couple of wires and a letter from his sales manager, and everything looked jake for Cartwright. Nothing funny in his clothes closet or bureau drawers. No black pigskin bag, like the one Johnson stole from Crosby. But there was a big sample case, stamped with the name of the hosiery concern. It was locked. One of my skeleton keys opened it."

He paused provocatively, and leisurely lit his pipe.

"And how!" Strawn assured him grimly, as he opened a drawer of his desk and showed his subordinate a pile of silk stockings. "Look!" He lifted a pair of "sun tan" sheer silk hose and Dundee's fascinated eyes watched a gleaming snake writhe swiftly to the toe of a stocking. "Mrs. Berkeley's string of 49 matched pearls. Every piece stolen from Crosby, Clorinda and Mrs. Berkeley is here. Even the miniature of Phyllis Crosby. Each article was concealed in a separate pair of stockings, and the stockings folded so smoothly you'd never guess what Santa Claus had put into them."

"Yeah. The hotel manager says he plays every Sunday that he's in Hamilton. Went out this morning with a couple of friends he's made in the hotel. I had the manager put in a call to a soft drink and hot dog stand near the course, and get a message to one of the twomen he was playing with. This chap, name of Petty, has been living in the hotel for years and the manager could vouch for him. I spoke to Petty, told him who I was, warned him not to tip off Cartwright, and asked him to keep my man in sight until a police car could get there ....Come in!" he bawled.

"Yes. What's he been told?" Captain Strawn replied.

"Nothing, but that he's wanted at headquarters for questioning," Sergeant Turner answered.

Within two minutes the suspect was ushered into Captain Strawn's office. Wearing correct and rather expensive golf togs the young man presented a surprisingly prepossessing appearance. Even his expression—mingled surprise and indignation—was eminently correct.

"My name is Cartwright—Hubert D. Cartwright," the man answered with just the right amount of vehemence. I m a traveling representative of the TruSilk Hosiery Company of Chicago."

"Sergeant, there's a man out in the hall named Wickett. Will you bring him in?"

"Ever see this man before, Wickett?" Strawn asked genially, as the butler edged diffidently into the room.

"If he will kindly take off his glasses—"

Wickett studied the face conscientiously for a moment before replying. "Yes, sir," he said to Captain Strawn. "I have seen him before. I know him as Johnson, the man Mrs. Lambert hired on Friday to serve as Mr. Crosby's valet.

"Thanks, Wickett. Sorry to have had to yank you away from your work like this," said the chief of detectives. "Payne have one of the boys drive Wickett back to Hillcrest....Now, Johnson—or is it really Cartwright?—what have you got to say for yourself?"

"Am I under arrest?" the man asked coolly.

"Arrest! Oh, no, Not yet," Strawn retorted genially. "You're just here for a nice, quiet little chat....See here, Johnson!" he snapped, abandoning all pretense. "We've got you cold on the burglary business, and if you insist, I can put you under arrest right now; you can stand on your rights, demand a lawyer and refuse to talk. But I'm trying to be decent to you. I'm going to give you a chance to come clean on the whole rotten mess you got yourself into Friday night. I'm going to listen to your story with an open mind, then advise you honestly, as man to man, whether I think you have a Chinaman's chance to get a minimum sentence for second degree murder or maybe just manslaughter, if you plead guilty. Otherwise, Johnson, I'm going to book you right now for first degree murder as well as grand larceny."

"You haven't got anything on me, except that I happen to look something like a man named Johnson," the man retorted, but his voice shook a little.

"Yeah?" Strawn grinned. "Life's just full of funny coincidence, ain't it? You happen to look something like a man named Johnson; you 'happen' to sign the Stuart House register in a handwriting that 'happens' to look like Johnson's writing on his application for work filed Friday with the Hamilton Domestic Employment Bureau; you 'happen' to own a navy-blue silk bow tie with white polka dots and a white shirt with blue pin stripes—just like Johnson's; and you 'happen' to have had in your possession about $75,000 worth of jewelry just like the stuff Johnson stole from the Berkeley home Friday night."

As he spoke Strawn opened a drawer of his desk and pulled out the shirt and tie; then, still grinning at the white-faced young man, he opened another drawer and exhibited the rumpled stack of silk stockings.

It was the last exhibit which completely shattered the nerve of the prisoner. He made no melodramatic lunge toward the chief of detectives; he did not curse or snarl. He merely collapsed so completely that Dundee, watching with keen but not unkind eyes, had a momentary fear that the man had died of a heart attack. His eyes were closed, and cheeks and lips had, with amazing suddenness, taken on the grayish-lavender pallor of death.

Captain Strawn must have become alarmed, too, for he jerked open the bottom drawer of his desk, seized a pint bottle of whisky and poured a stiff dose into a small glass.

"Lend a hand, Dundee!" he ordered. "Force his jaws apart.... That's right....Ah!....Well, my man!" he exulted, as Johnson's eyelids fluttered weakly. "Ready to talk now?"

"I'll talk," Johnson whispered feebly. "Make—a statement—"

The calm of despair had settled upon the suspect. "My name is Harold Conway. I was convicted of burglary in 1919, and served seven years of a 10-year sentence in San Quentin. I was released April 10, 1926."

"Any other convictions?" Starwn prodded him, as he paused.

"No. I've been going straight since I got out of San Quentin. This is the first job I've pulled. I —well, I needed some sudden money, and I didn't know how else to get it."

"May I ask a question, chief?" Dundee broke in. "Thanks....Conway, were you in New York City at any time during 1926 or 1927?"

"Say! What are you trying to pin on me now?" the suspect demanded, with a feebie spark of anger. "What if I was in New York?"

"You really do look amazingly like a gentleman, and it's quite possible," Dundee ruminated aloud. "Just where did you meet Phyllis Benham, Conway?" he demanded suddenly.

Supreme Court Ruling Upholds Local Tribunal

DEFENDANTS IN OLD NOTE CASE GAIN VICTORY

The supreme court of California has rendered a decision reversing the district court of appeal for the fourth district and affirming the judgment of the superior court of Orange county, in the case of Jerome L. Richardson, plaintiff, versus J. F. Lamp, C. O. Field, D. P. Goodrich, A. W. Leichtfuss, G. G. Beckmann and W. B. Lamp, defendants.

The plaintiff, a Riverside attorney, brought suit against the defendants, who are ranchers living in the vicinity of Orange o,n a promissory note, interest, attorney fees and costs amounting to approximately $2500. The defendants in their answer admitted the execution and delivery of the note, but pleaded absence of consideration, and by way of special defense pleaded that the note was executed and delivered pursuant to a contemporaneous oral agreement entered into with the plaintiff whereby he agreed to absolve them from personal liability on the note and to collect it from persons against whom defendants had claims for damages.

The case was tried before a jury at Santa Ana about 18 months ago and verdict was rendered and judgment entered in favor of the defendants. Plaintiff appealed to the district court of appeal, which reversed the judgment and ordered a new trial, on the ground that evidence of the contemporaneous oral agreement was erroneously admitted. Thereupon the defendants petitioned for a rehearing. Rehearing was denied and defendants then petitioned the supreme court for a hearing, and a hearing was granted by the latter court, which, after oral argument, rendered its decision affirming the judgment of the superior court of Orange county.

The plaintiff was represented by W. Earl Redwine and Frank C. Scherrer, of Riverside, and the defendants by James L. Davis and Sharpless Walker, of Santa Ana.

WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG, July 1.—Preaching services were omitted morning and evening at the Wintersburg Methodist church owing to the conference of the church in Long Beach. Sunday school was held and Mr. Graham, a member of the school, who for a number of years was superintendent before coming here, spoke to the school. The Epworth league service in the evening had as its leader Mrs. J. W. McIntosh.

The Rev. and Mrs. J. Scott Willmarth, who have been staying in the community while attending the Methodist conference, were entertained at dinner Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Pratt.

J. H. Pryor and son, John Pryor and mother, Mrs. Emma Pryor and sister and niece, Mrs. David Wettlin and Miss Emma Wettlin, returned Saturday for a three-day motor trip to Yuma, Ariz., where they went to attend the funeral of a brother-in-law of Cecil Pryor, brother of J. H. Pryor.

Alvin Koenig, of Huntington Beach, was a recent overnight guest of Dean Pryor.

BYRD AIDE MEETS SON

"Mr. Hanson, meet Master Hanson! . . . A couple of strangers—father and son—were making each other's acquaintance for the first time when this picture was taken. Malcolm P. Hanson, Jr., was born several months after his father had sailed for the Antarctic as radio operator with the Byrd expedition, and here you see them united as the elder Hanson landed in New York with his fellow explorers.

NEW ORDINANCE ESTABLISHES MIDNIGHT 'CURFEW' FOR ALL NIGHT GOLF PLAYERS IN CITY

Night golf enthusiasts in Santa Ana in the near future will have to do their playing and shouting before the hour of midnight, for the city council last night adopted an ordinance limiting the hours of play from 7 a. m. to midnight.

The ordinance will become effective 30 days hence. Its adoption was the result of complaints being made by residents in the neighborhood of miniature and driving courses that their peace was being disturbed by loud and boisterous noises after the hour of midnight.

An ordinance was adopted placing the full length of Main street in the central traffic zone. By this action, the steet superintendent is given control of the street in the placing of time limit parking hours. Probably one of the first moves of the department will be to establish two hour parking on the street immediately north and south of Washington avenue. Complaint has been made that all day parking has interfered with business houses located on the corner.

The city engineer was directed to prepare plans and specifications for installation of sewer, water and gas lines on Ross street, between Fairview and Wilshire.

Walker and Martin, of Anaheim, were awarded the contract for installing an ornamental lighting system on Birch street, between Fairview and Wilshire, on their bid of $1984. The engineer's estimate on the job was $2374.

By adoption of the ordinance necessary, the council changed the Main street frontage of the M. Nission property on North Main street from the residential to the business zone.

The property is on the west side of the street and extends virtually from Santa Clara avenue to Santiago creek. The depth of the zoning is 150 feet.

The Shell Oil company was given the contract for supplying the city with gasoline for the fiscal year. It will deliver the product at the city garage at 12 1-2 cents the gallon, with a guarantee against a raise and protection in case of decline in tank wagon prices.

Permission was given G. A. Martin to operate a used car market at 510 E. Fourth street, and like action was taken on the application of Placentia Ballister for operation of a dance hall at Fourth and Artesia.

The Reformed Presbyterian church was granted a permit for removal of its church building from First and Spurgeon streets to Myrtle and Hickory.

First reading was given an ordinance authorizing informal meetings of the council prior to regular meeting and the city clerk will send copies of minutes to each member of the council, the latter step avoiding the necessity of minutes being read at meetings of the body.

In 1902 there were 245 companies making steam, gas and electric automobiles. Today there are less than 50 makes of all cars manufactured in this country, and they are nearly all gasoline driven.

PLAN OFFERING OF HUNGARIAN MUSIC BY BAND

Lovers of typical Hungarian music, with its wealth of native gypsy themes and rhythmical variation, will welcome the announcement that a colorful selection, "Gipsy Love," arranged from the modern Hungarian operetta by Franz Lehar, will be featured by the Santa Ana Municipal band, when it is heard in the third concert of its current series, under the direction of D. C. Cianfoni, in Birch park next Thursday night.

According to Harry Hanson, president and manager of the band, the concert will open promptly at 7:30 p. m.

This will mark the premiere local presentation of this work, which has just been added to the local organization's musical repertoire. The opera was composed by Lehar in 1910, and had its premiere performance in Vienna, that famous old world musical center.

Lehar is one of the modern school of Hungarian composers, having been born in Komorn in 1870. His musical instruction was received at Prague conservatory. For a time he officiated as violinist in orchestral work, which was followed by a period of work as conductor in the Austrian army. In 1902 he was appointed conductor at the Theater an der Wien at Vienna, and while there he produced his first light opera, which was a great success.

Continuing to compose light operas, Lehar soon became famous for this type of work, having since produced over 20 works in this form, as well as various orchestral works, and numerous marches, dances and songs.

"Gypsy Love," an arrangement of which will be featured by the band here next Thursday night, utilizes the characteristic gypsy themes that contributed so effectively to the creative works of Liszt and Brahms. The work is of brilliant nature, and thoroughly enjoyable.

Two soloists will be featured on next Thursday night's program, Robert Brown, popular local baritone, in the favorite "Toreador Song" from "Carmen," and Louis Indreani, cornet soloist of Los Angeles, also a favorite with local music lovers and a member of the local band.

Yachting News

By S. H. LUCAS

The yachting schedule of events for the week end, including Independence day, is both extensive and strenuous.

At Newport harbor the Independence day series for star boats will begin at 1:30 p. m., July 4th, on the outside course. The second race of this series will be sailed on Saturday, July 5th, at 2:30 p. m. The third and concluding race of this series is scheduled for 1:30 p. m. on Sunday, July 6. Appropriate prizes have been secured for this series. The Sunday race will count as two races, figuring not only as the third of the Independence day series, but also as the first of the elimination series that will be used to determine the challenger for the International Star boat trophy.

The Newport Harbor Yacht club schedules on the Fourth, a staff commodores and officers snow bird race, at 10:30 a. m., speed boat race at 11:30 a. m.; performance handicap race, 1:10 p. m.; snowbird race, 1:10 p. m. (inside course). A ladies bridge luncheon and a dinner followed by dancing will complete the day's program. Saturday will offer a canoe race (paddle), 10:30 a. m.; snowbirds at 1:15 p. m.; rowboats (single and double), 5:30 p. m. Informal dance and dinner. On Sunday snowbirds will race at 1:15 p. m.

The Balboa Yacht club has races for snowbirds on July 4 and 6, with a chance race on July 5 for all classes. The Marions will sail a series of three races, one each on July 4, 5 and 6.

The start of the ocean race to Honolulu on July 4, will be watched with considerable interest by the yachtsmen. Although only four entries have been received as yet, it is hoped that another boat or two may be added to the list before the starting gun is fired. The four entries are "Enchantress," schooner, Morgan Adams; "Mollilou," schooner, Floyd Swift; "Contender," yawl, Walter Horn; "Talayha," cutter, Lazard Lippman.

It will be remembered that the "Mollilou" carried away her bowsprit at the start of a former race and went through a hurried repair in Newport harbor.

SEVENTY BOYS OFF FOR CAMP OSCEOLA TODAY

To the accompaniment of shrill yells and the tooting of automobilehorns, 70 boys and their leaders took off this morning at 7 o'clock from the Y. M. C. A. building for their annual two weeks at Osceola, the Orange county Y camp on the south fork of the Santa Ana river. It was the largest number of boys ever taken to Y camp from Santa Ana and the prospects are that it will be one of the best.

D. H. Tibbals, boys' work secretary, has the camp under his charge. He has for helpers R. H. McArthur, Ivan Scott, Robert Lehnhardt, John Hoy, Edward Rinker, Franklin Burke, Edward Gaebe, William Gibbs and Halstead McCormac, as group leaders.

Dr. C. E. Saulsberry accompanied the party, as camp physician. Every precaution is being taken to safeguard the health and well being of the boys, and to give them a safe and wholesome outing. Final inspection was given just before the start to camp by Dr. G. E. Raitt, who pronounced the boys "O.K."

Osceola is located on the south fork, seven miles above Seven Oaks. Mail intended for the campers should be addressed to Osceola, via Seven Oaks. Visitors will be welcome at the camp on week ends, and on the Fourth of July. To reach the place, drivers may go to Seven Oaks and then proceed up the canyon, or may leave the Big Bear road and go through Barton flats. Either way is fairly good mountain road.

The boys will return two weeks from today, and will be followed into camp by the boys from the Fullerton district, conducted by Secretary A. J. Raitt. The boys of Orange and Anaheim, who have been in camp for two weeks, returned home today, after a wonderful outing.

The list of campers who went today is as follows:

SUCCESSFUL REFORMER

LONDON, July 1.—There have been many reformers who set out to reform, only to be reformed themselves. But F. N. Carrington, who has made the East-end what it is today, is a successful reformer. He refused a huge fortune from his father's brewery when he was young, to set out helping his fellow-man. Now, at 80, he has seen the East-end grow from a nest of vice to one of the most respectable quarters in the city.

ELKS LODGE LAUNCHES NEW PUBLICATION WITH EARL R. ABBEY AS EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

A new journal today has entered the publication field in Santa Ana and from the lusty lungs it has it promises to develop into one of the brightest of the many spicy private-circle periodicals of the city.

"The Elk Horn" is the name of the publication. It is issued by Santa Ana Lodge No. 794, B. P. O. E., and it is to appear weekly as "the big blast from 794, B. P. O. E.'

The "masthead" flaunts the name of Earl R. Abbey, deputy county clerk, as editor. Abbey formerly was engaged in the newspaper field at Anaheim, and his association at one time was with one of the "wickedest writers" that ever quilled a line in Orange county for public consumption.

Those who know the editor's early writings say that he is clever, versatile and humorous. It is anticipated that "The Elk Horn" will be read greedily and interestedly by every member of the local lodge.

The journal reveals that plans are being made for starting a dinner club to meet for dinner at the club dining hall once a week, with the dinner program being scheduled to start immediately following the summer months.

Intended to arouse interest of members in the club publication is the announcement that it will conduct an essay contest on the question, "What is the Difference Between an Elk and a Member?" A limit of 50 words has been placed and the prize is to be a membership card with dues paid up for six months. The contest will close in October.

Celebration of the 28th anniversary of the founding of the local lodge will be a big feature of a meeting to be held on July 14, it is announced.

RETURN FROM LONG AUTOMOBILE JAUNT

Ed Kolbe, deputy county clerk, had returned to duty today following a vacation of two weeks, passed with his family in an automobile journey to points in California, Nevada, Idaho and Oregon.

The party traveled by way of Las Vegas to Weiser, Ida., where several days were passed visiting Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moore, parents of Mrs. Kolbe. Then followed visits to sisters of Mrs. Kolbe, Mrs. C. L. Moore at Ontario, Ore.; Mrs. Ed Powell and Mrs. Herman Towne, at Nyssa, Ore.

The return home was by way of Klamath Falls, over the John Day highway and inland route in California, through Redding, Sacramento and the San Joaquin valley.

"We must hand it to California for good roads system maintained," the deputy county clerk commented.

FIRST LEAP IN 'CHUTE GIVES WOMAN THRILL

Thrills for some people consist of seeing a wild movie or taking a corner on two wheels or perhaps racing a train to a crossing, but to Miss Villa Newbold, young and pretty employe of the Bungalow restaurant in the Grand Central market, it is going up in an airplane some 8000 feet and then stepping off into space for the first time and praying that her parachute will open.

Such an experience actually happened to Miss Newbold Sunday afternoon at the Long Beach Municipal airport. Denied the privilege of being taken through loop-the-loops, Immelman turns and tail spins, she took the next best thrill and used a 'chute. For 8000 feet, she wafted down with another flyer, both of them jumping from the same plane.

"It was terrible stepping off," Miss Newbold said, "but lots of fun after I forgot to count 10 and pulled the string." Quizzed as to her intentions of repeating the feat, she declared that it was doubtful unless absolutely necessary. "But I'm going to fly a lot more," she declared.

After taking 10 minutes to come to earth, Miss Newbold was dragged along the ground for 30 feet but sustained no severe hurts.

The U. S. Census Bureau, in 1926, reported the Protestant church membership at 36,019,973. The Methodist Episcopal church had 4,080,777.

Job's Daughters Honor Mrs. Bourroughs at Recent Meeting

Choosing the opportunity afforded by their regular meeting recently held in Getty hall, members of Job's Daughters planned a delightful miscellaneous shower for one of their group, Mrs. George Bourroughs who previous to her wedding the latter part of this month was Miss Ferdena Peters. The honor guest was presented with a charming array of gifts, which found a fitting setting amongst her other lovely presents.

The business meeting of the evening was presided over by the newly-installed queen of the organization, Miss Lucile Bermann. Plans for a beach party at Balboa on the evening of July 9 at 5:30 were made, and it is expected that an especially representative number of the girls will be present.

It was also decided that "The Womanless Wedding" should be the play to be given by the group September 4 and 5, at which time Miss Winifred Miller will be the director of the drama. The cast is to be chosen at a later date when members of the council and the principal officers get together to make the decision. Proceeds from the play, whose plot promises to be most entertaining, will go towards purchasing something for the proposed Masonic temple.

July 10 marks the date of the next Job's Daughters meeting, which will feature practice and perhaps initiation of new members.

Middle West Lures Santa Ana Autoists

The lure of the middle west was strong for Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wolff, of 1919 Spurgeon street, and their niece, Miss Alberta Wolff, who left recently by automobile for an extended trip to points of interest near Denver, Col. They will be gone for seven weeks, stopping en route at the Grand Canyon, where they will spend the Fourth of July.

The little group is anticipating with especial enthusiasm the week that they will spend in Estes Park in a delightful little cabin, about 100 miles from Denver. After visiting with several relatives and friends, they will return home, stopping at Zion National park.

Charm of New Orleans Is Suggested in Party Details

Delightful vacation experiences in New Orleans, and the quaint old-world charm of the French quarter of that romantic city, provided Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hays with the decorative theme for an original party with which they complimented Mr. and Mrs. Dana Lamb on Saturday night, entertaining in their home at 508 Eastside avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Hays were married in early May, in San Gabriel. Mrs. Hays was formerly Miss Mae Sexton. The two young people had been the attendants at the romantic wedding of Mr. Lamb and Miss Ethel Catherine Stuart, held in Yuma on December 28, and aided them in maintaining the nuptials a complete secret until they were revealed in early June at a charmingly appointed party given by Mrs. John C. Lamb, mother of Dana Lamb, and his bride, as co-hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Lamb have just returned from their belated honeymoon trip, and Mr. and Mrs. Hays took the first opportunity to entertain in their honor. Bridge was played, and scores tallied on cards bearing pen and ink sketches of quaintly lovely New Orleans scenes. Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Bradstreet scored high, and received a framed etching also depicting one of the famous spots in the French quarter. Etched stationery provided the second prizes won by Miss Helen Sawdey and Harry Anderson, while a special guest prize of a luncheon set in the bright colors used in the south, was presented the honor guests.

At the supper hour the same southern theme was stressed and amusing little "mammy dolls" served as favors.

Sharing the unusual charm of the evening with the hosts and their honor guests, were Miss Helen Sawdey, Miss Margaret Paterson, Miss Florence Backs, Mr. and Mrs. Bradstreet, Mr. and Mrs. Fred May, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Trickey, Al J. Fernandez, Harry Anderson and Hal Warner of San Clemente.

Bridge Luncheon Was Pretty Compliment To Young Matron

The "Los Alisos" canyon home of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Osterman was the setting for a bridge luncheon Saturday afternoon, when Mrs. Osterman and Mrs. Boyd Munger entertained with a shower honoring Mrs. Fred Schildmeyer, of Grand avenue.

The inviting menu was served at a prettily appointed table, featuring pink and blue color scheme. Flowers in those shades centered the table, and were flanked by harmonizing tapers. Favors were in pink.

In the bridge game which followed, Mrs. Robert Bentson held high score, and was awarded a much coveted Dresden boudoir lamp; while Mrs. William Silva and Mrs. Nellie Munger, in receiving second and cut prizes, were presented with very attractive vases. Mrs. Schildmeyer's bassinet was then brought in, full of exquisite wee garments and presented to her.

Guests, aside from the honoree, Mrs. Fred Schildmeyer, were Mesdames Louisa Schildmeyer, Nellie Munger, Albert Schults, George Boyd, William Silva, Robert Bentson and William English of Santa Ana; Mrs. Gilbert Kraemer, of Placentia; Mesdames Willis Mitchell and Horace Munger, of Irvine; Mesdames John Gobruegge, and Lewis Gobruegge of Riverside; Mrs. Oscar Schildmeyer of Orange; Mrs. Earl Goodall and Mrs. Arthur Hoefer of Owensmouth, and the hostesses, Mrs. B. W. Osterman and Mrs. Boyd Munger.

Enjoyable Luncheon Shared By Ebell Nursery Board

Mrs. Clyde A. Bach, 832 Garfield street, was a delightful hostess to members of the Ebell Day Nursery board with a 1 o'clock luncheon in her home recently. The home represented a veritable flower garden, with a profusion of dahlias intermingled with other blossoms from the Bach gardens. The dining room was especially lovely, with the long table gleaming with crystal and china, emphasizing the pink color scheme, which was carried out in the fluted nut cups and slender pink tapers, adorned with fluffy bows. A centerpiece of spicy pink carnations and wild chrysanthemums completed the appointments.

Following the delectable luncheon, guests adjourned to the home of Mrs. Bach's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Lamme, where they enjoyed a short visit with Mrs. Lamme, who has been an invalid for several years. Following their return to the Bach home, a business meeting was held.

Members of the board present were Mesdames W. E. Watkins, C. S. Dumphey, Edward C. Erwin, Perry E. Lewis, T. F. Ham, C. H. Lurker, W. W. Kays, M. C. Williams, and three guests, Mrs. W. W. Anderson, Mrs. Eugene McBurney and Miss Mary Craig.

Japanese Wedding Will Prove of General Interest

In this season of brides and bridals, the wedding in Wintersburg on Saturday, June 28, of an American-born young Japanese couple, Miss Shiguko Masuda, and Kaorer Kodashi, will prove of general interest.

The ceremony took place at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, in the Wintersburg First Methodist Episcopal church, since the chapel of the little Japanese Presbyterian church was not large enough to accommodate the 200 or more guests invited. Potted plants and vivid hued flowers were used in profusion to deck the altar where the young people took their vows before the Rev. Mr. Kikuchi, pastor of the Japanese church, and the Rev. S. T. Ban, a friend of long standing of both the bride and bridegroom.

Miss Masudo, who was a member of the 1930 graduating class at Huntington Beach high school, wore a pretty white wedding gown and long veil and was attended by four daintily clad little flower girls and two bridesmaids, the Misses Hisako Masuda, her sister, and Hatsuko Matsumiya, a high school friend. Both were charmingly gowned in filmy summer chiffons. Mr. Kodashi was attended by two close friends, M. Nakadasha and M. R. Fugimoto.

The large guest group was invited to attend the reception which was held in the hall above the Wintersburg Japanese store. Dinner was served at 6 o'clock, when the beautifully decorated five-tiered bride's cake was cut. Each guest received a box with a piece of the cake as a gift of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Masuda, as is the unfailing Japanese custom.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Kodashi are at present with the latter's parents in Talbert, but will leave within the week for Fresno where Mr. Kodashi is the owner of an 80-acre ranch.

Ever since her childhood days, the bride has been connected with the Japanese missions of Wintersburg and Bolsa. She is a member of the Wintersburg church and a teacher in the Japanese Sunday school of Bolsa. She is popular and respected in both Japanese and American circles, and while her departure for a new home in the northern part of the state is regretted by her co-workers in church circles, all have extended their best wishes for her future happiness and welfare.

C. M. Best Family Leaves For Modesto

It was with much regret that Santa Ana friends of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Best and their interesting family of young people, bade them farewell this morning, with warmly expressed hopes for their success in Modesto, where they will establish a new home. Mr. Best, who has been advertising manager for the Excelsior Creamery company, prior to which time he was connected with the advertising department of The Register, has returned to the newspaper field, and will be advertising manager of the Modesto News-Herald, having already left to take the position.

Mrs. Best and the young people remained in their home at 613 South Ross street until a place was in readiness for them at Modesto, and left this morning by automobile for the north. Miss Catherine Best, who has been a student at Chouinard's in Los Angeles since completing junior college, accompanied her mother, sisters and broth and plans to continue art studies in San Francisco. Miss Joy Best will continue her high school and junior college work, while Gloria and Charles, the younger members of this interesting family, will enter the Modesta schools in the autumn.

Mrs. Best has nearly completed the manuscript for a new book written for juveniles, and Miss Catherine has completed the illustrations for it. Those who have seen them, declare them to be better even than those she did for an earlier book of verse, "Whys and Otherwise," written by Mrs. Best.

The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

Well, What If I Do?

I live in a castle in Spain.
Well, what if I do!
I have built it of joy and of pain,
Of smiles and of tears not a few.

It has gardens around it of visions,
And dreams that may never come true.
I choose to believe that they will!
Well, what if I do?

These little verses, I am told, were written by a young woman who was bravely fighting against tuberculosis. I am impressed, every time I read them, by their splendid courage, and their applicability to the hard facts of life faced by all women.

Imagination, the ability to bury ourselves in a Castle in Spain, is the saving grace in many a drab existence. It certainly hangs rose-colored curtains in the windows of many a mind.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Mayflower Salad

2 cups milk
8 egg yolks, well beaten
Seasoning of paprika, salt, celery and onion salt
1 tablespoon plain gelatine
1-4 cup cold water to soften
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 cups minced chicken, or shrimp and crab meat
1 cup whipped cream

Serve the salad for the main dish of the meal. It is fine for a supper party or for any luncheon occasion.

Put the milk to heat in a double boiler and while it is coming to the scalding point beat the egg yolks with whatever amount of seasonings preferred. Add slowly into the hot milk, stirring constantly. Watch that custard does not over cook. It is just right when it coats the spoon thickly, yet runs off readily.

Egg yolks will curdle just as readily as egg whites if cooked too long. Just before the custard is cooked add the softened gelatine to it and let is dissolve.

Take the custard from the fire and let it cool until it begins to thicken and jelly, then fold in the lemon juice, chicken or shell fish and when yet a little thicker fold in the cup of cream whipped stiff.

Put into individual moulds—little ones because of the richness of the salad—and chill for a few hours. Unmould on lettuce, garnish with asparagus tips and quartered tomatoes and serve with a spoonful of thin tart mayonnaise.

This recipe will fill ten small cups of salad. The individual calorie value of each salad garnished and dressed with mayonnaise is 380. Many of these calories are the energy-making rats, quite all right where the salad serves as the chief part of the meal.

Former Kansas Friends Enjoy Reunion in Wells Home

Happy associations of their pre-California days in Kiowa, Kans., were renewed on Friday when a group of Kiowa friends now forming a club in Southern California, met at the pretty home of Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Wells, of Santa Ana Heights. Following an enjoyable pot-luck dinner, the afternoon was spent in reminiscing over former days.

The home was made beautiful by a profusion of garden flowers, also many bouquets that were brought to Mrs. Wells' mother, Mrs. Carrie Ramsey, who soon will celebrate her eighty-third birthday. Mrs. Ramsey, although a frail woman, was wel' able to enjoy the day, which honored her in anticipation of her coming birthday. She has been a resident of Santa Ana for 30 years, and has developed many friends during that time.

Those present were Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Morrarty, of Los Angeles, Mrs. Edward Abbott, Mrs. M. Abbott, and Mrs. M. M. Wells, of Glendale, Mrs. Gertrude Hobby of Burbank, Mrs. Glen Wells of Gardena, Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Wilson, and Mrs. Robert Burgess and children Marybob and Billy, all of Long Beach, Mr. and Mrs. George Wells, Mrs. S. E. Mathews, and Mrs. Mora Conner, of Tustin, the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Wells, and the honored guest, Mrs. Carrie Ramsey.

Returned Honeymooners To Take Lacy Home

Returning from a leisurely eastern honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fernandez reached Santa Ana late last week, and have already completed arrangements whereby they will take over the Mark B. Lacy home at 705 South Broadway, during the extended absence abroad of Mr. and Mrs. Lacy and their young daughter, Elizabeth.

They will take possession of the Lacy home early this week, although Mr. and Mrs. Lacy are not leaving for their interesting world tour until a later date.

Delegation Returns From Santa Cruz

James C. Randal as deputy inspector of the Ernest L. Kellogg Post No. 1680, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and George E. Hubbard, trustee of the organization, together with Mrs. Hubbard, as delegate, have recently arrived home from the tenth annual convention of Veterans of Foreign Wars held at Santa Cruz, June 25 to 29.

Officers elected at the conclave to serve California and Nevada for the coming year, were H. W. Winn of Emeryville, Cal., as department commander; Zal Brandon of San Pedro, as junior vice commander; and C. N. Hall of Alameda, as quartermaster. Long Beach was unanimously chosen as the convention city for 1931.

There were wild mountain sheep in the Rockies and other parts of America before its discovery by Europeans.

'BIG HOUSE' SHOWS PRISON CONDITIONS

Giving the chief causes for daring prison breaks which have focused the eyes of the nation on the penal institutions in the United States for the past several years, the picture is declared to be a sensational expose of present prison conditions.

At the same time, there is a plot that is outstanding and a romance that will be remembered here for a long time. Robert Montgomery has one of the leading parts in the production, that of a college youth who is sent to prison because of an automobile accident. Young and clean when he enters, his association with hardened criminals make him even harder than they. The cast is hand picked throughout. It includes Chester Morris, Wallace Beery, Lewis Stone, Lelia Hyams, J. C. Nugent, Karl Dane, and Mathew Betts.

The big prison riot, where murder is committed on all sides, is the turning point in the film and brings it to a thrilling climax.

BOTTLE CROSSES SEA

ILWACO, Wash., July 1. — A bottle cast into the sea three years ago by a Russian coast guard cutter's crew landed here recently. A note inside, written in English, Japanese and Russian, was dated June 23, 1927. It is estimated that the bottle traveled more than 60,000 miles in various currents to cross the Pacific from Siberia.

The clock in the town hall of Castleton, on the Isle of Man, has been going for 380 years. It has only one hand.

GOLD, ROMANCE IN WEST COAST FILM

The gold rush days of California when the six-shooter was the ruler of the country and when wild bands of outlaws rode through the hills—that's the story of "The Border Legion," Paramount all-talking picture which is now showing at the Fox-West Coast theater.

The story, one of Zane Grey's best novels, has been read by thousands. The picture will be seen by twice as many. It is the 28th Zane Grey picture to be filmed by Paramount, and is the latest all-talking picture made by the company.

The cast of "The Border Legion" includes some of the best known names on the screen. Jack Holt plays the leading part, that of Jack Kells, leader of a roving band of bandits who came to California soon after the Civil war, to strike terror into the camps along the gold lined creeks. There is more color about his role than in any picture in which he has been seen in the past several years.

Richard Arlen and Fay Wray have leading parts and furnish the romance for the film. Gene Pallette, Stanley Fields and E. H. Calvert also are seen in the film.

Aside from the feature, a Fox Movietone newsreel and an all-talking comedy also will be shown.

HO, HUM!

EL PASO, Tex., July 1.—Odd are the reasons some persons give for divorce. What proved to be "just another divorce" was that sought by O. B. Summers, from his wife, Gertrude. He said that his wife wanted more to live in Virginia than she did with him, so in order to let her have her own way, he wanted a separation.

'SONG OF FLAME' TO CLOSE TODAY

"Song of the Flame," First National's massive film spectacle with the Russian revolution for its background and an engrossing love story for its central theme, is closing tonight at Walker's State theater.

Alexander Gray, Bernice Claire, Noah Beery, Alice Gentle, Bert Roach, Inez Courtney, Ivan Linow and Shep Camp are a few members of the large cast. Great mobs of extras brilliantly costumed, and massive sets representing Russian cities and villages, countryside and castles, are seen in the all-Technicolor film.

Alan Crosland directed the picture, which was beautifully photographed by Lee Garmes and his staff. Spectacular dance numbers in a village square and in cafes were staged by Jack Haskell. The story is based on the operetta of the same title. Gordon Rigby wrote the adaptation.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

The Russian train was quite a sight and tickled Clowny Tinymite. Said he, "This sure is different than the trains we have at home. It's funny how you get so thrilled o'er trains that are of different build. It seems we find a new sort in most every place we roam."

The Travel Man then said, "My boy, it's different things that put the joy in any sort of journey. That's why we have all had fun in every town of every size. A change brings forth a grand surprise. Just like our trains, however, it is steam that makes this run."

"Oh, I would like to go up front. I think 'twould be a dandy stunt," cried Carpy. "Let's all hike up to the engine cabin now. The engineer won't start to rave, if we are careful and behave. If he is shoveling coal we might turn in and help somehow."

So, through a lot of trains they ran and shortly found the engine man. He let them come into his cab for just a little while. "No help is needed now," said he, "But you can sit and ride with me." And so they sat real quiet as they moved mile after mile.

Soon Mister Travel Man cried out, "Come boys! We're just about to land in grand Odessa. It's a mile or so ahead." And, sure enough, with quite a shout, they reached the depot and jumped out. They promptly found a fine cafe where they were nicely fed.

Then, after eating, they went 'round and on a quiet street they found a funny little toy shop. "Walk right in," somebody cried. It was the toy man. He was kind, because he said, "I do not mind if you watch me make my toys. Stand right here by my side."

Missing Letter Links

RULES

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't: TEE-TIE-PIE-PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.

3. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

DEAL to CARD—This is a long par five holes, but with a little shuffling you should be able to DEAL the CARD.

REFERENDUM ON OIL DERRICK ORDINANCE TO BE ASKED IN HUNTINGTON BEACH PETITION

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 1.—Petitions asking for a referendum on the recent oil derrick ordinance passed by the city council will be deposited with the city clerk before July 4, according to members of the Huntington Beach Oil Protective league. More than enough signatures have been obtained, it is reported.

A meeting of the association has been called for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning for the purpose of discussing further plans for the referendum.

"Denying to the property owner a full utilization of his land, the oil field ordinance recently passed by the city council of Huntington Beach is arbitrary in its demands for exercise of uncalled-for discretionary powers. It is discriminatory in its unbalanced application to oil field development and to use of construction materials, and it is restrictive beyond a reasonable doubt both in its requirement for a financial statement and an excessive bond as well as its indefinite requirement for waste water disposal and its biased implications of fire hazard.

"Our association, recently formed to combat the unjustifiable legislation incorporated in this Ordinance No. 332, in its present action in seeking to referendum this ordinance is working to promote in no uncertain manner the future prosperity of Huntington Beach by permitting unhampered oil field development. The committee in charge of circulating the petitions for the referendum already report three times the necessary signatures after only a few days work. It is estimated that more than 50 per cent of the registered voters will sign the petitions.

"Repeated efforts have been made to hinder and restrict the development of the Huntington Beach oil field and prevent the full realization of the vast wealth buried beneath the property of citizens of this community. Previous measures of this sort more open in their intent have been promptly vetoed by vote of the people, and popular opinion is certain to defeat this measure.

"By cloaking the aim of the ordinance in indefinite language the council proposes to require a financial statement from each oil operator before a drilling license will be issued by the city council. A $5000 bond is proposed in the guise of a guarantee for the cleaning of the property after the cessation of oil drilling. A waste water disposal system is required to meet the approval of the city council. Any one of these three requirements may be used as the basis for excuses of refusal to permit oil operations at the discretion of the city council as illustrated by the language of the ordinance, which is:

"'The said city council may continue the hearing upon said application from time to time for the purposes of determining the financial responsibility of the bondsmen, the business integrity and financial responsibility of the applicant, and the efficiency and propriety of the waste water disposal plan or system contemplated. The said city council may require alterations and changes as may appear to them to be necessary . . . and may require additional or other bondsmen or security for the same purpose.'

"The ordinance is consistent in its indefiniteness and fails in every major requirement to set up any definite or specific standard to guide the applicant for a drilling license. There is no time limit placed upon the investigation and it may be continued at the whim or fancy of the council until the property owner's rights are jeopardized by the drilling of adjacent or offset wells. The property owner under the ordinance would be powerless to act and would have to sit idly by, twiddling his thumbs.

"Under the guise of fire protection, wood derricks which have never proven, in the opinion of experienced engineers, a fire hazard in the oil fields, are proposed to be excluded from Huntington Beach in the near future. This like the other provisions of the ordinance applies an uncalled-for excessive expense in the future development of oil property. As engineers who are familiar with oil field conditions have pointed out, the fire hazard in the oil field is the leaking gas and oil. Records of oil field fires prove this is to be the case and the insurance rates of fire insurance companies fail to contradict this contention. It also proves to be a discrimination against local lumber yards which ness and solid assets to the business and growth of our community.

"It has been alleged by proponents of this ordinance," Newland continued, "that the ordinance will protect the city of Huntington Beach from unscrupulous oil operators and assure the payment of wages to workmen in the oil fields. This is assuredly a weak alibi for the ordinance, since we know that the state of California through the state labor commission provides this protection and in no uncertain manner.

"It was after considerable thought and discussion that our association decided to make use of the referendum to prevent this ordinance, which is not desired by the voters of Huntington Beach, from becoming effective. We propose to protect the rights of the property owners and the livelihood of the citizens of Huntington Beach which are dependent to a great extent upon oil field development."

LINGLE INTERVIEWING AL CAPONE

When newspaper writers said that Alfred J. Lingle, murdered Chicago newspaper reporter, had for years "brushed shoulders with gangdom" while getting crime news, they were speaking literally. This interesting picture, snapped by an NEA Service cameraman as Al Capone was emerging from the federal building at Chicago in February, 1929, after being questioned by federal officials, shows Lingle interviewing Capone who has his head bowed to dodge the camera. Notice the gang chieftain's alert bodyguards, their hands deep in their coat pockets.

I've just received a shirt back from the laundry, and I'm as mad as a hatter. Ordinarily, laundries being as they are in this day and age, the mere fact of receiving a shirt back from the laundry should inspire in one feelings of joy and gladness. In fact, I never miss having a feeling of gratitude and pleasure when I open up my bundle and find that the laundry has lost only one or two pieces—which, of course, they promptly replace (general laughter and loud cries of, "Yes, they do!"). Once there was a gala day when I got back everything I had sent out, and urged on by a heart full of thanksgiving and hosannas, I went out and made whoopee. But now I'm mad clear through. Yes, the laundry sent my shirt back, but that's all—they kept the rest of the shirt there.

SCHREAM SCONE

He was a quarter more than slightly inebriated, but he was an alumnus and it was commencement week, so he might have escaped unnoticed but for a little incident at the Wigwam.

"I wantsh-wantsh a shocolate schream scone."

The obliging clerk, rendering the economic service of supplying his want, patiently awaited the customer's fumbling through his pockets for the elusive nickel. Finally the deal was consummated.

A few minutes later he was back, cone in hand but ice cream missing. The clerk did not look too happy as the one in several million of John Barleycorn's adherents reapproached the soda fountain.

"Besht ish schream ever had," he said. He waved his hand in a sweeping motion. "But youshh can keep the vas-vashe. I don't want it."

The daughter of the house had just returned from boarding school. The moment she left her room, the mother entered it and began searching the daughter's trunk. For an hour she moved hats and hose, laces and lingerie, but she found no cigarettes, no hooch, no racy novels. The mother sat back in her chair and sighed.

"It's just as I feared," she murmured. "A whole year wasted. Next season I'll have to send her to a more select school."

PRODUCE

LOS ANGELES, July 1.—(UP)—Supplies were liberal today in practically all lines nad buying demand was considerably reduced. Considerable stock acumulated on the hands of dealers.

The apricot market was overloaded and prices continued weak. Small Royal Apricots from Hemet jobbed at 2c per lb. Asparagus was in limited supply with Delta stock stronger at 8-9c per lb.

The cantaloupe market was slightly weaker with heavy receipts and considerable off grade stock. Imperial valley Salmon tints jobbed at $1.50-$1.75 on standard 36-45s. The celery market was weak, due principally to slower demand and a bad break in the shipping market. Venice 4-4½ dozen sizes brought $1.50-$2.00 per cmrate.

Local green corn was in heavy supply and prices weaker. Most stock jobbed at 65-75c per lug, with fair quality at 40-50c. San Diego county and homegrown cucumbers were weaker at 75-$1.00 per lug. San Joaquin valley figs are finding improved demand and prices are stronger.

The grape market was dull with Imperial valley seedless ranging from 6-10c per lb. The lettuce market was stronger on good stock, with considerable stock, however, of only fair to ordinary quality. Receipts of dry pack stock were heavier. Best San Luis Obispo Guadalupe and Santa Maria 4s brot $2.-$2.25.

San Joaquin valley Triumph peaches jobbed at 4-4½c per lb. Local White Rose pjotatoes were slightly firmer at $1.75-$1.85 per cwt. Best stock bzrot $1.90-$.210. The tomato market was weaker under liberal receipts of local stock. Best 5x6s and airger jobbed at $.135-$.150, with few early sales and best stock at $1.75.

CHICAGO BD. OF TRADE

CHICAGO July 1.—(UP)—A short covering movement that carried prices up nearly 3s on the Board of Trade today resulted from the strong foreign cables with Liverpool sharply higher and less favorable crop news from Australia and Hungary while the deliveries tdoay were extremely light. On the last bulge eastern houses sold and the best figures were not maintained but the market closed with good gains. Corn was firm with wheat but oats was uneven throughout the session.

At the close wheat was 1⅞c to 2c higher, corn was ⅝ to 1½c higher and oats was ⅝c lower to ½c higher. Provisions were strong on meats and about steady on lards.

—Lord Wakefield.

WHEN FAME LACKS SUBSTANCE

Within the heart of man is a longing for fame—to be lifted above the crowd. The desire is commendable, but in order to arrive at any definite conclusion this thing called fame must be analyzed.

The fame of accomplishment in art, music, on the stage, in letters, is one kind. Fame because of political or social preferment is another kind. Fame because of sitting on top of a flagpole longer than the other fellow is still another. But how long does fame last?

The world is forgetful even of genuine accomplishment. It is fickle and even cruel with the famous. The applause soon dies away, swallowed up in the fame of another. Today the star rises in the spotlight. Tomorrow he or she is living in a two-room apartment with little sustenance except the dreams of yesterday. Here and there is found a former baseball player or an Olympic champion. Yes, he must work for a living just like other people. The author of such-and-such former best seller is now doing a little business here and there to make ends meet. Many of the once famous are living on the hills and in the valleys, on side streets—almost forgotten, neglected creatures. A few hold the crowd until the end. Some have to die to be recognized.

The price of fame is exacting. Like all who must face old age, the famous must face a time when he is going to be a "has-been." The condition is pitiable. What, then, is the real substance of fame?

The substance of fame is its correct definition. Good character, industry, application to the job or business of life, contentment with what one has and what one is, after having done his best—these are the foundations of real fame. These accomplishments last with one always, or just as long as one continues in plain but high ideals of life and of living.

Fame lacks substance when it is built upon hypocrisy, make-believe, unwarranted publicity or unfair advantage, when one tries to be famous for fame's sake, not for genuine good.

There is plenty of glory in well-doing. There is eminence in uprightness. This kind of renown lasts in age as well as in youth. Obscurity can never shadow the just and virtuous, though the bands may not have played in their honor.

THE WAR MENACE

Nothing brings the menace of war, as it prevails over Europe, closer than the effect it has had on retarding the English channel tunnel. The House of Commons yesterday, by a vote of 179 to 172, once again voted the project economically and politically impractical. Despite those two reasons for abandoning the project, correspondents maintain that there is really but one reason for the doom of the tunnel and that is England's fear of continental complications and desire to continue what isolation she can.

To fully appreciate this attitude toward the tunnel one must travel on one of the channel boats and see what the English traveler endures rather than hazard the tunnel. He knows just what it is going to be like for him, from past experience and he esconces himself in a bunk or deck chair and abandons himself to mal de mer before the ship leaves the dock.

The cost of the tunnel has been estimated as between 25 and 100 millions. The militarists have maintained that it would cost between 5 million and 10 million annually to defend the British end of the tunnel.

DON'T LIKE AMOS 'N ANDY

Mrs. Virginia Carson Elwood, wife of John Elwood, a vice president of the National Broadcasting company, obtained a divorce at Reno recently because she was compelled to associate with radio stars like Amos and Andy and Mack Sennett, the custard pie throwing comedian, instead of with the set she had been hobnobbing with before her marriage.

So it seems that popular idols are not agreeable to everybody. We suspect there are millions in this country who would be tickled to death to spend an evening with Amos and Andy. Some millions have already paid good money to see them in person on the stage, and to have them come to the house and get all their jokes for nothing would be almost beyond calculation as a privilege.

It takes all sorts of people to make a world. Who would have thought that there were any people who could be bored by Amos and Andy? But at least Virginia Carson Elwood was thus bored. Who could have thought it?

TRANSMITTING HEART BEATS

Heart pulsations and sounds made in the lungs by breathing were transmitted the other day from Buenos Aires to Madrid by radiotelephone with such clearness as to enable Spanish physicians in Madrid to diagnose the disease from which the patients used in the experiment were suffering.

The transmission was made through an instrument lately invented by an Argentine surgeon which sends sounds from the heart and lungs greatly amplified through a loud-speaker and at the same time registers their intensity on a galvanometer.

To be in Madrid and hear a heart beat in Buenos Aires is no small miracle, even if man does know how it was done.

AN ORANGE COUNTY VACATION

It would be penny-wise and pound-foolish to forego vacation this year even if the stock market did crash.

Hugh S. Cummings, surgeon general, said the other day:

"If you can possibly afford it, you owe it to yourself and to those with whom you are associated in your homes or in your business offices to get away from homes and business for a change of surroundings, for a few weeks during the summer. It is not necessary that you go long distances, but it is necessary that you get out in the open. A vacation should be the time set aside for the building up of that reserve of health and bodily vigor before the next vacation season rolls around.

"The first suggestion that the Bureau of Public Health Services wishes to offer the vacationist is, therefore, forget your business, forget your job, forget your cares. Forget your scramble for the world's wealth. You will carry none of it with you on the last trip you will take. Your business will not suffer. If you take a vacation you will be far better off and both you and your business will gain in the end, provided your play time is used for the restoration of health and strength."

It is often true, however, that for the worker who is away from home many hours of the day, a week or two at home in this vacation land is possibly a real treat. During a period at home, one can develop a new hobby which one has always wanted to take up and which will be an interest to hold over into leisure hours when vacation is over.

Furthermore, a vacation spent at home will enable one to do those little tasks around the home which have been waiting so long to be done and which possibly have been a real harassment to the mind during the past few months. It is wonderful, and surprising how buoyant one feels when they have finally been done; it is worth sacrificing a bit of play time.

With the available beaches, the plunges, the golf courses, the tennis courts, one can do practically all of the things one does on a vacation anywhere else in the world, except new things, and to repay one for that loss one is more sure of a rest than if one motors hundreds of miles to see some sights.

It isn't a particular treat for the wife and mother to stay at home but it might be a real vacation for her, too, if she had more cooperation than usual.

Orange county isn't a half bad place to spend one's vacation even if one does live here all the year around.

California Must Be a Salesman As Well As Produce the Goods

San Francisco Chronicle

California cannot afford to sit back and let the currents of foreign trade flow where they happen to go. It is natural, of course, to think of foreign trade in terms of national figures. But the interest taken by South America in the forthcoming Pan American Trade Conference to be held in Sacramento in August and what Frederick J. Koster, president of the State Chamber of Commerce, has to say upon his return from a trip to Europe, where he looked into the channels through which America's foreign trade flows, encourages California to consider this subject as a matter of vital state interest.

It is a fine thing, of course, to see the volume of America's export trade increasing, no matter from what part of the country the exports products are drawn. But it is imperative that California see to it that the products of this state stand well up in the totals.

Mr. Koster says that he finds the foreign markets inclined to distinguish California as a unit in world commerce. We have many products which may be practically considered as monopolies in America's exports, and Mr. Koster believes there is a great deal of room for expansion if California can get a perspective on world trade as a California issue as well as a national interest.

Any person who has had an opportunity to observe knows that in world markets California has a magic selling appeal. Manufacturers of national distributed products spend millions upon millions to establish the "going value" that makes their brands more valuable possessions than their formulas or manufacturing processes. Their plants might be destroyed utterly by fire, yet they could start up again tomorrow bigger and stronger than ever. California has this "going value." Just the name is wonderful sales talk. If full advantage were taken of our trade assets we should hear nothing about "surplus" but only about deficiency of production. Any automobile salesman will tell you that while millions of people buy motor cars very few call up and order them by telephone. People must be sold, even the things they want. What Mr. Koster and others report, and the enthusiastic way that Latin America ha staken hold of the Sacramento conference, is California's cue to get out with the sample case and book some orders.

Faith Can Move This Mountain of Prunes

San Francisco Chronicle

If some morning there bursts upon the public eye the urge to "Eat that prune" it will be because the California prune industry has decided not to get caught in the door where so many industries have been nipped. The California Prune Institute is working out a plan to bring all the prune growers, shippers and packers into a program of national advertising to move the prune from the orchard to the American breakfast, luncheon and dinner table—and perhaps put a few into the children's lunch boxes to take to school.

Advertising sells America the razor to shave with, the soap to bathe with, the cigarette to smoke, the breakfast food to eat. It sells the car that America drives. Even monopolies like the telephone, telegraph and electric light need the force of advertising. The orange growers use plenty of paper and ink. So do the walnut growers. It is not mere coincidence that the faltering industries are the ones that do not shine in the advertising field.

The prune growers are not fooling themselves this time just because last year's crop was sold at a fair price. That was an abnormally short crop and, even so, it is still being moved out. Looking ahead there is probability of 234,000 tons this year, the biggest harvest in the state's history.

The Prune Institute believes that faith can move this mountain of prunes, faith in the American public's willingness to eat them, faith in the ability of advertising to whet the public appetite for prunes. The stumbling block will be, of course, that advertising costs money. But that will not be so serious if the prune indusiry keeps it in mind that the people who have the money to advertise are those who do it. While there is one home in the land that is a stranger to the prune there should be no talk about "surplus."

"HOW HAPPY I'D BE WITH EITHER"

I like to climb aboard my car,
Which stands by my abode,
And drive it daily fast and far
Along some country road,
To turn and twist that way and this,
Urged on by super-power,
But if I do I'll have to miss
The No Grit toothpaste hour.

I like to turn the little knob
With an attentive hand
Until I catch the beat and throb
Of Benny Bilkins' band.
But when upon these strains I feed,
My peace of mind is marred
For then, of course, I cannot speed
Along the boulevard.

Aboard my little bus I climb,
The countryside to roam,
But in a fleeting space of time
The radio calls me home.
I listen to some vocal star
A little while and then
I have to switch her off—the car
Has called me out again.

If I possessed a car alone
Or just a radio set,
I would not daily need to moan
And fume and fuss and fret.
With either one of them to part
I am extremely loath,
And yet it daily breaks my heart
To get along with both.

THE LAND OF OPPORTUNITY

All caddies hope to be professionals, and by the time they grow up there will be enough new golf courses to provide jobs for all of them.

CONSISTENT

We heard the other day about an investor who never bought any stock on a margin unless it was stock in a marginal railroad.

WORTH BEHOLDING

What we'd like to see is a literary Boston bootlegger unloading a truck of forbidden books in a read-easy.

In Tune With The Definite

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Will Rogers has an excuse for any inaccuracy that may creep into his works. All he knows, he submits plaintively, is what he reads in the papers.

But the United States Government, on the crucial subject of how many of its citizens are without jobs, doesn't know even that. Neither do the States. So unanimous is the ignorance that we wonder Bruce Barton hasn't added it to his collection of what "Nobody Knows."

Philadelphia resolved to find jobs for the jobless in its own bailiwick. It soon discovered that no one but a magician could cut out perfectly fitting relief garments for a sufferer about whose size nobody had a definite idea. Like others before them, the Philadelphians first tried figuring out the answer by algebra, politics, and applied astrology. The conclusions they drew were like some modernistic paintings. They looked just as hopeless one side up as another. And none of the sides meant anything. Then some daring genius conceived the cataclysmic idea of finding out how many unemployed there were by going around and counting them!

Philadelphia's Folly! But she moved under her own steam, and in due time came into a port with a full cargo of definite statistics. The thing worked!

Cincinnati tried it, and it worked again.

Now the Federal Government is trying it. Uncle Sam is at last lifting up his eyes to the facts. Getting, so to speak, in tune with the definite.

But unemployment is a moving picture. Conditions change. Finding the facts once is not enough. To keep on finding them at frequent intervals is necessary.

In the Long Ago

JULY 1, 1916

Hugh J. Lowe and Paul Knauf are to be representatives at the Santa Ana Lodge of Elks at the national convention of the order to be held in Baltimore July 10 to 14, leaving tomorrow morning.

Miss Cecile Fross has been so popular with West End theater audiences that Manager Schlesinger has engaged her for a series of appearances during the summer season.

The assessment rolls of the county show an increase in assessed valuation over last year of 12,350,940, excessive of road property.

Roofing tacks, nearly two inches in length, scattered for a distance of several dozen feet on the Santa Ana-Newport Beach highway today caused a half dozen automobilsts to stop to repair tire punctures.

There were 156 june brides in the county this year, as compared with 157 for the corresponding month of last year.

Most of the apricot trees in Tustin and surrounding orchards, are very lightly laden, and it is expected that the apricot pitting business will be very small in comparison with that of former years.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

EDUCATING THE NURSE

The profession of nursing is something more than a glorified maid service.

By virtue of its strategic position in the field of medical practice, it takes its place among the accredited professions of modern society.

This means that sooner or later society must give to the professional education of nurses the same serious consideration it has given to the professional education of doctors, lawyers, and engineers.

The education of the nurse calls for something more than the scraps of a hospital staff's spare time.

For many types of nursing the training period is longer than necessary — perhaps because the nurse in training is cheap labor for the hospital.

We should remove every temptation to prolong the training period beyond what is actually necessary for the conquest of the basic materials and techniques of the profession.

The program of nursing education should recognize the social necessity for different professional levels inside the profession.

There are, I should say, four fairly distinct types of nursing service for which distinct sorts of training should be offered.

First, we should train very broadly, and richly those nurses who must be looked to for leadership in nursing education.

Second, we should provide adequately for the training of nurses specifically skilled in the handling of distinctive diseases.

Third, special educational preparation should be available for nurses in the varied fields of public health service.

Fourth, our great educational centers should co-operate with the vast array of small hospitals in the development of sound training programs for that army of less highly trained nurses for whom a distinct pubic need exists.

If our nursing education program took fully into account these diversities of need there would not be the unemployment problem among trained nurses that now exists.

OUR CHILDREN

WHAT CHILDREN PAY

There is a certain queer quirk in human nature that makes us value what we get according to the price set upon it. And everything has its price, even to children. The price a child has to pay for what he gets determines his attitude toward it, and toward things in general, because his getting is all he knows about living just then.

"Isn't it time for Jennie to have her bottle?"

"Yes, but as long as she is quiet I won't bother. When she cries I'll give it to her."

So, Tears and howls are the price Jennie pays for her food. Tommy Tucker sang for his supper but Jennie wails for hers. Tommy's price will be less likely to harm his career. Jennie's is likely to prove costly to her and to all who know her.

"Gee, I'd like to own one of those outfits. I bet I could play like a champ if I had a suit like that How much does one cost?"

"Oh, about twenty bucks, I guess. Doesn't matter. I'll make Dad give me one."

"My Dad won't give me one. He'll say, 'If you want to pay that price for a ball suit, go ahead. Seems to me a lot of money for a boy to earn and spend all in a lump.' And he'd be about right at that. I'd have to cut a lot of grass and deliver a good many packages for twenty dollars. Then I'd have nothing left for other things. Can't play ball but a few times anyway. I pass. Come on."

If a boy can make Dad give him anything he wants, he is paying a far higher price for his possessions than is the lad who knows and accept what we offer him. We allow very little personal experiences to enter the school. We permit very little personal expression within the school. Teachers know best, is our motto. We cannot have the schoolroom messed up. We cannot have the bustle and movement and waste of personal experience in the school building.

Are we buying an education for the children or peace for ourselves? It requires a new type of school, a new type of teacher, to accept the right price from a child for his education. We are that Dad will not give him a cent beyond what has been agreed upon as right and equitable.. The lad who must stand upon his own feet will grow a couple of them guaranteed to maintain any kind of load, travel any distance with security. The easy way pays the highest price in the long run.

Children must pay for their education in terms of self activity, or they will get only the cheapest sort of article. It will break down under strain, it will collapse at the crisis. Only that for which the child gave his own blood and brain cells to capture will stand by him.

The child is willing to pay the price for his education. It is we who insist that he remain quiescent not building those schools. We are not training those teachers. We are forcing the child to pocket his price and take our education for nothing.

There lies our danger for the child. Being essentially human he is going to value our education at precisely its price, nothing.
